THE BLISS FACTOR

INTRODUCTION

A wise man once told me, the true purpose of healing, on every possible level, is very simple: to make people happy.

And making people happy is indeed, the purpose of the Life Energy Amplifier. The Bliss Factor will introduce and familiarize you with this remarkable instrument and technology.

The Bliss Factor book is dedicated to Terry Patten, the co-founder of Tools for Exploration. Upon experiencing LEA 4D Sound for the first time, while sitting on my couch with his eyes still closed, he said, with great enthusiasm, "You've got to write a book on this!" My heartfelt appreciation goes to Terry for his continuing encouragement and insightful support over the years.

We are also deeply grateful to all our research associates for their testimonials and communication. This book could not have been written without their ongoing support and confirmation. Deborah Jane Stuart, my partner and close friend has also been crucial to the success of this endeavor. Additionally, Dick Hallgren has provided invaluable editorial assistance.

This compilation is our preliminary description of the liberating effects of what is just possibly the most profound psychotronic instrument to date.

To you, our readers, I ask - Are you willing to open yourself up to what might be the biggest adventure of your life?

If you are, and if personal freedom is your greatest heart's desire, then, with some dedication and focused inquiry, you can have in your life what you most want.

You can discover anew the magic in being yourself, and know that your dreams are still alive.

You can experience the bliss of peak experiences and share them with others you know and love.

Thanks for joining us on the journey. We hope you enjoy it.

LIFE ENERGY AMPLIFICATION AND FULL SPECTRUM BIOMAGNETIC FIELDS: ENDING THE DEFICIENCY IN VITALITY AND BLISS

Raise your vitality and bliss through a psychotronic vision quest and take a trip into the now

By Norman McVea, Ph.D.

Personal freedom, material success, and spirituality can be more easily aligned, and more deeply connected, for most people. This presentation is offered in the hope of furthering that process.

The following is an in-depth research report, a summary of numerous technical papers on the subjects of magnetism, pulsed magnetic fields, electrotherapy, aromatherapy, altered states, zero point energy, quantum physics, accessing the subconscious, chi gong, ayurveda, radionics and intention amplifying, and self realization. We will discuss their relationship to life energy amplification and the nature of biofield vitality. You will discover techniques for listening to your body, deeply sensing and witnessing it, and becoming more conscious of its subtle intuitive processes of higher intelligence. You can learn how to become more sensitive to the body's intuitive cosmic rhythms and how you can interface with the energetic intelligence that pervades its every cell.

The transformative benefits in learning to listen to your body are covered in this report and also how to "coach" the energy dynamics of vitality amplification and its relationship to the release of traumatic cellular memories. These traumatic cellular memories are interpretations that control the nature of our thoughts and feelings. These unintegrated interpretations give a predisposed spin to our lives. As we explore cellular memories below the threshold of normal awareness, our consciousness expands to discover a bigger, more complete picture. We will see how every brain cell is part of a whole larger network and is one with every other cell in our bodies. We will learn how to access this nonlocalized field of information and facilitate change in the belief systems of cellular memory. According to psycho-immunology, changes in consciousness cause changes in cellular biology and chemistry. Mind and matter are not separate. Matter is an expression of mind. Changes at the level of cellular memory cause transformation in the way in which we hold limiting beliefs about ourselves. These cellular fields work as holographic amplifiers that project their patterns onto the very fabric of our lives. When they are patterned or encoded with trauma--they project and manifest trauma. Cellular fields amplify and project trauma-oriented psychophysical reactions—into our consciousness. It is now possible to clear these traumatic cellular metaprograms and instead groom and nurture the cellular informational fields with the energy of bliss (cellular release.) They can be reprogrammed with vital nowness, thereby engendering a blissful optimism that brings about spontaneous "healing" states of positive wellbeing. You can now have access over the control center of the deep self by riding an inner wave of pure joy. Your higher consciousness can now rewrite the limited-self program. This is called the cellular pleasure principal.

These discoveries and their far-reaching effects have been as yet unpublished. This is a briefing on recovering and reclaiming previously "inaccessible" and "unavailable" life force energy units from dead, pre-physical energy structures. When one has released these self-limiting energetic blocks, one is again connected to the vital ethers. Earlier research was reported in a 1992 paper by the author, "Life Energy Amplification: Encounters with the Life Force."

We will examine the results obtainable from rudimentary, first-generation vitality amplifiers, and then move up to modern, high-tech instrumentation, what might be called a smart or a full-spectrum negative magnetic ion field, or a vitalized, 10-chakra chi field. A full spectrum vital field is a deep experience of spiritual wellbeing, in which you actually process your energetic totality and can know yourself in the now, free from traumatic cellular memory. This path of self-discovery is a vision quest into the source of your energetic perfection. We will embark on a shamanistic vision quest into inner space, looking at how to release (neutralize and balance) these frozen electromagnetic cellular imprints, the psychological aspects of stagnant and stuck chi. These subtle auric distortions (grids) operate as subconscious metaprograms replaying past energetic conflicts, thereby bringing into being tension-producing, self-limiting belief systems. These frozen energy grids engender energetic resignation, suppressed mental metabolism, or what is more commonly referred to as low vitality. Low vitality has reached such an epidemic proportion in our society that it sometimes seems that most people are energetically challenged!

I will quote health care researchers in the U.S.A. and in other countries whose scientific statements, at first glance, by some hasty conclusions, might be misconstrued as Oxygen Research Institute Inc. unethically offering covert healing claims. Not so! We have brought these studies into this book not to focus on physical healing, which we at ORI Inc. are not legally qualified to judge. As a research psychologist and as subtle energy researchers, energetic coaches, and psychics-- we examine only subtle energy, that is, the mental and spiritual side of the life force. When you see subtle energy for what it is--then the whole universe is recognized to be made out of this now, this not so subtle energy.

Matter, energy, space, time, name, and form reverse polarity to become subtle while space and nothingness are experienced as all-pervading. Some see space as empty space, but we, as subtle energy researchers, see it as space full of nonmaterial intelligence—as vast pure creative potentiality.

We will examine the psychosomatic ramifications of various energetic therapies and practices. We will focus on what was previously overlooked, by other research groups, aligning it with the latest in German research. Our job here is to update our public on the new psychoactive technical breakthroughs regarding the occult or "hidden" mechanisms of action of various energetic practices and treatments. We will examine how we can apply these discoveries in the fields of holistic psychology and personal growth through the medium of the transpersonal experience. We will look at how altered states of consciousness relate to the nonphysical "healing" of psychic blocks and spiritual "energy glitches." We will show you how to suspend everyday beliefs so that you can get behind everyday realities.

Personal limitations are a psychological event, an interpretation of perception--but not perception or actuality itself. These discoveries can bring freedom to ourselves as well as others, both near at hand and at a distance (action at a distance—radionics.) Please keep in mind that our focus throughout this article is not on physical healing but rather on our relationship to universal life energy, tachyon, chi, orgone or life force, etc., and the clearing of the energy blocks that project and solidify self-limiting belief systems. Our focus is on how to dissolve those multilayered, dense energetic blocks that inhibit one's spacious nature and the spontaneous, free flow of energy. What we believe is that truth is the best medicine, and what we are undertaking is no less than a vision quest in search of the bliss factor!

HOLISTIC PSYCHOLOGY MEANS: MIND AND BODY ARE NOT SEPARATE

One emerging field that embraces these frequently overlooked subtle energy phenomena is called neuropsych-immunology! This term defines a collection of research findings on the importance of reducing stress so that one's immune system can become unburdened, fully functional, and remain uncompromised. The pioneers in vibratory healing--Royal R. Rife, Georges Lakhovsky, Wilhelm Reich, Albert Abrams, and Nikola Tesla--shook the money tree of the powerful pharmaceutical interests with their breakthrough physical healing technologies. The establishment then suppressed their instrumentation almost out of existence. However, today in the field of neuropsychology-immunology, these same instruments can be openly studied for their subtle energy (nonphysical healing) effects in relative safety. I believe that these instruments may have a great effect on subtle energy and consciousness in the release of blocked cellular awareness. We will further explore with these earlier devices how to talk to the immune cells of our bodies, how to support them in creating blissful chemistry. When one is blissed out, the body's systems create happy energies, or as Dr. Deepak Chopra says, "happy molecules." How can we program or influence our immune cells to think positively? When a blissful organizing energy field is inputted into the cells' vibratory field, its blissful organizing field modulates the production of pattern free molecules, which are experienced as blissful. The good news is that no one has ever died from unbearable bliss!

The Department of Health, Education, and Welfare says that the number one killer in this country is heart disease. It has been discovered that a major cause of heart disease is job dissatisfaction. Not at all surprisingly, the time when the greatest number of heart attacks occur is at nine o'clock on Monday morning. This is just one example of how traumatic experience (mental stress) regulates physical structure.

Another relevant term is psychotronically assisted introspection, which means the utilization of instrumentation which opens consciousness to expand access to the subconscious or to help us in deeply listening to the mental, emotional, attitudinal, intuitive, and causal energy bodies. We will share insights on these developing subjects and on the energetic nature of vitality suppressing, "negatively charged chi." We will explore the mechanism of manifestation of stagnant thought forms, suppressed emotions, and stress producing attitudes in the form of frozen, subtle body, pre-physical energy. No physical healing claims are meant or implied in this report. No diagnostic information is presented here.

Instead, I am presenting a logical, easy-to-follow line of research, with specific cause-and-effect studies, to show the deep spiritual and psychological transformations possible with a few new applications of earlier subtle energy discoveries. We will also look at various new applications of earlier life energy amplification technology with the focus on clearing and amplifying into manifestation our highest desires: how to live a life that is sourced from the deepest values and clearest perceptions of our true nature. In the 1960's, the focus was chemistry; in the 1990's, it is energy.

Historically, consciousness and health go back a long way to the beginning of medicine. Let us have a quick overview. Paracelsus, who was considered the greatest physician of the Middle Ages, once said that the highest level of medicine is love. I believe that the experience of knowing oneself as love is the greatest healing factor in neuropsych-immunology.

Anton Mesmer, the "father" of hypnosis, described health as harmony and sickness as disturbance. Mesmer said that the vital force could be accumulated, concentrated, and transported. Baron von Reichenbach achieved his fame from the discovery of an astral substance which he called "Od." He called it a vital magnetism. Wilhelm Reich, M.D., a brilliant German researcher who later came to this country, discovered a process he called Orgone Energy and Orgone Accumulation. This visionary research on life energy amplification and the qualities of armoring (meaning encrusted solid fields or activated shells of unexpressed emotion, suppressed attitudes, and psychological trauma stuck in energy grids in the body's auric field) was published in the 1940's. Together with the earlier scientists and healers from the natural sciences that I have mentioned, it helped establish the basis of many mainstream medicine and subtle energy practices of today.

We might visualize throughout this briefing the technical procedures described on how to amplify our chi level (vitality level) and that of our family, friends, patients, and clients and how to clear and keep vital our intuitive flashes and our higher purposes and goals. Life is only really believed to be a problem when stress seemingly blocks your intuition and the loving guidance that flows from it!

BIOMAGNETICS: THE FIRST LEVEL OF CHI AMPLIFICATION

Biomagnetic researcher V.A.Patel, of the Natural Cure Hospital in India, in his book, Brief References on Bio-magnetism, describes a health grid model that places magnetics in the center and its direct relationship to spiritual and mental mind influence. He also says that the high priests and pharaohs in ancient Egypt used magnets for healing and to extend their life spans. Dr. Samuel Hahneman, the great founder of homeopathy, used magnets in his practice, according to Patel. Dr. Hahneman said, "The cell needs to be given magnetic prodding, to be infused with extra energy to help clear the blocks. Magnetics acts straightaway on the red blood cell; in fact, it energizes a potent factor in healing. In a nutshell, blood contains iron that is influenced and enriched by magnetism, causing ionized blood to flow through the system, resulting in improved circulation and freed from impurities. Under the magnetic energy force of a magnet, red blood cells (hemoglobin), whose work is to reach every particle in the body at its furthestmost points carrying life-sustaining oxygen in its oxy-hemoglobin cells, are energized to carry their oxygen content to burn all of the wastes at each point. The magnetic waves of a magnet pass through the tissue, inducing secondary currents which help in clearing wastes." He calls this a magnet's penetrating ability. He further points out that there are no side effects, but instead phenomena that are called cleansing responses (which will be discussed later in this book.) Said Dr. Hahneman: "To counteract the imbalance, to bring to harmony with nature, the body needs to step up its depleted vital force, its inherent magnetic force field which has dropped in its energy content." In conclusion, it is pointed out that "fish and plants grow faster, stouter physiques and have a lower mortality rate with magnetic water."

Kyoichi Nakagawa, M.D., Director, Isuza Hospital, Tokyo, in his groundbreaking paper on "Magnetic Field Deficiency Syndrome and Magnetic Treatment," talks about stiffness in the neck and shoulders, mental dullness, tension, general lassitude, headaches, etc., and many anxiety-oriented symptoms. The lack of magnetism causes some abnormalities, he states. For this reason, the external application of a magnetic field to the human body can supplement this deficiency and such abnormal conditions can be improved. This syndrome is postulated to be caused by the earth's reduced magnetic field and magnetic insulation caused by wearing shoes, walking on concrete, living in high rises, and drinking magnetically deficient water. There are many magnetic devices to help improve one's magnetic deficiency--magnetic shoe soles, magnetic jewelry, beds, patches, water chargers, etc. Magnetics since Egyptian times has been thought to be a generator of life force energy--a life force amplifier less vital than the life giving qualities of oxygen; a senior energy, perhaps.

Buryl Payne, Ph.D., in his well-researched book, "The Body Magnetic," quotes a study by Dr. Ulrich Wanke published in 1980 which applied a 20 Hz. magnetic field at 50 gauss to a test subject. Infrared thermographs showed that the arms and hands showed an increase in blood flow in just two minutes. Dissolved oxygen in the blood tissues was also increased by a factor of two." According to the Wanke study, "Other oxygen studies and reports confirm the observation that oxygen utilization is increased. In Canada, pulsed magnetic field instruments are used on horses. In one experiment it was found that treatment increased oxygen blood flow by 52%! " We at Oxygen Research Institute believe that Dr. Wanke was one of the first researchers to demonstrate that a pulsed magnetic field increases the blood oxygen level. Magnetics enhance cellular ion exchange, thus improving oxygen utilization.

Those who have read medical journalist Ed McCabe's groundbreaking book, "Oxygen Therapies" will at once understand why we have been so excited about the studies completed on pulsed magnetic fields and their dramatic increase of blood oxygen levels. It has also been postulated for a long time that oxygen is a carrier of and contains orgone, prana, zero point energy, tachyon, or chi--all meaning life force energy.

Through the application of magnetic fields, participants generally speaking say they experience more fluidity, more spontaneity, and sensitivity in their lives and are thus more predisposed to in-the-moment responses. I define magnetics as first level life energy amplification. It is the most basic and least sophisticated form of life energy amplification and it affects the gross energy body.

CHI AND THE CHINESE APPROACH TO LIFE ENERGY AMPLIFICATION: SECOND LEVEL AMPLIFICATION

All the chi machines we have seen utilize infrasonic sound or low frequency sound. This low frequency sound is a sound that chi gong masters emanate from their fingers. The primary sound frequency was believed to be at 10 Hz. This 10 Hz was believed to be a basic frequency of low frequency energy, the substance of chi. However, the principal equipment used in these measurements was Hertzian, not scalar or nonHz. The infrasonic acoustic effects below 1 Hz were for the most part neglected, but have been intensely researched by a group of German doctors in their amplification of the subtle energy signatures of homeopathic remedies. Very low frequency "waves" or scalar "waves" are considered the main type of informational carrying waves in subtle energy technology.

Seeing your body in an energetic framework accelerates personal energy management and energy clearing waves

Subtle energy scientist Glen Rein, Ph.D., in his excellent book, "Quantum Biology," points out, "It is proposed here that in addition to having real physical effects on inert matter, quantum fields have effects on living biological matter. Apparently this hypothesis has not been considered by biologists and even physicists in the bio-electromagnetics community have not grasped the implications of this idea. Since quantum fields exist at a more fundamental level than traditional Electro Magnetic fields or EM, it is proposed here that quantum fields regulate the action of the more dense EM fields. EM fields in turn regulate or effect biological processes. Thus by examining the quantum level of biological systems, we are one step closer to the causal level behind physical changes in our bodies underlying health and disease."

David Bohm has recently proposed the existence of an even more subtle energy level which underlies the quantum potential (Bohm, 1990). Bohm refers to this fundamental energy level as the super quantum potential level (emphasis added)." (Conrad, 1990). Nikola Tesla, the genius electrical engineer at the turn of the century, used the term nonHertzian: "NonHertzian energy has been proposed to be higher dimensional in nature... To be informational carrying waves that carry subtle energy signatures from energy fields outside the body." Thus, nonHertzian energy is particularly important as a bridge between the higher dimensional levels of consciousness and the more dense levels of 4D space/time. This point of nonHertzian waves being the bridge between higher levels of consciousness and 4D space/time is for many researchers the dynamics of connection to multidimensional beingness or the transpersonal experience--the gateway to higher self and "action at a distance" or radionics. NonHertzian "waves" or scalar "waves" are nondirectional waves and are often called an isotherm field or a fourth-dimensional field. This energetic explanation for the link between mind and body is offered here as a novel quantum mechanism underlying psychoneuro-immunology.

Although psycho-immunologists acknowledge that certain aspects of consciousness, e.g., imagery and thought, can influence the body, they do not consider the higher aspects of consciousness. Higher states of consciousness refer to states that transcend four-dimensional space/time and allow access to the "higher self." Frohlich suggests in his "Holoenergetic Quantum Consciousness" (1968) model that resonance between two systems is relevant for subtle energy research. This implies that by introducing a vital energy field to a less vital life field that the less vital treatment subject's field undergoes an exchange with the vital organizing field's energy. The resonance is raised to the higher order. Dr. Thomas Beardon, a frequent speaker at conferences of the U.S. Psychotronics Association, uses the term scalar electromagnetics and suggests that they may be propagated to bring order back into disorder. Scalar waves can act like a gateway for bringing a higher dimensional energy into our three-dimensional world. NonHertzian or scalar waves are terms used to describe this novel type of higher order energy. The nonHertzian or scalar wave emissions for plasma tubes are the basis of Rife's beam tube.

Finally, some radionics devices may generate nonHertzian fields by using psychotronic generators. These nonHertzian fields may either be those naturally occurring in the brain or those externally applied to the brain. NonHertzian fields may therefore constitute a new energetic regulatory system that modulates higher brain function. It is possible, for example, that EM fields may act as a carrier for the more subtle information associated with nonHertzian energy. Indeed, through the use of a scalar field, one could encounter disorganized or discordant energy fields called stress and organize and vitalize them through the introduction of a vitalized organizing field. By neutralizing and balancing energy, participants could have access to higher brain functions or higher dimensions of existence.

The key to fourth dimension access appears to be scalar electromagnetics! The process is one of accelerating the "raising of one's frequency" to open to a reservoir of higher order vital energy.

When I first received acupuncture in 1972, the treatment was performed with needles. Then as the technology evolved, electro-acupuncture became popular. With electro-acupuncture, the electronic portion of the equation contains--a pulsed magnetic field! Then came the use of stationary, static field magnets placed on the acupoints. Magnetics once again. Magnets were followed by gemstones, tachyon cells, and then soft lasers, noble gases, and gem stones. Noble gases and gemstones in a laser form generate a pulsed magnetic field carrying the gemstone vibratory signature of the gases and stones in an attempt to release acupoint armoring. Then from China came chi machines, designed to generate subtle energy and supply it to acupoints and specific, unvital body parts. Chi machines are used in hundreds of Chinese hospitals with good results. However, the one inescapable criticism of the earlier chi machines is that they are not very vital. The output is a higher vibratory field than plain magnetics, but it is missing static and kinetic magnetic fields as well as specific chakra attunement modalities to be discussed later in this paper. Chinese chi machines that I have studied can only effectively treat one body part at a time and researchers and psychics report that it is a very one-dimensional energy, low in prana, but higher than just plain magnetism. All chi machines tested to date are second level life energy amplifiers. One newer brand of chi machine that we have recently become acquainted with makes a loud noise as it imparts its subtle energy. Our first experience of this device was of a sharp hammer sound--an unnerving feeling, at best-- and a few researchers did not want to continue the experience. This device is limited in its usefulness, but a great chi machine--still in the future--could literally transform the vitality deficiency syndrome.

UNAMPLIFIED ENERGY DEVICES: THIRD LEVEL LIFE ENERGY AMPLIFIERS

Unamplified energy devices include stones, tachyon cells, herbs, colors, flower remedies, vitamins, metals, light, sound, pyramids, sacred geometry, etc. They could be called, for the most part, nature's software. They generate a higher level and more varied vibration of life force than chi machines except that the output is unfortunately at low volume and the output energy is relatively static as opposed to kinetic or moving. This category is low-level amplification, not so vital magnetism.

Each stone, color, or frequency of material interacts with a different chakra system and on specific patterns of auric distortion. With some research, you will discover which energetic items work on your specific blocks the best. Each "mini life energy amplifier" has a specific effect on the mental, emotional, and attitudinal bodies. Each of these frequency compounds has a distinct mechanism of action. (This information is readily available in many published works). When the field moves or vibrates intensely, there is an action of accelerated release of body armoring or shells, which is called field effect. Wilhelm Reich's orgone accumulator could have been a cleaner, more active biofield vitalizer if the walls of the device could have moved to pump the field. This would have produced more interaction and energetic integration.

TECHNIQUES: THE FOURTH LEVEL OF LIFE ENERGY AMPLIFICATION

Included here are psychophysical techniques such as breathing, intentions, flows of attention and concentration, affirmations, prayers, guided meditations, concentrating on sacred geometry, mentally held goals, chanting, toning, radionic rates, running energy, ceremonial magic, chi gong, martial arts, Reiki, etc. Each of these intentional energy flows of the mind/body, a scalar amplifier in its own right, uses the power of the mind to focus and amplify the life force through a focused mental energy. This method can also be applied by visualizing the energy fields integrating with energy compounds and mentally amplifying them and directing their energy. These forms tend to require very long and intensive training to learn the technique, and long internships or apprenticeships and continual practice to develop the application to a finely tuned art. Quieting the mind (a disorganized field) while lacking in vitality or prana can become a full time major pursuit. Divine intervention may only consistently come to those magicians who have mastered the energetic bodies. Some senior researchers easily log 10,000 hours of mental processing in just one path. Some masters have spent lifetimes perfecting their work. These mind/body techniques are permeated with chi or prana and have a vital magnetic effect on one's own energy body as well as others, both near at hand and at a distance. These modalities are moving or kinetic, rather than mainly static. Their output waves, direction, and volume can be varied and amplified through mental tuning or psychic gymnastics. This gives the fourth level an edge over the third level of nature's software. Studies show that when the magician enters an altered state, he/she crosses into fourth dimension space/time.

WHEN YOU BECOME YOUR SELF, YOU CHANGE THE WORLD

Rest your mind and sharpen your inner vision

Without psychotronic intervention, because of the mind's formidable preconditioned reactions, adepts are often lost in illusion and self-limiting belief systems. When a magician is identified with a false identity, and thus false will, he/she is so locked into 3D space/time illusions that the accessing of 4D consciousness--necessary for true magic to manifest-- is difficult. Reaching the required level of vitality, present centeredness, chakra attunement, and mental focus necessary to transmit a tuned pranic intention is very often a hit-or-miss proposition. The desired manifestations are often: access denied. All effective healing intentions take place in fourth or higher dimensions. Self-limiting belief systems must be released before desirable outcomes can be even recognized. Their complete discharge or energetic transformation often requires long hours of intensive coaching (thousands of hours), and intense and time-consuming mind-quieting practices before results are forthcoming! As reseachers synergetically blend levels one, two, three, and four, a more multifaceted approach unfolds: a deeper access to the unconscious opens!

REALIZE THE SELF THROUGH FALSE IDENTITY STRIPPING

Space "therapy"

The process of psychological viewing without the intervention of life energy amplification can make core energy clearing an authentic deep address of the "armoring grid" and become an overwhelming feast. Deep reaching change must get to the basic "grid" or basic impulses buried deep in the energy body. The LEA's active field--applied in conjunction with your directed awareness--de-activates false identities that only mechanically go through the motions and pretend to view or pretend to transform. Your false sense of self is a structural component of your traumatized energy field. The origins of the ways in which we perceive ourselves are deeply embedded in our cellular memories and seldom questioned. Belief systems are then engineered to accommodate these traumatic structures. You will want to identity strip back to your source or true self. You must even release the belief system that views. You must arrive at pure seeing beyond any subject-object dichotomy or archetypal identity. The goal of identity stripping--or as some call it, identity clearing or cellular release therapy--is to identity strip back to the space beyond the "seeds" of believed identity, to get to the seed of ego self, the core of false notions of self. Remember: a thought can never change a thought! Without substantial Life Energy Amplification and the clearing of core subtle energy, long-affirmed, quantum-denying interpretations of life processes can keep one looping in old paradigm models. They keep the bliss response suppressed under heavy armoring.

PSYCHOTRONICALLY-ASSISTED, INTROSPECTION-AMPLIFIED WAVES TO RELEASE TRAUMATIC CELLULAR MEMORY

When you achieve a goal, you release a boundary. Our desires are trying to help us release our boundaries.

The greatest ally you have on your path to psychological and spiritual development is your body! Some people would interpret this sentence to mean that the greatest obstacle that they have on their path is their body! Many of us subconsciously assume that body and spirit stand on opposite sides of the fence. When many of us feel particular sensations, emotions, and attitudes, we interpret them as barriers or stuck flows in the river towards higher consciousness. We conceive them as distractions rather than delights. A person who is truly free lives fully in the present moment. This also means that they live fully in the body! When you live purposely in your body, you tune into its many dimensions of knowingness. Some researchers say that there are 144 dimensions of being. You can access deep levels of cellular knowledge and awaken to subtle levels of natural knowing. LEA researchers love to tell about discovering the cosmic mind and learning how to tap into it. The ultimate computer challenge from a cybernaut's point of view is to hack into God.

When you become in tune with your body, it transforms into a vehicle for you to travel the road to total freedom--almost effortlessly and pleurably. You learn the self-coaching skills of very deep relaxation. You learn to know the nature of stillness, the abode of zero point energy and the timeless self. You can get to know yourself as zero point energy and the fundamental vibration or vitality of all that is. To arrive at yourself, you will want to become a master at releasing trapped life force particles, stagnant vitality globules that bleed off your intention and high resonance. You will want to bring hidden, shadow, subconscious influences into the now. The LEA can become a trusted guide--a vehicle for spiritual fulfillment. When energy cleared or energy balanced, personal events release their psychological, self-limiting interpretations, space expands and behavioral flexibility enters the picture. Your body then becomes a monitor that helps you read and process internal blocks to multidimensional being. Balanced, unstuck energy conduits open to channel precognitive flashes. Without our usual bag of perceptual filters, we can effortlessly download from the cosmic mind. We can get in alignment with the true SELF and open the doors of perception to full self expression and infinite space. Only then will infinite freedom show up.

THE LIFE ENERGY AMPLIFIER: FIFTH LEVEL AMPLIFICATION

The Life Energy Amplifier (LEA), a computerized, German-originated fifth level amplifier, enters the picture at this point. This scalar or nonHertzian instrument, developed in the tradition of Dr. Wilhelm Reich and Dr. Samuel Hahneman, utilizes special rare earth permanent magnets and a pulsed, very low frequency magnetic field, plus scalar (information-carrying waves) and noble gas energy remedy combinations--for each chakra, (just like the lasers), gemstone (just like the lasers) and, unlike any laser, some LEA models are capable of energy signature amplification. Special LEA models can amplify sacred geometry, herbs, precious metals, gemstones, color gels, essential oils, affirmations, photonic waves, and transformative intention, etc. They represent the next generation in subtle energy field soft lasers, a new dimension in coherent field technology. Some LEA models offer energy signature imprinting and amplification through an input well designed by German researchers to amplify a remedy up to a thousand times and then energy graft (energetically integrate) it onto the LEA's energetic output. Welcome to the world of psychoactive designer energies! The LEA also contains a ten-chakra tachyon mineral field which nurtures or grooms the cell's field so that it feels loved and cared for. This is not a joke. Research subjects often suggest that the LEA is for them like a lover! Complete with pranic rushes. It brings them a very deep and satisfying form of joy or rapture. It brings waves of joy to their cells to soothe them by giving them a vital coherent organizing energy that they can joyfully resonate with. The LEA chi field is seen as a catalyst for joyful intercellular communication. The field, as it is sometimes called, is referred to by some scientists as vital kinesthetic tactile stimulation. Others call it a cellular massage, energetic makeover, vital magnetism, or a chi-bliss shower.

Some researchers describe it as potentized pyramid energy. Some say it has the feeling of very vital oxygen negative ions, or a feeling of north magnetic oxygen that reminds them of alkalizing from a previous acid condition. These special magnetic emitters, pouring out pulsed scalar magnetic chi waves, process the body's whole energy field (subtle bodies), or auric field at once!

YOUR MIND IS IN EVERY CELL OF YOUR BODY

Suppressed attitudes, emotions, and belief systems are stored in the body's auric field.

Your body's cells are a nonlocalized field of information and cellular memory. When one thinks, one thinks with the whole body, all of the cells--not just the brain. Thinking is a "calling all cells" affair. You have no doubt heard the terms--gut feeling, heart's desire, my immune system doesn't like my job, etc. The cells, but technically speaking only the energy field of the cells, are called the mind. Clear the cells' energetic field and you clear the mind. When you think, you truly think with the entire energy field of your whole body. Most of us do this unconsciously. Some of us have retreated to only thinking with the head or brain, some with the genitals, or other body parts.

Researchers in so many decision making and goal setting situations--as well as those that require intuition-- have ignored the chakras, heart, auric field, and all other organs. Why not let thinking become a holistic conscious process? Why couldn't we process out our cells' belief system of aging, for example? When you can dialogue with the chakras, you have a powerful ally that can assist you in going still deeper to energy clear the cells' interpretation of time! When you bathe the cells in a coherent, vital field, you evoke the cells' bliss response and the cells intercommunicate in a field of present centeredness. Presence the cells' energy field in the now and traumatic cellular memory dissolves. Perhaps the aging process is just the cells' accumulation of too many nonresonant, dense memories of time! Perhaps becoming clogged with solidified time or temporal chi energetically challenges the cells.

THE CHAKRAS ARE LEVELS OF PSYCHOSPIRITUAL ENPOWERMENT

These special LEA emitters feature proprietary energetic resonator fields to tune each chakra. These are called chakra-specific tuning fields. With the LEA, you can neutralize and balance each chakra with full spectrum vital magnetic energy and clear the subtle body's portholes or pathways to open to the inflow of full spectrum magnetic field! Full spectrum means simply 10 vibratory energy envelopes custom-matched for each primary energy center. It is the highest and purest level of vital ether! As you unblock your chakras, they act as cosmic resonators channeling unlimited power from the universal life force. They serve as open conduits to other dimensions of being. They are portholes to fields of higher intelligence. It is a tap into the informational field of knowing, the field of universal intelligence. This ultimate smart pill, with your willingness, takes you to the essence of being so that you can discover a higher creativity by the experience of knowing it from the inside out!

The LEA's resonant field is also sometimes referred to as etheric oxygen or smart vital ether or the vitality side or energetic essence of oxygen's vital physical form. Oxygen is the second-easiest field to magnetize. It is very easy to energetically structure, flavor, or formulate to a desired energetic inclination. It is both a vital ocean and a master communicator. The German researchers also joyfully refer to it as activated chi or chi bliss. They say that it is the vitality side of "oxygens O4 to O18" (etheric oxygen). Its essence is faster than light particles that are everywhere/nowhere and are the invisible component of conscious awareness itself. It is the chemistry of higher consciousness. These psychoactive, joyful molecules have the nontoxic capacity when used as a tool for a psychoactive vision quest to transform your interpretation of personal limitation. Through LEA biofield interaction, coaches learn to shift the belief that their body is an inert lump of matter by discovering and integrating its innate intuitive intelligence. The LEA field effect is much like a biofeedback loop in that participants can, almost magically it sometimes seems, feel their way free by sensing and thus dissolving dense energy grids that inhibit spacious expansion and higher intelligence. The key to accessing this intelligence is in the letting go of prejudice or judgments that one holds, that keep one's "bodily" feelings blocked and falsely deemed as armored and inaccessible. Energy clearing your holographic projection (body) gives you precious insight in getting to know the universe of the spirit. Thinking of yourself as being anything less than that perfect unfolding is an arrogant judgment that begs your commitment to be released. With the help of the LEA and your willingness to discover the truth, you can learn to dissolve your false self-image. You can know yourself as a vast wide-open space. As vastness itself.

HIGHER INTELLIGENCE IS THE EMPTY SPACE THAT MAKES UP EVERYTHING IN EXISTENCE

As you learn to pay attention to your body, stuck energies learn to express themselves; bio-electric imprints unlock.

The biggest barrier to personal freedom is the subconsciously held belief that one is only a body and mind. By offering up this pattern to the interactive LEA chi field, it is quite easy to give up that localized frame of reference and shift our reference to an unbounded reality that has infinite potential. The LEA when applied with the Coaching Self Inquiry Workbook program is a potent wake-up call in sensing yourself existing beyond your boundaries. Your barriers are not solid; they are energy vibrations waiting to be organized by coherent thought. Through the clear focus of higher self energy you learn to flow amplified vitality waves at a pattern of unorganized energy--you thereby learn to integrate that pattern's dead energy (mental density) back into a living system existing in a timeless body. You learn to discharge and integrate those auric patterns that "you" believe are trapped in time. As you further learn to generate clear, loving unpatterned flows of attention or awareness you learn the secret to the power of the universe. You can learn how to swim in quantum soup! That soup, however, thick as it may sometimes seem, is really an ocean of awareness--pure, integrated, unpatterned, and blissful.

When you add to the LEA (hardware) computer, the 10 (software) audio tapes and subtle energy clearing workbook called Coaching Self Inquiry, you learn to greatly accelerate the release of unconsciously held perceptual filters. You can become a more active participant in energetically coaching yourself into the space of harmony with the universal life force. These subconscious forms of negative space are behavior-controlling structures, self-limiting belief systems that seed and fertilize your belief in a limited false self. Each chakra center has its own package of programmed cellular limitations in the form of traumatic cellular memory mysisms ("seeds.") All of your self-limiting thoughts enter your awareness as mysisms. These mysisms form in layers or grids and become more solid and controlling. They spawn belief systems that are psychophysically draining.

By applying the LEA's vital field (organizing principal) to each energy center, the frequency spectrum of vitality gets played. This preprogrammed chakra resonant field neutralizes and balances each chakra system so that its own frequency-specific traumatic glitches, life force blocks, or shadows (dead energy deposits) are dissolved and the formerly trapped awareness is re-integrated. Pockets of psychophysical tension that are composed of these grids or layers of frozen cross-energy forces dissolve into deep psychophysical relaxation. Well-practiced coaches learn to relax (the relaxation response) and subsequently de-energize bio-energetic cellular imprints. One researcher describes this dissolving action as meditating away or leaving behind tension (vital energetic leakage) or holding. Another subtle energy coach describes the experience of the LEA's bioenergetic process as the feeling of a group of light body workers laying on hands. Some others see it as amplified Reiki.

As an energetic coach learns to direct the LEA's flow, one's energy field blocks give way to natural higher-self impulses and long-suppressed feelings come up or resurface to be integrated. This gradually attained, psychological lift achieved through energetic insight induces a profound altered state or peak experience. After much intense sessioning, one's personal frequency can raise its resonance and rise up into the light body range! There are at least 10 windows or levels of awareness or planes of consciousness that are opened to you as you release the energetic blocks that shadow or armor each chakra and its surrounding systems. Each cleared and then opened chakra introduces you to a specific metaphysical attunement or initiation into a specific higher order of spacious beingness.

BALANCE THE CHAKRAS AND HEAL THE SOUL

Get to the heart of the psyche

Waking up to higher reality is just recollecting and energetically integrating misspent energy. It is realizing your body's energy field as an organ of higher, unseen intelligence. Learn to get synchronized with this higher intelligence. Every attitude or emotion you have is tuning, either retuning or untuning your body's metaprogram or control guidance system. Your thinking patterns shape your body that shapes your reality. You really discover that you create your own reality when you get in touch with your own thinking patterns that create your own body. These subtle (or previously unconscious) but now quite obvious energy flows are easily made available for clearing and reprogramming using the LEA and its Coaching Self Inquiry core-release interactive programs. Clearing traumatic cellular memory creates minute changes in cellular chemistry, creating changes in cellular biology. Positive thinking is a multicellular affair! Being alive with uncluttered intelligence in the moment is a multicellular act. As you uncover suppressed emotions and attitudes, you get down to the truth of your being. Suppressing natural expression makes people spiritually ill. Dissolving your mental resistance to full self expression can make you spiritually whole or spiritually well again--a 20th-century integral yoga and subsequent resurrection in its own right. The LEA and its psychoactive clearing waves are a tool for uncovering you--the pure potential for infinite experience. The veil that seems to keep this direct experience occluded is that buried deep in your cells' multi-layered armoring is the imprint you mistake for you. You are needlessly suffering from a false point of reference. Primary bio-electric imprint distortion (energetic illness). Clear that grid or blueprint and you will make the shift into who you really are. This is the most deeply hidden process but when traumatic cellular energetic memory is deeply neutralized and balanced you dissolve the layers of dense compacted energy to discover a space outside of time that is the spacious freedom you seek.

Some consider the greatest usefulness of this program to be that most Self Inquiry Coaches can energy clear themselves without the need for working with an additional practitioner. When you energy clear your body's field everyday, you learn how to timeshift the past into the present. As you represent your "past" in the now, the LEA's vital field sweeps these bio-energetic imprints into its quantum field, recovering their stored vitality. This process represents the most useful procedure I know for laying to rest the illusion called "the past."

Through the LEA's gift for generating phase conjugation waves, each cellular trauma can reorganize into the now.

ALL THINGS ARE REVEALED IN THE FULLNESS OF THE MOMENT

Only true self-discovery can bring about lasting change.

The LEA and its energy emitter package bring about desired energetic changes faster and deeper than by the conventional taking of vitamin and herbal supplements! Through the use of this advanced designer vital energy supplementation, you can dissolve the barriers that block your desired states of being and natural knowing. Perhaps the most basic element of natural knowing is knowing how you feel. Most people do not know how they feel! They only think they know how they feel.

As you open locked, multisensory suppressing patterning, you get in touch with the mysisms (energy "seeds") or the causative beliefs behind rigid emotions and attitudes. The LEA's deep energetic sweep and audio tape guided visualization processes are an in-depth cellular clearing that gets down to the bottom of stressful thinking patterns in the ego body and causal body. You learn to master the energy matrix of the causal body. This core energetic shift brings about an integration of the heart and mind--true self-discovery, and therefore lasting behavioral change. Only core self discovery that deeply extends to the causal plane can bring about lasting behavioral change. Through the implementation of the LEA's vital chi wave output and corresponding cellular awareness processes, you actually sweep away deep core layers of etheric cellular blocks that dictate fixed behavioral reactions. Through this psychotronic process of resurfacing suppressed and denied energetic content, you free up held energy that can be instantly rechanneled for more purposeful uses. You learn to know and trust your feelings. Often subjects report psychic experiences because of their expanded capacity for subtle body sensation or perception. As mental obstructions unpattern and dissolve, you become reconnected, as your belief systems become re-integrated. There is a renewal of sensory joy through resurfacing of long-forgotten, deep, multisensory feeling. You re-own your body, your own personal power spot. Clearing your aura with the LEA's scalar field in conjunction with its audio package dissolves secondary personalities giving way to the uncovering of the primary self--the deep, primary self from which you draw your intuition and vitality. As you get to know yourself outside of perceptual filters, you are released from self misinterpretations that build automatic thinking patterns so you can discover the bliss factor of uncluttered consciousness. You rediscover your natural processes of energetic purification and you follow your bliss towards spiritual wellness. You are reborn with oneness, in a field of uncluttered awareness with a free sense of self. Welcome to the "unmystery" school of the God, Goddess, All-That-Is pleasure principal--the Tao of psychophysical cellular integration. Have a nice trip.

BECOME A SEER, NOT A THINKER: SEE WITHOUT SEEING

Neutralize and balance your chakra blocks for an all-time high. When all ten chakras are open, their mysteries are revealed and you see clearly into a deeper level of existence.

When you have cleared your chakras, a free flow or free exchange of energy (circulation) takes place in which shakti-sensitive researchers often experience a kundalini awakening. Sometimes this awakening comes in large stages and sometimes in subtle energetic shivers. This serpent power model, which is a symbol for wisdom through ascension, requires a cleared space or channel from the base of the spine to the highest--out of the mind and body--tenth chakra. If you look at each chakra center as a brain or level of consciousness--or you could visualize each as a dimension of existence, as a level of energetic empowerment--the 10 chakras make 10 inner dimensions. The object is to have your energy channels open and free of self-limiting cellular memory. When you energy clear your auric field, you gradually become more able to sense and feel the subtleties of your nervous system's signals, and you become increasingly sensitive to the energies around you. You gradually release thinking about, and start feeling! You discover an opening to multisensory perception. You cease conceptualizing experience and become open to experiencing directly--outside of the mind's restrictive, conditioned influence. Through the LEA's access to the subconscious, you learn the distinction between past "feelings" and a feeling in the now. With a quiet mind, it becomes easy to pay attention to the body's intuitive signals, which are the key to energetic mastery. The LEA's vitality waves open the space for you to focus on a loving and accepting flow of prana. Sometimes as you perform this process, a feeling from the past that is held in cellular memory plays back on you. You have the opportunity, once this distinction has become tangible, to release all out-of-the-moment, nonspontaneous mechanisms of feeling. For many energy researchers, the now has previously been only a concept! Energetic transformation is a conscious activity that is your reward for dissolving your energy-contracting beliefs regarding the nature of feeling. The LEA's vital flow purifies and amplifies your attention by sweeping your auric field clean of distortions and dense concentrations of sensory numbing imagery. This larger coaching task begins with simple, in-the-now awareness. After a while, your attention knows where to go and you intuitively can let it go where it wants. Without Life Energy Amplification, even 10 minutes of conscious, nonthinking, unpatterned attention seems either like a long time or an absolute impossibility for most persons. With the LEA as your vision quest guide, you can open these inner planes of consciousness and discover that this quality of pure joyful intelligence is everywhere. There is no shortage. You discover the value in reorganizing vitality-draining energetic investments and thereby finding abilities to do new things.

WHEN YOU FOLLOW AN ENERGY PATTERN BACK TO ITS SOURCE, BLISS IS WHAT YOU GET

As you master the LEA and its related technology, you can go right to the depths and release your core energetic stuckness, that is to say, your projected ego-encapsulated shell. A spiritual being who is not in his/her own beingness (in the false self) can not sense or feel (somatic shutoff). When you make an object out of yourself, you lose your direct relationship to sensation and authentic experience. When you affirm and build ego-based abilities, you gain the illusion of power, but you lose the faculty of subtle energy or subtle information perception or intuition. You appear to gain a valence or a power identity. Valence means creating an identity for yourself that is not you but is essentially someone else who appears to have more power. Valence means power. Human ego-based power is the grand illusion. One's core beliefs or bio-electrical imprints about oneself as a humanoid are never dissolved. This may be the logic of why some cults who aggrandize ego-based power do so at the terrible cost of not only missing subtle intuitional guidance, but gross physical cues as well. Then you only think you know, when you do not really know, outside of dead energy concepts or stuck points of view. The body when conceptualized from "the past" is only de-energized, patterned memory. This phenomenon is often called somatic shutoff and is "experienced" as a grid overlay of layers of deadness or numbness. It is a suppression, a stifling or smothering of sensation in which sensation or feeling are reduced to merely a concept. Your long-range goal, as some researchers see it, is to release all past energetic rigidity (resistance) and thus expand your ego boundaries to open to a domain without words that is rich with expanded unpreconceived perceptions. In this quest, various researchers report the release of energy-binding cords that bind their organs and body parts. These cords are composed of rigid layers of emotions, attitudes, and suppressed feelings. Other researchers discover beamed intentions emanating from other people from past and from current traumatic encounters. They often report the release of current intentional control beams emanating from others, dark force energies designed to reduce their vision and vitality. These electrical phenomena actually release quite easily, even though conventional psychology and mental concentrating on sacred geometry process technologies rack up considerable session time trying in an inefficient manner to dissolve them. Simple guided imagery becomes an awesome potentized force when applied in conjunction with the LEA. When you chi pulse the body's auric field with waves of amplified informational waves, you quickly dissolve etheric field density. You need not spend the previous large amount of regressing and re-experiencing time required by some practices for armoring release. You need not consciously view each incident's content. With intention amplification, you can dissolve large chunks of armoring all at once! A little creative visualization--combined with an opening of intuition and an intention to let go of past trauma--can go a very long way!

When you have sensed your entire, multidimensional subtle energy body, you have a body born of the present moment. You have experienced out your nonspontaneous memory body. The goal of the LEA's resonant field and the Coaching Self Inquiry program is to permeate the body with amplified intention and awareness and thus purify pranic blocks (dualistic illusions--maya.) The LEA serves as a deep psychoenergetic opening allowing the subject--with guided imagery to both successfully neutralize and balance the energy body--to achieve energetic purity. This is a feeling of energetic integrity, of being sourced and aligned from the present moment. It is a quantum leap into spiritual adulthood. Vision quest participants often discover their essence as pure potentiality. When your auric field is deeply energetically swept, this process neutralizes and balances stuck subconscious attention so that there is more of you (more consciousness) in the now. Your energy becomes lighter, you sense experience life without your usual bag of past perceptual filters and resistances. Life becomes a joyful integration of energetic communication that is welcomed more easily as past inclination to effort dissolves. As your grip on the "past" becomes less dense, you gradually open to the free flow of intuitive information. Your chakras are open to the nonmaterial, vital energy of the now. Hidden motivations and higher values emerge. You are one with feeling and you openly welcome sensation--the object of most sensitivity training. You now live in space; you are no longer localized in the body. By sensing or experiencing out the body in 4D, you have brought life to the body. You have a new body (no traumatic cellular memory), fresh in the moment. Your relationship interaction becomes more responsive. You know your body in the now, you know it outside of mind. Once released, you are free of the core pattern of compulsive "end gaining" which is the ego/mind's trick to keep you from enjoying the bliss of the now. Be open to the now and you will have fulfilled your beauty and your destiny. The sensed body is dynamically alive. Full of passion. Full of aliveness. Your senses open to discover a whole new universe beyond the limitation of automatic thinking that is infinite in its potential. You awaken to the feelings of the present moment, not just flashbacks (feeling grids from the past.) Reaction slows down and you identity shift into the space of witness rather than staying stuck in the core patterned compulsive doer persona. You are everything--compassion, mercy, forgiveness, love, etc.-- that you seek!

THE CLOSER YOU CAN GET TO THE INVISIBLE SOURCE, THE DEEPER YOUR BLISS

A quiet mind is your greatest ally. Simplify your desires and get uncomplicated about what you really want.

When you open yourself to higher, nonthinking guidance, you are free to experience the beautiful inner energies of the intuitive forces. You learn how to watch the mind from the intuitive perspective of an unattached ego. This is a process of energetic purification heading toward the goal of energetic perfection. The greatest secret of personal beauty and rejuvenation is to integrate with the timeless. As you process towards this goal, you discover yourself to be the objective watcher or witness--not the triggered mind. You are not your thoughts. You are not your images or bio - electrical imprints of yourself. You are more like a blank movie screen. The movie screen does not become attached to the images of the film's projection. Have you ever gone to a movie and the projectionist sadly announces that the movie can't go on because the screen has become attached to a particular film frame and wouldn't give it up? Probably not! Don't project onto the pure screen qualities it/you do not have. Do not assign to it limitations that it does not possess. It is simply the backdrop of the movie. It is senior to the movie for without it, there is no movie! It is both greater and unlike the sum of its parts. When you let be and let free of your traumatic memories, your nervous system becomes an antenna for cosmic or divine energy and your light body serves you as a vehicle to enjoyably exercise your inherent spiritual freedoms. Through the process of letting go (neutralizing and balancing) of past cellular magnetic imprints, you presence yourself in the now. Visualize your body floating in an energetic sea, gently pulsed by waves of vital zero point energy, while transcending self-limiting associations and releasing self limiting, belief after belief.

As you master the LEA process and become focused in these exercises, you will become joyously willing to release concept after concept, limitation after limitation. Limitation imprints are held in place in multi-layered energy grids that are composed of repressed emotions and attitudes as well as other psychophysical components. As you dissolve these forms of armoring, you begin to sense the freedom that an uncluttered mind brings. As your chakras resonate with vital energy, subtle defense mechanisms are put aside. You are able to hang out with the self that is available in the deep unconscious. If you allow yourself to experience or sense what comes up without attempting to manipulate it, you can quickly get over it. You learn how to not block the process of the mind's unfolding into itself, but instead to let it run free. In this neutralized and balanced space exists one of the most powerful forms of limitation transcendence. Through open and intentional application of the LEA and subtle energy coaching technology, you can discover yourself as pure awareness. Pure awareness, without thought, seeks out the ego blocks and takes back its power. This process is done in pure silence. It is not an event willed by the ego. It is not driven nor gotten by force. It is not attained through effort. It is a present (notice you need to be present to receive a present) given to one who has done the work to experience wholeness of being. It comes in the space of the release of all false belief systems of self. When the mind is quiet, you can sense the self is at work; you can voyage so deep that you can even go to the source itself. You will become able, through practicing openness (taught through the 10 Coaching Self Inquiry audio tapes) and nonattachment to desires, to watch or witness content coming out of the void. You will realize that that is "me" and "my" thoughts that are manifesting out of the void. It is my unclaimed and unacknowledged desires that create my interpretation of life as I "perceive" it. What is happening to me is me! What comes out of the void is my disowned interpretation. At this point, this sometimes-distracting flow will easily slide off. It will not stick because there is no incompleteness (identification with false self) or illusion left in you for it to cling to. In order for illusion to form, there must be a basic untruth for it to form around. Your core untruth is your unsensed misunderstanding of yourself. Sensing your true nature is a multicellular, multidimensional event. It requires all of your attention. This is what the LEA does very thoroughly--that is, to dissolve your attention blocks or energy blocks. To get to the truth of pure freedom, you must go to a space (vision quest) where the outer senses cannot travel. The void is the only truth that "you" can fully know. It is only through this space that you can come to know love and to become the source of your experience. When you dissolve patterned self-images that you identify with, you discover who you really are and these images of "you" can no longer act as an enemy to yourself.

ACCELERATED ENERGY CLEARING: RELEASE UNINTEGRATED ENERGY PATTERNS WHICH ARE STORED IN THE ENERGY BODY

Your body/mind feels fulfilled when it knows itself in the present moment

How deeply can the LEA's chi waves--plus your cleared, potent, and amplified flow of attention, concentration and intention--run or release? One client, who had been talking about his traumatic childhood for years, was asked by his therapist after one LEA session, "How do you feel about your traumatic childhood now?" The client replied, "It never happened!" How's that for gone! Now that many hundreds of LEA's are in daily use by private individuals, it has been freely acknowledged that most persons can work out their energy blocks on their own. The LEA Coaching Self Inquiry sessions run quite well solo, reclining with headphones and utilizing the audio tape processes that come with this psychotronic unit. If you do not resonate with my tapes, then by all means work with other tapes you like, such as those from Lazaris, Osho, meditative coach Jonathan Robinson, H.W.L. Poonja (Poonjaji), Alcazer, subliminal, music, etc. Go with whatever flows for you.

When I received the updated LEA from Germany about seven years ago, I had just returned from studying with Poonjaji, the self inquiry master and holy man in India. My energy field chose to take some time off after that and process with Poonjaji's audio tapes in the friendly environment of my own home, using them in combination with the LEA. Processing, meditation, and psychophysical instrumentation were not new to me as I was formerly co-head of the est research dept., a personal consultant/coach to Werner Erhard and a consultant to est for many years starting in 1972. I was introduced to electronics as a young child by my father and had worked with him building hi-fi and stereo equipment and received an amateur radio license when I was 12 years old. Before my est consulting days, I had received approximately 4,000 hours of one-to-one processing starting in 1968 and I started going through psychotherapy beginning at the age of 13. I had also delivered over 15,000 hours of personal coaching and had worked as a consultant to 75 companies through my own business coaching/consulting corporation. I trained over 200 coaches since the early 1970's and participated in the training of thousands of students in radionics, psychotronics, and biofeedback clearing. Processing and energy work was my ongoing R&D hobby.

I found that the high meditative space that the LEA cleared for me was a deeper opening and a more dynamic experience for me than being in India with Poonjaji personally! Why? In India, my body was very uncomfortable most of the time and sometimes in pain due to the environmental pollution so rampant there. My energy was always resisting one toxin or another. I was physically and mentally stressed by environmental toxicity. My attention was scattered; I was suffering from a bad case of chi deficiency syndrome!

Once home I spent about two hours per day (solo processing or self-coaching) with the LEA, listening to my teacher's recorded words and opening my consciousness to his teachings. When he "ran the processes" on students there, I visualized, while listening to the tape, that he was asking me these questions. I answered them. In a short period outside of time, false identities, unfulfilled desires, and mental assumptions regarding my true nature started blowing or releasing like crazy. My control structures melted away. It was reminiscent of some of my best 1960's altered state experiences--but with no toxicity and with a continually opening awareness catalyzed by my intensive self-discovery experience. I realized the power of the now and was high for months!

Prior to the LEA experience, I was a failed meditator, having taken up and abandoned the practice hundreds of times since I first tried it in 1966. I had definite--and at the time, very real--blocks to experiencing bliss. Much later, I also incorporated the tapes of Jean Klein, Robert Adams, Gangaji, Suzanne Segal, and a few others into my LEA solo self coaching sessions. If you like an audio tape in your regular non-LEA life, if you resonate to it and want to open to its energetic process and are willing to open to it, and become one with its energy--then this is a promising tape pick. The LEA's energetic clearing is an opening to a vastly accelerated integration process. When your mental resistances from past traumatic content are both neutralized and balanced, they drop away and you are present in the now, with your maximum free attention available to be open to the truth. You may discover--as others have--that this space can be defined as having maximum free awareness available for a task. It is an optimized state of awareness--an ideal state of consciousness that is free from solidified chi.

Research associates are enthusiastic about the audio tape programs of Osho, Lazaris, Jean Klein, Dr. Caroline Myss, Tony Robbins, Robert Monroe, subliminals, hypnosis, etc. (Many of these audio tapes are carried by the Tools for Exploration catalog which also offers our LEA.) The relevant key experiences communicated in these tapes are openness, integration and transcendence of mental linear thinking patterns, and opening of the chakras to facilitate intuition and natural knowing. With some practice, you will learn to do this and you will learn one of nature's major secrets: how to accomplish the most with the least effort! You may learn how to do nothing and accomplish everything. You will become initiated in the space where all that it takes is a clear, higher self desire to bring about instant manifestation. Get to know this nothing and you will become better acquainted with the other side of life. Welcome home.

Through some dedication and practice in the techniques of Coaching Self Inquiry and mastering the dynamics of release, taught by our workbook - audio tape program and the LEA's interactive chi field, you eventually may relax your fixed beliefs enough to open to an ascension experience, let go of your training wheels--and fly home!

THE MORE YOU LIVE LIFE IN THE NOW,
THE MORE VITALITY YOU HAVE.
THE MORE YOU LIVE LIFE FROM THE PAST,
THE LESS VITALITY YOU HAVE

Holistic Psychology: Game of the now

Traditional psychologists and therapists would spend many hours, perhaps hundreds of hours, processing out "mentally held" rape trauma incidents, as an example. With a cost of perhaps $100 per hour, this might cost something like $10,000. Why not spare the patient this enormous expense and energy and directly access and release this trauma at the core cell level? Special insertion emitters are available, which are simply placed on, in, or near the vagina or anus. They do not produce a distracting electrical pulse, but rather an energy-vital pranic field, which can "demagnetize the cellular recording tape" using a homeopathic, gemstone, essential oils, color, etc., or similar energy clearer. One can process or coach the grid block of each chakra involved in the trauma to a state of release using the appropriate gemstone and color corresponding to that chakra. This chakra chart of information is readily available (see the Tools for Exploration catalogue.)

The same can be done for the negative energy grid of any emotional trauma or injury! Negative energy grids create a chi deficiency syndrome on whatever subject they shadow and cover. The LEA can uproot this negative chi and clear the slate for the vitality of the present moment, of the here and now. This energy pattern release also acts as a meditative influence that helps the subject to be in the moment during re-experiencing of trauma. This prevents the feeling of being shoved into similar past incidents which can strengthen the formation of imprints of the current traumatic incident. Speaking of past traumatic incidents, the LEA's bioactive fields will be of great assistance in helping you process out whatever disturbances exist in the cellular energy field, whether sports injuries, study trauma, resistance during exercise, or dishwashing blues, etc.

Concerning rape or sexual trauma, there is also the release of past cellular memories of sexual suppression or control cords or beams from past relationships and lovers. Consider dissolving stress-producing emotions, attitudes, and belief systems regarding sexual misadventures as they occur. Consider dissolving sex-related fear, guilt, shame, blame, and sexual regrets--in the moment as they surface--as well as addictions, compulsions, and feelings of impotency at the cellular level. Two people can use the same LEA system simultaneously and while in physical contact with the emitters, or by placing them in front of a fan, ozonator, or speakers. The air flow acts as a carrier medium for the energy vital waves so they can deeply sweep your auric field with vital pranic output waves. When the LEA's emitters are placed in a hot tub or bath, the water is restructured to be a subtle energy soup that makes exploring sexual boundaries and limitations a sacred unfolding. It is like a sexual watsu, safely re-anchoring sexual feelings into the space of nurturing and beauty. Sexual activities often trigger past reactions; and the LEA field effect supports the subconscious to easily manifest and dissolve them as they get triggered. As past incidents get triggered, the LEA's energetic releasing waves will energy clear cellular patterning as it manifests. Instead of going to therapy and talking about what happened, in many cases you can just let it go and integrate it in the moment as it happens. Some romantically joke that having the LEA is like having a loving nonjudgmental therapist in your bedroom. Others say that the LEA is like a lover in that it opens the space for you to discover who you really are sexually. The LEA field effect flows through both partners' bodies while they are making love--releasing old cellular memories. The word-of-mouth sharing of these extraordinary experiences was hot.

Tantric rumors abounded!

The LEA's release of solidified chi grids allows tantric voyagers to go deeper into the experience of sensuous subtle feelings. Visualize old previously denied and suppressed feelings coming up and dissolving, bringing your consciousness to deeper levels of sensuous pleasure. Some say that this cellular clearing of sexual experience is the deepest into their emotional body that they have ever voyaged during tantric ritual. One of the most blissful and freeing experiences in the universe is to give and receive sexual pleasure in the now: to make love to the person in front of you this very moment. One dimension of self discovery is to discover your sensuality and the pure God- and Goddess-given pleasure of letting go to the passion that comes from loving in the now. Unconditional love is a present-centered experience. Isn't that what we are wanting with all our hearts? The ultimate tantric vision quest may be to explore a higher love that comes from the erotic union of two people loving outside of the perceptual filters of the past and of cellular trauma. With space for sharing and open communication, the sacrament of sexuality can come true--two whole people making love in the now, completely open to the unknown, not resisting anything, but letting God-Goddess-All-That-Is use their bodies for their highest surrender to divine love.

UNCONDITIONAL LOVE IS A NOW EXPERIENCE

Awaken to the fundamental vibration of the universe and dwell in an expanded field of this present moment.

The direct experience of spirit is the only sustaining basis for love. The sexual organs have long been a focus of various therapies as the source of uncomfortable, frustrated, and subsequently distorted desires that tend to unconsciously manifest in inappropriate circumstances. Rather than just being discussed in the past tense as some earlier therapies require, the anus, penis, scrotum, vagina, G-spot, clitoris, breasts, etc., can be released from past patterning. Why not clear up their negative or blocked chi so that they can once again become connected to vital pranic flows? Learn to deeply energy clear these pleasure spots by sending an amplified vital field of love, acceptance, acknowledgement, white light, etc., to these sacred spots. The LEA process is a deep commitment of learning to love those parts of ourselves that were previously denied the power of higher consciousness. It is time to take back the past and take these body parts back into our temple of nowness so they can become sanctified. After the sexual crucifixion, the resurrection can well begin with your own body; roll away the stone.

When you relax your mind about sexual activity, your body soon gets the message. The best emitter formulation to begin tantric release work with is Formula Two, which is covered later in this work. (After completing your energy clearing with Formula Two, we suggest using Formulas One, Three, Four, Five, and Six to completely release each "frequency" of the multilayered armoring.) It does not take long to access deeply layered auric distortions and dark forces and have them neatly organized and integrated. One client described her sexual trauma integration as a new vagina. Other women have said that the sun has arisen again in their vaginas and that they will never call their vaginas "down there" again! Another described her vagina as beautiful because it is created by God and is the source of love.

This same energy-clearing process could be performed on a bedroom, bed, or whole house, clearing out the unwanted, attention-sapping, energetic remnants from "past" relationship associations. The bioactive LEA field is not concerned with the significance, date, place, morality, name, or form of the energetically charged event. It does not judge. The LEA's energetic sweep utilizes a pulsed magnetic field, static magnetic field, scalar frequency field, and chakra-specific, energy-specific resonant fields that deeply sweep the whole energy body or energy body part with whatever compound you choose to place on the input well. By paying close attention to our coaching workbook technology, you will integrate your basic energetic coaching skills. Most open and sensitive coaches will be able, within a reasonable number of self coaching sessions, to get their psychophysical chi blocks moving by processing their energy fields out of the past and into the now moment!

This section would not be complete without also noting that the aromatherapy oil essences have proven of great value when used in the release of sexual trauma. At first, they were only placed on the input well for energetic amplification. Later researchers rubbed a thin coat onto the electrodes themselves and the pranic field which came from the emitter/electrodes carried the essence's energetic field throughout the body. Aromatherapy is discussed further in this work, but, for now, recognize that plant essences in oil form are effective on the input well and also for coating the gold electrodes for added clearing depth and dimension.

Every hospital's trauma center should have just such a device. Traumatic cellular memory should be released as soon as it is imprinted, before vitality-denying belief systems are subconsciously put in place. The energetic ward of the future could energetically process out emergencies as they occur, releasing the psychosomatic predisposition or healing blocks that cause psycho-immune suppression.

GOOD VIBRATIONS--TANTRIC UNION CONSISTS OF TWO PEOPLE OPENING TO THE SAME BEING

Sexual rebirthing--expect a miracle, but settle for bliss

We also have plans to incorporate the LEA Formula Two emitter with a vibrator in the near future. The movement of a vibrator in conjunction with the LEA's energy clearing modality makes a natural wave field of deep pleasure and emotional release. In preliminary research, participants found that the orgasm was one that touched their very soul. It was a deeply satisfying experience of love and unity and a dissolution of uncomfortable feelings. One researcher says she visits her Christ self during orgasm and another says that the top of his head opens like a fountain as the chakras open from anal insertion. The vital waves start at the anus and release out the top of his head like a kundalini fountain. This is very often described as a cellular orgasmic experience of sexual empowerment through sexual rebirthing. A number of men have reported the clearing of unwanted emotions, attitudes, and belief systems when inserting these special emitters anally. There is also great reported value in energetically clearing the penis and scrotum. Bring the gift of oneness by timeshifting your sex parts and giving them a new beginning. This technique is often referred to as sacred spot prostate clearing. This process, similar to one formerly performed in ancient tantric temples, releases many deep emotions and opens men to a deeper relationship with their sexual energy. This technology deserves in-depth research on releasing impotency.

All tantric voyagers have their own personal reorientation to their sexual selves. One woman we know says she has an orgasm and then visits with elves and fairies. A few researchers said that they had seen angels since they started using the LEA vital field for sexual exploration. One woman felt that she was releasing addictions and attachments to past lovers while bringing zero point energy into her life. She found it to be both a deep and fast process in sexually withdrawing from a great sexual relationship that was damaging her life in other ways.

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF RADIONICS--THE LANGUAGE OF CREATION. FIND THAT STILL SPACE INSIDE OF YOURSELF AND IT WILL PERMEATE EVERYTHING THAT YOU DO--ACTION AT A DISTANCE

The LEA clears and amplifies your intention into luminous intent and teaches you how to access the deepest desires of your heart.

The closer you get to your bliss, the more you get what you really want. Did you ever wish for a wishing machine? As developing magicians learn, through patient practice, to access the part of themselves that lies within the 4D domain, the limited personal self or ego fixation (false self) is released and one finds one's self as the "energy" of the universe. Our 3D linear minds can't integrate this experience. The linear part of our brain rejects the experience of the existence of a universe beyond itself. Self-doubt is a core barrier of the linear mind when it is looking at the direct experience of intuitive knowing. This self-doubt is a pattern block to sensing subtle energy. This is the cognition of unified field. With radionics, we learn how to connect (realize our morphogenetic connection) and then swim to our goals in this universal energy soup. To become a competent radionic or psychic coach, you need to release your unconscious interpretation of yourself--to both purify and expand your mind. To do this you need to find the deep self. Magicians can use the LEA to explore this process of unconscious creation and to energy clear their conflict intentions. They can use the LEA to explore the unconscious mechanism of personal boundaries--to more fully comprehend and disillusion their limiting interpretations of matter, energy, space, time, name, and form. These symbols are not objective reality or things but rather subjective belief systems or notions. You could undertake a LEA vision quest on each one of these ideas or symbols to break up conditioned patterns of belief and discover the deeper truth. A vision quest in our work is a psychotronically-assisted process that dispels myths and puts you in touch with the creator within as you realize your deepest truths. You develop an illuminated intent.

MOVING BEYOND A LIMITED LANGUAGE OF CREATION

Unblocking your desires

Psychic Peter Wolf channels the cosmology of these higher dimensions of existence and the LEA's 9D opening ability in an audio tape (available from ORI for $12). This tape describes how Wolf uses the LEA in bringing 9D shakti into the 3D, but the scope of his in-depth channeling is beyond our purposes in this current presentation.

The LEA is an energy tool that can be used for this very kind of spontaneous, personal energy management. Utilizing this energy clearing instrument in conjunction with the Coaching Self Inquiry workbook and audio cellular energy clearing programs clears the mind, opens the heart, and guides you to the center of everything that is. It undercuts many more subtle, surface types of therapy or coaching. The LEA psychotronic coaching process guides you into contact with the deep joy of pure being. This program is a power piece or portable power spot for accessing soul energy. Some research associates say that it is a psychotronic computer and a program for releasing self-limiting beliefs, for coaching the spirit or retrieving the soul. Some say that it is a pathway to a deeper level of conscious control of the body--a more western approach to deeper meditation and integral yoga, and one that brings about an integration of spirit, mind, and body. This energetic integration breakthrough was a further understanding of integral yoga taught to me by my teacher, Dr. Haridas Chaudhry, in 1966. It is a new understanding of how to amplify the power of creative visualization to program or control the body's subconscious systems. If you want to change an unconscious body function, go to the field of silence from where it emerges.

WHEN YOUR HEART IS OPEN, WHAT MANIFESTS FROM YOUR HEART IS YOUR HEART'S DESIRE!

Learning to become a manifesting magician.

What if you could mentally clear and then amplify the vitality and power of your most important intentions by 1,000 times? Discovering your own authentic expressions of yourself and learning to get in touch with your own core needs and desires undercuts a lot of manifestation-blocking behavior. It is a joyful release of dense self-limiting beliefs.

The LEA is both a radionic and psychotronic instrument; it is a psychic amplifier. As a research psychologist, after researching with radionics, psychotronics, and altered states for many years, I gave workshops at the United States Psychotronics Association, Whole Life Expositions, and privately coached psychics to energetically clear and amplify intentions. More than 15 years of research has culminated in this synergistic arrangement that deals with the whole person--spirit, mind, and body. The LEA delivers what I feel it takes to get the job done for both practitioners and clients when dealing with, or processing out, or clearing unfulfilled desires. The LEA and its workbook software are a holistic system serving both as a psychic integrator and a psychic amplifier or, one could say, an intention amplifier. The LEA process is both a deep and a rigorous guided tour of the subconscious patterning that silences your language of creation. Your continual dispelling of self-limiting beliefs unlocks awareness from those bio-energy grids that block direct realization of your higher self. This distorted matrix or self-image breeds self-limiting belief systems that keep you in the illusion of the past. Unmanifested desires are bio-electric cellular imbalances which can also be addressed as unreal or unintegrated ego desires. They are only partially owned or energized by a fragmented belief system generated from unintegrated subconscious identities often operating at cross-purposes. Poet William Blake said it another way about two centuries ago: "Sooner murder an infant in its cradle than nurse unenacted desires."

An integrated approach is necessary so that one's entire energy package can be deeply and rigorously addressed and then brought into energetic alignment. We invite you to undertake a vision quest to get real about what you want most in life. We invite you to get into alignment with your higher self as the energetic source of vital manifestation.

PSYCHIC INTEGRATION IS THE PATH TO WHOLENESS AND SUCCESS

A luminous intent can clear and amplify your dynamic flow of attention, concentration, and intention.

As you reclaim frozen life force, your multidimensional beingness is more deeply accessed and time and space take on a very much lighter shade of energy. You become more sensitive to the energy field of your own energy body as well as those around you. LEA researchers report an opening that reveals an intuitive sense or second sight regarding their own goals, purposes, and intentions. For more information on goal attainment, see my Coaching Goal Attainment workbook. You are exercising or airing out your mentally constipated, can't-manifest laundry list or patterning, and experiencing through the process of creative visualization what your energetic limitations say you can't experience. You are exercising or stretching your willingness and belief system-encumbered personal reality to manifest what your patterning says you can not manifest. If you do some focused processing or self coaching on your unrealized desires, you will notice that their electrical mass (holographic bio-electric imprints on cellular energy grids that form an overall subconscious matrix) can be both neutralized and balanced. As you view or sense these unrealized desires, they clear, refine their context, and guide you to discover their rightful place in the divine scheme. Intuition manifests as a high resonance feeling, not as a blind, compulsive drive. You can do best by surrendering them or the unholy parts of them at the door of spacious knowing. This is the key to psychic integration.

TIMESHIFTING: REPRESENTING YOUR BELIEF IN THE PAST. THE PAST IS ALREADY PAST. FLOW SOME NOWNESS INTO YOUR "PAST" AND INTEGRATE THE PAST INTO THE TIMELESS.

Let's do the time warp again!

Another way of surrendering your shadow self is to timeshift cellular solidity into the now. Timeshifting is a process that has developed through the use of the LEA. It is a simultaneous viewing of past cellular memories while riding the LEA field of zero point nowness. This blissful field is a solvent of fixed energy patterns. The LEA's fundamental energetic characteristic is to generate a "large" potentized field of nowness, thereby breaking up or dissolving stuck points in time. This zero point energy is an antidote to time as it de-references and represents your timeline. Timeshifting is the LEA's intrinsic feature of propagating time reverse waves that represent the stuck points of believed past time in a vortex of zero point energy. This quantum vortex dissolves the formerly solid energy grids that steal awareness. When you successfully timeshift cellular armoring, you release its stress and the assortment of unconsciously held beliefs (stagnant chi) and become content in the now. Timeshifting is not re-experiencing or reliving or regressing past traumatic incidents. It is a bulk erasure on large sections of psychophysical temporal armoring. H.G.Wells, where are you? After a few hours of solo timeshifting, some participants feel quite timeless and purified. After some intense timeshifting, you may experience a transpersonal ascension, the completion of the identity that appears to live in the timestream and identifies itself with past limitations. Your time machine vision quest realizes completion by discovering the true self that lives outside of temporal boundaries. When you open your field (chakras) to the (nonlinear) 4D, you, as a metaphysician, become ready to open to your out-of-time magic and become open to higher manifestation. The LEA's quantum field helps you develop attentiveness or non-timebased awareness for deep listening that supports the intuitive process. Some researchers report time traveling to the future and others to the past.

You may also desire to use the LEA with other devices like the SE-5 radionics device or sound and light machines, etc. The numerous SE-5 radionic practitioners that I have met through Tools for Exploration, which also markets the LEA, run the SE-5 output into, meaning about half an inch away from the input well of the LEA. The LEA can amplify (increase energetic vitality) and strengthen the SE-5 scalar (non-timebased) field broadcast output up to 1,000 times. Whatever additional applications you wish to research, remember this rule of thumb: the LEA will amplify the results--that is to say, vitalize or bring additional vitality or life force and multidimensional access--to whatever you co-create with it.

PSYCHIC PROJECTION, RADIONICS, AND INTENTION CLEARING

The LEA's bio-energetic field clears, that is to say, de-patterns or phase shifts into the now (timeshifts) your attention to free it from past self-limiting belief systems. Through its advanced amplification stages, your flow of concentration is strengthened and fed back into itself. As your mental field clears, the past stuck life force impinged upon by traumatic imprints is set free, amplified, and then integrated. The end result is that your intention is amplified up to 1,000 times, providing an opening to more intuition through the benefit of greater free awareness--which results in deeper concentration. With LEA energy clearing, your focus gradually becomes one-pointed (nondual) and you open to a multitude of subtle feedback signals originating from uncovered higher intelligence. Everything comes through a quiet mind. This overall action is a re-presenting of your entire auric field which supports you in referencing your life from the now. This is a re-referencing from here-now perceptions and feelings, not from past auric distortions.

The LEA can quickly become a vital co-creation partner opening your creativity, releasing fixed thinking patterns, and amplifying your intentions regarding art projects, board meetings, brainstorming sessions, creative writing, marketing plans, psychic readings, organizational troubleshooting, administrative actions, and the healing of troubled relationships. It brings the power of present centeredness and its co-creative ability to recontextualize mechanical thinking in whatever processes of bioenergetic integration you choose. To become in touch with yourself demands great openness and sensitivity to the here and now. Why now? Because it is the only "time" that is! Use it or lose it.

WHEN YOU ACTUALIZE A DESIRE, YOU RELEASE A

BOUNDARY. THE LEA RELEASES BLOCKS TO INTUITION (THE LINK BETWEEN MATTER AND ENERGY)

The healing game--dissolve your identification with time and know that it is done before you have the intention to do it!

You are energy clearing and amplifying the intention to process out energetic remnants stuck in negative time concepts, which keep you in the illusion of past time. The LEA's 4D field outflows positive space (quantum field) which helps you cancel out the mind set or core belief system of negative time. As you process the integration of time into your 4D energy field, you eliminate the notion of time. Your universe or spatial boundaries release as your experience of space expands. The reason why you may be having such a stressful time in finding yourself is that you do not exist in the dimension in which you are looking! The LEA's bioactive field is said by some researchers to develop a phase conjugation or a time reverse wave that cancels out time to reveal your own true, timeless self. The timeless. The LEA is visualized by still other researchers as a time machine extricating your self-image from the time stream. A number of practitioners report the experience of timelessness, of finding an aspect of themselves that exists outside of time. One frequently hears the realization that the point of reference (past time) that we are looking from is entirely fictitious! It is a 3D misperception of a 4D being. In other words you are "looking" from a belief system, a temporal perceptual filter, which seems to have originated in the past and which keeps you ignorant of your true nature.

Some psychological or personal coaching programs take so long because the identity that is doing the looking is never cleared. Viewing the past from a false viewpoint is not releasing untruth at all, but often a creative exercise in fantasizing and fabricating. You must know yourself outside of valence or identity before the truth can be told. Through your active participation in many committed LEA energetic clearing sessions, you begin to develop total acceptance of yourself as an unbounded spiritual being. This is much different from many other processes you may have started. This process enables your intentionality to uncover your true self, not just a past successful identity, self-referencing mental picture, positive belief, or a blissful cellular memory--but rather the direct experience of your timeless self, here and now. As you raise your vitality, your body knows how to release this multilayered cellular confusion. When you process it with the correct energetic codes (LEA energetics), these phase conjugated waves of vitality or chi clear up bliss deficiencies. Your body knows the way because the body's natural state is becoming unblocked. You are simply clearing, amplifying, and potentizing your higher intentional intuition towards harmony. No one ever died from unbearable pleasure.

When you quiet the mind your inner subconscious energies wake up and get to work on your behalf. The assumed identities that fret, effort, force, and dominate will soon give way to effortless attainment. You may come face to face with the old conditioned belief that you have to effort for what you want. The more the effort, the greater the rewards? Having your dreams come true requires no work, in fact, it only requires unwork. Unbecoming. This process path is about uncovering and taking back your assumptions, unexamined beliefs, and assertiveness--and opening to the way you have always wanted it to be. The first step in having everything that you want is to have it in consciousness. Have the vision before you attempt to have the reality.

RELEASING CELLULAR MEMORY

There is no power that is not in the present.

The LEA process is a gradual releasing of your disempowering, unconsciously-held agreements that keep you at odds with your true self. It is an opening or expanding of consciousness to embrace your deep wants. The purpose is to take your desires and goals out of concept and place them back in the domain of experience. This internal integration process is called timeshifting and it is simultaneously experiencing both the then and the now. The LEA generates an energetic field of timelessness or nowness. When you presence "past" incidents or issues into this expanded field of time reverse waves, you zero out "past" forces using zero point energy. Through the generation of time reverse waves, you literally cancel out positive time incidents with the flow of negative time. This is the anatomy of release. You are essentially reverse vectoring an imprint by canceling out its positive time resting or referencing place. Negative time is generated from time machines and some free energy devices. If you look into the work of Rife, Lakoski, Tesla, etc., you will see the role of plasma in generating phase conjugation or time reverse waves. If you want more information on this phenomenon, check out the research of Tom Beardon reported at U.S. Psychotronic Association conferences. Time is truly an implant that impels us to work toward what we already are! Outside of time you are perfect. Time beliefs predispose us to intend to have in the future what we already have NOW!

Through the use of the LEA and creative visualization, you can accelerate the creation of new, bliss laced neuropathways for goal attainment.

You are surfacing and breaking up the mental rejection patterns that exist in your subconscious so that you can experientially connect at a deep, true level with the desire or goal. Through interacting with the LEA's chi field, it is not difficult to experience inner freedom--the domain of infinite possibility. You are exercising your willingness to accept by timeshifting with zero point energy your belief system about the past. You are learning to time travel using zero point energy. The key to this process is total self-acceptance, which gives you total inner freedom. Free to be whatever you want and free to not be whatever you don't want to be! When you find out who you are, the rest will take care of itself! The way you see yourself--your imprint called self-image--transforms profoundly, from believing you are a system of unachieved desires to knowing yourself as universal intelligence. With a shift in self-image comes a shift in self worth. With the LEA's chakra balancing field, you learn to see yourself from the vista of higher self as a multidimensional wholeness. As you consistently exercise your inner vision, you learn to know yourself outside of mindsets. When you know yourself as the All-pervading and -permeating energy of the whole universe, any facet of reality can be changed simply by changing the universal mind about it! You see yourself as the fundamental consciousness that ties the whole universe together. Telling the truth about who you are changes the reality of the whole universe! When you wake up, every molecule in creation gets blessed.

When you process deeply enough, you will find your body, mind, and spirit to be one. You will make the shift in discovering that the world is in you. Trust in your openness. The second step is to energy clear the creator in you. To discover the truth regarding free will and separate it from what is known as false will. You relax your attachment, or de-energize attention-controlling psychocellular memories, by permeating them with zero point energy. Representing the past is one goal of your LEA Coaching Self Inquiry sessions which are exercises in seeing the whole picture. As you see yourself as you truly are, you will dissolve the illusionary hold of your deep karmic ties and see that everything is unfolding as it should.

THE DYNAMICS OF RELEASE ARE COMPOSED OF OPENNESS, WILLINGNESS, SENSITIVITY--AND DESIRING THE TRUTH.

Get in touch with your relaxed flow of awareness.

You can assist yourself in this opening by viewing your unfulfilled desires until they clear to the level of being made of only truth. When you have cleared deeply enough, you will find your intuitive self. This may require utilizing all six emitter formulations one at a time as outlined in later copy. A number of researchers, with no prompting from us, reported the release of traumatic incidents from their time in Atlantis. They concluded that Atlantis was the last time they were involved with a workable psychotronics instrument and the last time they were free. This is a whole subject by itself, beyond the scope of this book.

To become open to past lives, one must release the mental blocks that conceal the truth, as intuition can't flow into an overstuffed mind. It is not necessary, however, to view past lives. Utilizing our formulated emitter fields, you can learn to go deeper and break up the patterned belief system that believes that you are a being or an identity that has a past. When you have emptied your mind of all effort and concepts you will have released or, that is to say, relaxed deeply, then you will discover that inspiration and intuition both have always been there for you --manifested. The dynamic duo! There is only one cure for what ails you and that is direct self-knowledge. It will make your immune system very happy and leaves your life open to divine intervention.

A FULL TEA CUP CAN'T HAVE A VISION

A lesson in holistic psychology and integral yoga

Complete relaxation is complete release. The key here is being relaxed and open to the unknown. In order to contact your intuitive self, you must unknow what was formerly "known", and be an empty space for intuition to flow into. Intuition can't be efforted into being. You want to practice a blissful letting go or surrender. Intuition comes about in the absence of one's mental linear mind. You are processing towards giving up the familiar in order to discover the actual- - the ultimate truth regarding that desire. The chi wave field propagated by the LEA is continually releasing perceptual filters with the goal of your having unfiltered direct experience. This is a most sought-after release point in discovering higher will. When you become sufficiently silent and still enough, the truth will become apparent and it will be wrapped in the energy of higher consciousness! Deborah Stuart, the CEO of ORI Inc., says that for her the LEA helps silence the mind's almost endless chatter. When you surrender thinking to this silence, you will have experienced the vastness that intuition and inspiration come from. Let the vastness be your only guide.

If you listen closely, it will open you to the process of unconditional love, the space from which true manifestation magic is born.

Aspiring magicians utilize the LEA to energetically amplify the forms of color, stones, herbs, sacred geometry, drawings, pictures, etc., to assist the quantum self in this intuitive clearing process. The processes of radionics, psychic intention, or action at a distance, involve opening, clearing, releasing, focusing, and amplifying. The goal of radionics is to raise the vitality of a cleared, intuitively held intention so that it resonates with inner clarity, your higher dimensions of being. Release the identities of those who expect, anticipate, and effort, whose products are the blocks to higher will (must manifest and can't manifest), the polarized dichotomy that hides the 4D from 3D. One must purify the lower will by transmuting it into higher consciousness. To release it from an ego-based, awareness-compromising lower self desire so that it can be a tool of destiny. You are learning to evoke higher desires. By taking up, one by one, your most precious, stubborn, and frustrated unmanifesting desires and clearing the blocks chakra by chakra, you open your energy body to discover the truth concerning their manifestation. The chakras are portholes to nonlocalization and the 4D and higher planes of consciousness. The gateway to transpersonal experience and the higher self is definitely through the chakra cleared energy body. They are the gateway to the 4D. You want to sense, thereby unfreezing or freeing the unmanifested chi or life force vitality. Practice dispassionate viewing and unattached observation. By doing so, you release each energy center and by doing so transmute your former stress-producing, unattained desire to the alchemist's gold. Bless your stucknesses and see the gold of higher power through intuitive wisdom. You open each chakra to the ethers of higher reality. Each chakra is best cleared using emitter formulas one through six to access very subtle seed energies. With an integrated auric field, all things are possible. You release behavioral inflexibility or mental rigidity in the forms of fixed beliefs that spoil God's intuitive outcome. This opening is generated with your light, carefree surrender to the intuitive flows of the moment; in your Coaching Self Inquiry sessions you learn how to dissolve self-limiting thoughts. This is all you can be--a servant to the intuitive pulses of the moment. When you have released the identities, some call them entities, who resist this openness, you will have released false self and lower will. Under the veil of separateness, the self emerges that sees only wholeness, a cosmic mind, or oneness in which everything is possible. Be open for the LEA's techno-shamanistic experience of unity consciousness. Abide in the creative ethers that flow in all things and be prepared for a transformation in the unconscious methodology that you use to evaluate your self-worth. Be open to experiences of finding your desire and its manifested outcome as one and the same. Instant fulfillment! This is the upgrading of causative thought to illuminated intent. Even if you do not at first discover the magic of the clear intention, you will continually open to the radionics of instant fulfillment by telling the intuitive truth about what you want--you will shorten the manifestation lag time greatly. When you master this technique, the form appears when you call its name. Physical materialization from causative thought is a luminous intention that comes from your deepest level. When the kundalini flows, the truth will be known! Creative freedom is available here and now and effortlessly presented at every instant. With ritualistic application of the LEA's higher-self connection, you may find your meditations to be more profitable than your work!

When processing another's energy field at a distance, you might like to place a Polaroid photo or slide next to the emitters or on the input well with the corresponding remedy. Either write on paper or psychically project your luminous intent onto the input well. Consider targeting unwanted emotions and attitudes such as fear, guilt, regret, shame, blame etc. Intend that the subject find out the truth about them, have an appropriate learning experience, and integrate them into the now.

HONORING YOUR FEELINGS:

Letting the body express its needs

What am I supposed to feel as I release traumatic cellular memory?

Question: Am I a traumatic cellular memory? Answer: Who's asking?

The answer is whatever your subconscious has brought up for you to experience out by feeling. This may include anger, resentment, fear, tiredness, pain, uncomfortable sensation, guilt, bliss, etc. It is not really true that the LEA brought these feelings up. It is actually that the LEA's field dissolved suppressing and denying behavior patterns so that you could see and feel the behaviors for what they really are. You will open to feeling or become sensitive to the numbing toxins of resistance and occlusion. These suppressed feelings are literally making you sick. You have suppressed these feelings as a defense mechanism. You have reduced your responsibility and awareness in an attempt to not feel uncomfortable. The gift of the LEA is that whatever comes up, on its way out from past traumatic cellular imprints, won't be around for very long. The LEA is a catalyst for accelerated change. The adage--take what comes up--is still the best rule of thumb. Q-Why would I spend money to buy a device that makes me feel bad? The LEA does not make you feel bad. Feeling "bad" comes from the conflicting energy that lies suppressed in your subconscious. The LEA, in fact, does open up feeling by discrediting the energetic mechanisms of suppression and denial.

It is typical with energy clearing supplements and instrumentation that there is sometimes a reaction called a cleansing response. A cleansing response or healing crisis can be brought about by any of the following stimuli-- acupuncture, herbs, live fruit and vegetable juices, super foods, saunas, hot tubs, aromatherapy, exercise, mineral therapy, magnets, raw foods, oxygen, wheat grass juice, lymphatic massage, massage, pyramids, homeopathy, sun baths, drinking distilled water, deep breathing, negative ions, ozone, mud baths, photonic stimulation, drinking alkaline water, dietary changes, fasting, etc. Technically, almost any stimulus can bring up "dormant" suppressed energy from the past. In the field of biofeedback clearing, a cleansing response is known as bypassed charge. This means that a bio-energetic imprint has been partially dislodged or resurfaced and it is "expressing" itself psychophysically. The electrical field that holds grids in a pattern matrix becomes solid and then unbalanced and then partially bypassed - not all of it gets transformed into oneness. It is on the road to integration, but first has a few stops to make. Cleansing responses, healing crises, and energetic purges come in two forms:

1. Physical toxins coming up from deep in the system that are not able to be released by the lymph system fast enough so that some go into the blood stream and one feels the original somatics associated with the original suppressed physical condition.

2. Stirred-up subtle energies such as guilt, shame, regret, fear, hatred, conditioned beliefs, attitudes, past cellular memories, etc., that cannot be mentally processed out fast enough (integrated) so that some are "felt" or acted out or replayed energetically. Mental and spiritual healing crisis.

There also is a term in Biofeedback Clearing technology called revivification. Revive means something turns on and becomes more solid and then releases. Revive type episodes are common in both 1 and 2. The statement "it sometimes gets worse before it gets better" is still often appropriate. There is a "window of efficacy" or what LEA researchers call the zone. The zone exists somewhere between not enough change and too much change. This is a window of opportunity for surfing the space of release without under-releasing (too little), or overwhelming the psyche by stirring up too much. We are all striving to stay in the zone. In the zone, everyday is Sunday, a transformative fun day. In earlier psychologically oriented coaching sessions, sometimes an incident of severe stress might get stirred up and not completely released. In this case, the client might begin to feel some of the earlier feelings that were part of that painful incident. Perhaps feeling helpless, dizzy, angry, suppressed, denied, limited, etc. It is the job of all subtle energy practitioners to try and release as many chi blocks as get stirred up. However, sometimes, some get triggered and bypassed and then process out psychophysically. Utilizing the LEA's amplified appetite to gobble up or discreate energetic blocks, past conditioning tends to fall away quickly. Sometimes behavioral change is so blissful, fast, and complete that some clients said that in one session they felt they received greater value than they had experienced in a hundred sessions of their earlier discipline or practice!

Some researchers say that they have never gone as deep in any earlier process. A few suggest that they have gone into the collective unconscious. This opening to thought-free consciousness is for many the completion of a long arduous saga that had only previously ended only in frustration and disappointment. Many substance-induced vision quests have only touched upon this blissful intelligence due to substance impurities that tend to cloud the energetic purity. The LEA's improved amplification ratio (of effectiveness) is often acknowledged and practitioners have commented on how easily their complex mental issues have been clarified. Treat yourself--make the space and time to open up to a good mental cleansing. Take a chi bath in living consciousness. Whatever comes up or surfaces in consciousness--accept it as part of your unfoldment process.

SOME SENSIBLE PRECAUTIONS:

Know before you go.

Mary, one chronic fatigue syndrome sufferer and an overzealous LEA client, held the emitters for two hours, used them in the tub for one hour, and then drank half a gallon of energized water in her first day! She felt toxic, sick, queasy, awful. This intensity of cleansing response or mental and spiritual crisis doesn't happen very often. Cleansing responses of this magnitude are more prone to occur when people are taking allopathic medication that is toxic in nature. These toxic energies could have been stirred up with any of the above mentioned practices: deep breathing, herbs, distilled water, saunas, etc. All these above mentioned "therapeutic stimuli" are valuable, but they must be utilized in moderation, a little at a time. The LEA amplifies these energetic fields quite well, in fact. It is better to err on the side of caution than on the side of overuse, especially in the beginning. Our suggestion is to just do a little energy coaching each day before attempting to experience the LEA in all of its multifaceted modalities.

1. We suggest that you do not fall asleep overnight with it at first, as you may wake up "overamped."
2. Start out holding the emitters for one half-hour to one hour, being ready to turn down the output if you notice any discomfort. This is the "better safe than sorry" modality.
3. Do consult us before purchasing the LEA or embarking on an LEA intensive program if you are severely physically ill or under a doctor's care.
3. People with pacemakers should check with their doctors before using the LEA.
4. Do not use the LEA if mentally ill or psychotic, or if you have been recently in a mental institution. If you are physically or mentally ill, please see the appropriate health care practitioner.
5. Pregnant women should not use these instruments. After delivery, the LEA can be very helpful to energetically release the birth trauma.
6. The LEA is not designed as a physically healing device. It has no direct effect on bacteria, viruses, or fungus infections. It is not a cure for degenerative disease. It is an experimental research device that opens the space for intuitive study and research into the higher self.
7. We also recommend that the emitters should not be placed on the head, because the field may be too much for some individuals and may cause a cleansing response. The head gets processed by holding the emitters in your hands or by placing them one foot away from the head.
8. For researchers who experience a psychophysical cleansing response, perhaps from excessive use, we recommend that you cease the LEA use immediately, go out and get some fresh air, lie down, drink some pure water, go for a walk, etc. After a short time, you will reap the benefits of having stirred up and partially released traumatic cellular memory. Just go easier the next time! After many sessions you will become proficient in knowing when to complete your session and when to start one! Perhaps you will be visited by an angel or a saint and given in-depth instructions. You may also want to learn how to dowse.

PSYCHOCELLULAR ENERGETIC INTEGRATION.

Clearing the channels of deep feeling. But what if I don't feel anything?

Some people seemingly believe that they do not feel anything--their awareness has gone solid or has been scattered to the past so that they are distracted from the body's blissful energetic processes. This is often due to many years (or perhaps lifetimes) of frustrated desires that get locked in the energy body (suppressed sensitivity to chi). Their experience of the body is one of unrecognized discomfort. The cost is one's aliveness, a loss of living in sensuality. They are bumping up against their boundaries to experience--their tacit boundary agreements regarding the size of space that they can permeate with pleasurable awareness.

Approximately 90% of the Whole Life Expo type population have within three to five minute periods experienced a noticeable altered state, psychic opening, spiritual opening, deeper meditation experience, energy rushes, or tingling, etc. Some shifts or releases in this brief time period are profound, where others are more subtle, but only a very few remain ordinary for long. Feeling a time or spatial shift in consciousness so quickly makes people curious. What might an hour session feel like? What would it be like to get massaged in this field? To make love like this? Most of this same population sample, given a safe, quiet space to lie down, with no distraction, will within about an hour become very relaxed, peaceful, serene, and intuitive--and a significant number of this sampling will have a psychic or paranormal experience. And a very few will not seem to notice any conscious change at all!

Q. Why is this? In our approximately 10 years of research with the LEA technology, we have discovered that the same percentage that do not feel the energetic changes with the LEA have a similar reaction to other forms of energetic process. Some have belief systems that limit their experience. Sometimes they feel intimidated or wrong or feel judged in some past circumstances and are currently resisting the opportunity to open up and to feel something new. One lady said the LEA demonstration reminded her of her past boyfriend's art, in that she was never quite sure what to say about it. When she called it cute, he got angry. She said she was never able to have the right experience. She never could get it. One man, in a recent LEA demonstration, kept anxiously asking, "What am I supposed to feel?" He was so worried that he would feel the wrong thing that he subconsciously handled the dilemma by shutting down his sensitivity so that he could not feel anything. Now he couldn't be wrong! Problem apparently solved! The axiom is that if you can feel it slightly in a short time, you can during a longer time period further release deeper blocks and subsequently feel the integration of more vitality. This instrument has the capacity to vitalize or amplify your intention, to assist you in being more open to truth--up to 1000 times more. All you really need to do is to consciously create the intention to be open and focus upon it. The LEA will then energy clear, vitalize, and amplify that intention. On the energy clear cycle, the LEA's bioenergetic field will release the stagnant or dead chi which is in the form of flow-stopping, encrusted systems of belief.

Any subconscious subtle energy mass that comes up to consciousness during your energy clearing session is treated by the LEA as an auric distortion and it neutralizes and balances the conflicting energies back to a static state. The LEA field effect neutralizes and balances discordant, unorganized consciousness back to zero point time or, better said, zero point energy. The only point in time the LEA knows is NOW. In NOW there is no past! There is only one's self.

The LEA, however oracular a few think it to be, is not an answer, but rather an intuitive space in which to ask the questions of your life. It helps to generate true self processing--an opening that can amplify the ability to feel and to sense subtle energy textures, even outside of the body. For the adept abiding in unity conscious--there is nothing that is not myself. This experience is also part of advaita vedanta or nondualism. With your focused, active participation, deep releases can take place.

Other than a few high vitality persons and a few mentally-conditioned resistive people, those who are not sensitive to the LEA are, generally speaking, toxic. They are persons who have few energetic shifts or realizations with psychotherapy, herbs, hypnosis, meditation, guided visualization, magnets, vitamins, herbs, marijuana, acupuncture, etc.

There are, very rarely, some mega-vitality persons so vitalized that they do not feel the LEA field. One such case is a woman who sleeps only every few days and is one of the most vital, clearest, and nonstressed persons I know. She works as a psychiatric nurse and her workload is much higher than most people. I get tired just hearing about her patient load! She represents that 1/2 percentile of the population that probably will not benefit from life energy amplification until perhaps later in life, during physical injury, overwhelming mental stress, or during illness.

DEVELOP YOUR SIXTH SENSE—

Discover an energy field that opens the senses.

Wilhelm Reich, M.D., used the term armoring to essentially mean psychophysical energy blocks that reduce feeling. This stagnant or stuck chi is the metaprogram or pre-physical field that dictates or structures psychophysical sensation and form. Where chi is blocked, the life force has abandoned the area. Compulsive thinkers are often unable to sense their body--up to the point of being completely out of touch or out of communication with their feelings and body sensations. It is a sensual numbness, a suppressing of sensual capacity. They have abandoned, to some small or large degree, close association or responsibility for their body. I remember many years ago when my body was ill, in a state of toxicity, and someone asked me, "How does this raw juice combination feel?" I replied that I could not feel a thing. My body was so sick that I was barely able to experience the sense of touch! Sick bodies are often in toxic shock and are unable to feel very much at all. The observation we have made and verified again and again is that the less the subject can feel the LEA field, the more armoring or toxicity they have. They are too engulfed by psychophysical factors to notice subtle changes. As I stated earlier, this is not true for the few very high vitality cases we have encountered. There is also a condition known, in one case we've encountered, as environmental sensitivity, in which the person feels everything--all too much. This person greatly benefitted from the grounding influences of the LEA Formula One and Two emitters, which unblock the lower chakras where one's power is blocked. When these two lower chakras open up, one's power base energy brings the frequency down from a hyperspace state to a grounded, centered awareness. With the persons who feel little, often the lower chakras are open but the higher ones are blocked. Some nonfeeling or insensitive types can be quite powerful in a domineering sense, but very out of communication with the finer energies in life. Their control structures have been fed so much energy that it is very difficult for them to surrender or trust a practitioner, or even their own intuition. Sometimes their lives will have to hit bottom before they have a breakthrough. More times than you might imagine, they uncover their willingness and openness and slowly but surely surrender their resistance to the LEA's chi field. They are learning the technology of release dynamics and learning to relax their grip on life.

They are learning to timeshift their past identities that pretended results in the illusionary control and domination of circumstances. Love unfolds in the absence of tension. When you sense yourself as spirit, you will be love. Love is healing.

PERSONAL HIGHLIGHTS

Judy took the LEA on a cross-country business trip and experienced no jet lag. She also used it during dental surgery and found that when she was in the moment with pain and not conceptualizing it, the sensation became less solid. Ursula used the LEA to clean up conflict energies in her bedroom after her past lover had departed. We placed the LEA in front of a fan and fanned the room with the energy of release representing the room in the now. The room's auric field came into the moment as its timeline dissolved. Gloria saw angels the first time she tried the LEA. Ames' life became more mellow after he used it for three weeks. Amy saw auras during her demonstration experience. Terry mistakenly slept with the Formula One LEA overnight on his first session and his wife kept waking up because it brought up for her subconsciously-held incidents of a past earthquake. Erika saw her entities and then got scared and thought that the LEA was haunted. X found out that she is bisexual and not homosexual. D could hear the lyrics in music more clearly, and T discovered that it is okay to want more out of life and that more would be being her own boss. N employed the LEA to do an energetic balancing at a distance and C's back pain cleared up miraculously. L said she noticed the centering effects of the LEA the moment she walked into ORI headquarters. Dianne, a failed meditator, finally discovered the value of meditation and was able to be still for a time without nagging thoughts hounding her. Another Dianne interacted with the LEA right before giving the greatest psychic reading of her life. She at first felt insecure about not "knowing" what she would say, but she let it flow and surprised her ego. P looked very blissful as he envisioned its application in his European workshops. H from London thought the bliss was from the music with 4D sound. R describes the scalar wave output of the LEA as it sweeps her energy body as theta waves. Psychics Peter and Shelly Wolf find the LEA clears the room well between their Exodus and Reiki sessions. They say they don't have to expend so much energy doing the clearing and can conserve their vitality for clients. I believe this is both a result of the amplification of their intentions and actually sweeping the room directly with pulsed chi waves. Rich was able to let go of a job that wore him out and got back to a line of work that best suited him and then met a wonderful younger woman and got married. It took Betty almost five weeks to learn to let go of trying to manipulate her husband back into loving her again. It was tough but possible for her to just let him be where he was about her and stop trying to change him. Tim learned to say no and to stand in the space of the no until it shifted. He could not earlier truly say yes to his wife until he could first be without judgment and stand in the space of no and mean it. Jewell, in one session at a crowded Whole Life Expo, released some major back pain that she had been putting up with for four years. Renee felt faint and then had an out-of-the-body experience and could read Susan's mind. Gates felt like he was half an inch larger in space all around his body. Uri saw green energy coming off of Deborah's fingertips. Ted has almost kicked psychiatric medication and his psychiatrist says he is now taking so little medication that he might give up the rest. George's golf game did not improve yet, but his optimism did. Charles likes sharing the LEA more than his accounting job, it seems, and this sharing has helped balance his life and expand his finances. Henry picked up the SEP Formula One and felt the energy run to his recently pulled tooth and release the pain. Amy's cat seems to enjoy the energy field and Mary went back to work after 20 years' absence after working with the LEA for approximately 40 days. The first two days of use brought her a cleansing response until she moderated her sessioning and then her vitality steadily rose. Her testimonial is on file.

LET THE LEA'S ENERGY FIELD FLOW THROUGH YOUR DISCOMFORTS

Good feng shui for disorganized energy

Through the LEA's inner sensitivity training, you are learning to relax pains, aches, uncomfortable sensations, emotions, and attitudes. Notice we didn't say cure. Curing is up to the higher force. Just learn to get out of the way and let nature take its course. You are creating new neurological pathways to relax your mindsets and relax the urge to conceptualize feeling, and instead to just be with it and let the LEA vital energy flow through it. Immediately and spontaneously, many people are often rewarded by the experience of deep peaceful space, which they had been trying to sense all along. Without these spacious reminders, many people can be without artistic sensibilities, sometimes behaving clumsily, not listening well, and generally unaware of the needs of others. Glitched chakras can create stunted personal growth. With respect to your ability to sense/experience the body's finer sensations--you either use it or lose it. The effect of the physical universe is entropy or going more solid. Resistance is futile, say the Borg (in Star Trek.) Energy clearing your auric field is representing yourself in the now, in your home space far outside of the time stream.

Sometimes the positive effects of your LEA session are not noticed for a while. Sometimes researchers do not immediately see results in that session, but a little later they see the clearing of problems, upsets, and inflexible behavior. Some researchers are so tense about their LEA work that they can only let go later. They look like stress-frozen coaches. Some participants are so unaware of their feelings that they notice discomfort where there was no discomfort before. This is progress--to actually feel previously denied feelings. Feeling again is on the road to releasing those feelings. Tom, after some LEA work, once said, "I feel bad about such and such." Someone replied, "Tom, you actually experienced a feeling? One actually got through?" We celebrated Tom's first feeling after years of drug and alcohol abuse. The first one is the hardest.

Another researcher, Richard B., said he found the LEA Vision Quest model was able "to clear energetic disturbances." He described it as "a kind of high tech feng shui."

Heavy judgments and impossible behavioral standards obscure the desired releases, for some people. Some have such tension-causing beliefs that it takes great effort to relax and release bio-energetic cellular grids. Some people's structured ideas of doing contain so much force that they get tired and exhausted after LEA sessions. The LEA will discharge these solid energies but you need to work with the LEA in the direction of bailing out the boat, not adding more water to it. Eventually even the most relaxation-challenged will experience out or dislodge that tense energy if they keep open to doing so. It is not difficult to breathe into and relax into vitality. The now is not hard to find. A first step for such people is to notice that they are not affirming their personal limitations with as much vigor as before, and sometimes not at all. And then to notice more hopefulness about their desired changes. What's needed is to be patient with oneself and take the time to release a little each day. The journey of a thousand miles begins with the first step!

PSYCHOTRONIC VISION QUEST—TAKE RESPONSIBILITY FOR WHAT YOU TRULY WANT. BLISSFULLY FOCUS YOUR ATTENTION.

Let the LEA's integrated energy field release your problematic belief systems regarding goal attainment.

The more that one works with the LEA, Coaching Self Inquiry technology, and an assortment of input well substances, the more sensitive and open one becomes. Indeed, some dedicated solid citizens who could not feel but only think, who consequently suffer because of little intuition, have made great strides in opening to greater sensitivity with the LEA over a one-to-three month time period. All well-armored persons willing to do the work have made slow but steady--and often surprising--progress. I believe that energetically clearing one's subtle bodies, with the LEA, is the fastest and most advanced methodology any of our international, eclectic research associates have witnessed. The LEA energy clearing process is a stripping away of layers of negative chi complexity to get down to the simple basis of desire. It is a daily process of self-discipline in referring your apparently blocked desire back to higher-still awareness. It is a deep reflecting inquiry into your true nature. Be willing, of course, to discreate attachments as soon as you notice them. This is how to get effective by getting simple about what we really want. It is a downsizing, back-to-basics movement.

For some energetically challenged cases, it may take one to three years or more to completely clear their energy field of past traumatic encounters, especially if their energy is really run down. Some individuals who are sensitivity challenged expend so much energy trying to control others that they have little energy left to amplify. However long it takes, it will take a lot less time when you vitality amplify your release intention and create a communication channel to the subconscious. In order to release core beliefs at the core level, you do not need endless workshops or one-to-one processing programs. The key is to gently bring your awareness to the body's energetic field. The LEA chi waves are easily directed with some practice to deeply release stuck, unresonating energy masses. A gentle focus of cleared and amplified attention sweeps the energy field clean of stuck energy flows. The energy body's inner signals will become your guide. Pay attention to spaces as they open up. Follow the LEA's smart vital flow as it knows where to go to release etheric blocks and to attain energetic reconciliation. Learn the art of opening to the unknown and bring good feng shui to your mind. This is the essence of energetic development.

With the LEA's spacious opening, you become adept at witnessing the process of energy pattern disillusionment. You release the cellular beliefs that dictate limited-self interpretations. These patterns are the prelude to illness. Once you have released the patterns, you will find the self behind the patterns. When your chakras are clear, you "merge" with the self that doesn't change and discover the power of kundalini energy in releasing the self that "appears to change". One key to that deep self is "cellular" joyful harmony. When you continually nurture your cells with blissful intelligence, their joyfulness in the now will help you find perfect freedom. As you master the inner forces by uncovering your inner connection with the universal self, the power of the universe will be felt flowing through your being. Discover the source of the natural force that shapes the universe and you will never, for long, believe you are limited again. When you joyfully abide in your spacious self, you will draw all higher resonance fields to you. This spacious joy knows how to treat you right.

In order to find such inner freedoms, some researchers work with the LEA and each audio program 50 times or more! One southern California researcher, Dan, used the LEA night and day (no moderation here) for nine months. He then sent the LEA back to be "fixed," saying he no longer felt the lift he had known in the beginning. I explained to him, after some consideration, that the lift he first felt was a lift from his normal stressed base line condition, up to a peak experience. After nine months of intense energetic clearing he had arrived at, on an ongoing basis, where he only briefly visited in the beginning. I heard a long pause and he just said, "Thank you." The energy of that thank you was a major completion for me. It denoted that he had arrived. Completion. It takes as long as it takes. He had reached a plateau. It was then time for him to take a break. Then to work with additional audio programs, choose another emitter formulation, try something new in the input well, maybe a different color or essential oil, and go deeper.

How deep can you go? A number of researchers after working with the LEA and co-coaching the Coaching Self Inquiry writing journal program not only have greatly expanded their awareness of their body but are able to experience sensation up to 10 feet out from their body in all directions. Some researchers do not intend to quit until they have experienced their inner connection with all things. How's that for deep?

The LEA methodology is a safe, high-tech shamanistic method for the release of penned-up, subconsciously-held, patterned energy. Some see it as an acupuncture for the mind. Sometimes you will get a slight replay of a hopefully "forgotten" incident (mental cleansing.) However, there are only two known methods in the universe for making trauma or limitation go away:

1. Suppress it--deny its existence, keep it from coming to awareness which is the old allopathic model where you compromise your vitality with each energetic stuffing of traumatic content. Or there is the more natural approach:

2. Experience it out--bring it back up to sense it, view, or re-experience whatever requires seeing, thereby releasing it so as to keep the energy field clear and flowing.

For conscious persons, the second is the only model that will not become a later stuck problem. Number 2 speaks to me of freedom. If you follow the first alternative, you can be guaranteed of spending your infinite existence being impelled by your finite subconscious energy grids. Your life will be ruled by intersecting control structures. Surf the wave of release and stay conscious to validate all energy shifts. Research indicates that if the LEA were any more potent in its current level of energy release, it would create an intense mental cleansing response. Clients could become unsettled when favorite, apparently useful, excuses, justifications, and patterns of denial fall away too fast. Let the LEA's process of deep energetic sweep take the time to do the job. Rushing creates anxiety that spoils the moment. May all of your pranic purifying be in the zone!

RE-ANCHORING NEGATIVE INCIDENTS OR ACTIVITIES

Let's turn this thing around.

The LEA is so deep in its release of stress-producing memories that it is quite easy to re-anchor or reframe past stressful incidents and activities into pleasurable experiences. Activities as basic as resisting doing the dishes, or disliking to write, disliking sex, or hating exercise can, through LEA intervention, be turned around by neutralizing and balancing the belief systems that hold or anchor the activity in a stress-producing context. When you bring a meditative high or blissful stillness to the stressful activity, the mind lets go of the past context and re-senses and reorganizes or re-files the activity in a new space and time. The only thing "wrong" with most activities is that they are "perceived" from the past. They are locked into a past interpretation of limitation. The LEA's interactive field brings that incident or activity into the now.

You can bring on the healing expertise of being in the moment by dissolving self-limiting belief systems from the past to your activities in numerous ways: re-anchor habituated activities such as office work, paying bills, doing errands, housework, exercise, eating, sex, bathing, organizing, repairing items, hobbies, sickness, delivering stressful communications, talking with clients, dealing with family matters, studying, etc. The following methods are suggested:

- You can place the Sport Energy Pak (SEP) system into a fanny pack and allow it to work on your energy field as you move
- You can place the emitters of the SEP without the base amplifier close to or against your boom box or bookshelf speakers. Let the music run the energy into your auric field.
- You can do #2 and also hook the SEP to the LEA base amp and amplify that result. Let the music be your "medicine."

- Or you might place the emitters in front of a fan with or without the amp. Let the fan blow the field your way.
- You may also want to "charge up" some drinking water by placing liquid minerals into filtered water, then place the emitter next to or in the water container. Running the system for about an hour can restructure up to five gallons of water or juice.
- You can place the LEA emitters into a bath or hot tub and station on the base amplifiers input well your desired intention to potentize. Simply creatively visualize the desired outcome while soaking in the blissful waters.
- You can run energy psychically/radionically by placing the emitters near--a few inches from--a Polaroid photo of yourself and place on the input well an energetic smart pill, holy relic, color, photographic slide, aroma therapy essential oil, etc., to be broadcast to yourself energetically during that stressful activity or stressful remembrance of that activity. You could also write an affirmation or causative intent of how you would like it to be or, better yet, what you specifically want to release (guilt, fear, shame, clinging, self doubt, deceit, etc.) or your goal (divine intervention, honoring your higher values, telling the truth, etc.) and place it also on the input well with the energetic item to be broadcast through the ethers into the subconscious. Other ways include using the "sacred geometry" ratio of the "Golden Mean," writing down 1.618 on a piece of paper and placing it on the input well, or placing sunflowers or sea shells there. One might experiment with bodily fluids—saliva, sweat, urine—placed on the input well, or such objects as flowers, or slides or photographs of flowers. Or one could place the instrument in moonlight and notice the effects.
- This radionic or amplification of potentized psychic intention can have more results than anything you ever would imagine. Just be open for energetic clearing, and shifts in viewpoint and insights as you engage in the formerly stressed activity. Be prepared to discover a fresh look at life as you re-own your luminous intent.
- You can use the LEA aromatherapy ionizer and combine it with aromatherapy essential oils and breathe in the vital negative ionic aroma fragrance. You can select an oil that corresponds with what you would like to release or attain; many good books are available on this. The LEA ionizer is a non-hands-on instrument and as long as you are within about 50 feet from it, doing house or office work, etc., you will be getting the best aromatic energy, and ozone and negative ion processing available.

These are different approaches to re-anchoring or recontextualizing stress. As you experiment with each, you will learn how you--the higher self--like to work.

Once nowness is integrated into that past or present environment, it feels like some other place where pleasure had previously taken place. The need to get away from it all, to take a vacation, get stoned, or to go out running may really be a real need to just let go of some stressful thinking patterns, take a deep breath, and dissolve into the now. Rather than changing environments, activities, or body chemistry, change your energetic orientation or relationship with them--presence it in the now. A great beginning ritual for any activity is to start it in the now. When you are in a state of openness and have the energy for it, even dishwashing can be a high. The best chance of having the energy for it is to dissolve its past associations and relate to it from the condition of no mind: take a trip into the now.

ATLANTIAN TECHNOLOGY AVAILABLE FOR YOU IN THE AQUARIAN AGE

Your life is a printout of your unconscious desires. If you do not like some parts, then energy clear/delete the program.

Releasing your armoring with the LEA's scalar chi field can accelerate change by as much as 1,000 times! Approximately 90% of clients' energetic and mental obstructions can be self coached to release with the LEA and our coaching self-administered programs without having to receive live sessions. The coaching program's journal writing and the LEA chi wave field are an opening to higher states of consciousness.

YOUR LEA VISION QUEST CAN BECOME MORE PROFITABLE THAN YOUR WORK--WORK SMART, NOT HARD

VISION QUEST EXERCISE 1: Chakra Clearing for Goal Attainment

Before performing LEA session work, first loosen your clothing so that the energy can move. Release the false identity (the false doer viewpoint) and purify your intentions. Goals do not turn out when they are intended from a false notion of being. Discover what the body is saying. It's not that the body is trying to say something. The body is saying something, but you are only trying to listen—instead of just listening. Release trying to get it by letting that effort drop away with a gentle sweep of amplified awareness. Release your distrust of feelings. Release the mental interpretation of feelings. Recontextualize your conclusions of feeling. You are not your thoughts. Accept your feelings without judgment and let go of the strain in coaching. Let the joy come through. Make friends with your inner nature.

One method of getting in touch with your core or purest intuition regarding an unfulfilled desire or goal is to:

1. Choose that goal
2. Write it down on paper
3. Place it on the input plate of the LEA
4. Place a colored theatrical gel, drawing, or stone for the first chakra with it on the input well
5. Sense each chakra and relax energetic barriers that come up as you sweep each chakra with the goal.

If you have available LEA Emitter Formulas One through Six, select Formula One, which is the root chakra energy resonator, and hold it or lay on it against the root chakra, with the intention of clearing that chakra of counter forces and allow it to be open to that goal. If you do not have the Formula One Emitter, then take up whatever formulation you have. For best results, use emitters One through Six, one at a time: Formula One, grounding at the base chakra working your way up to using Formula Five, intuition, on the neck. Formula Six is for chakra integration higher and lower. Caution--never place the emitters on the head as this practice may initiate too fast of an energetic purge. Visualize an unfulfilled goal as a teacher. An unfulfilled goal permeated with awareness will show you the way to personal expansion. It is going to show you how you have blocked off or suppressed your aliveness in that domain. The LEA scalar energy field will transmit that energetic vibration or energetic tuning into your energy body. It is the process of breathing life into that area. These chi waves (living consciousness) can very easily be modulated, moved, and controlled by focused thought or intention. At the level of magic, the words are the experience. Intend them throughout your field and visualize feeling them ecstatically integrating with each molecule of your energy. Welcome every pattern and sensation. Allow emotions and attitudes to come to consciousness, become neutralized and balanced, and then drop away. Breathe into the body and feel the amplified prana sweep or energetic flow make spacious the dead energy. Follow the amplified pranic flow throughout the body as it moves. Each creative visualization you propagate will be energy swept and vitality amplified and energetically potentized by the LEA up to 1,000 times. Each unrealized goal that you focus on with open awareness will energy clear back to its most fundamental, higher-self, unblocked expression. With a few basic Coaching Self Inquiry tools, the blocking reality or stuck energy matrix will joyfully integrate. If you are willing to change your consciousness, then the LEA can help you change your beliefs that create reality. Energy clearing your belief systems accelerates your natural unfolding. You transform your belief in the past. You discover that you truly don't have time for the past. This is true self-talk. Drop concepts--gain perceptions. The word water is a concept and it is not wet. Only a perception outside of symbols can contain wetness. Feel it in the moment, do not settle for concepts or memory, sense/know it directly. Pay attention to subtle feelings. They are advanced (non-thinking) perceptive signals that are guiding you in letting go, in relaxing so deeply that freedom embraces your entire being.

WHEN YOU ARE THINKING, YOU ARE NOT SENSING

From here to eternity

When you are thinking you are not sensing! Let go of thinking, give thinking a rest. When you let go of thinking, you let go of boundaries. You simply must go tactile. Discover this field of nonthinking, nonlinear intelligence. Inside of us is the capacity to communicate with and influence every cell's innate intelligence. Let go of all effort. All resisting, refusing, and denying. All limited lower-self will. You are contacting or channeling choiceless pure awareness. Why choiceless? Don't I have a choice? Because you are going for pure intuition, you must first empty your cup. You must let go of all preconceived choice. Release all conflicts of interest, all human preference so that you may extrovert and become truly objective. Become scientifically detached from juicy possible outcomes. The truth in the domain of intuition can't be reasoned with the thinking mind. It is a matter of sensing. You are dowsing the infinite. You are dowsing the universal life energy to discover a peak of resonance which is the "choice" of the intuitive self. You are opening to the dowsing response. Your energy body is the pendulum.

Release all effort, preconception, and ego-identified agendas and interest. Visually place the LEA's spacious field into your nonintuitive uncomfortable feelings. When you run the energy with a high degree of sensitivity, you can feel layers of suppressed feelings (grids) coming off. You can disillusion this unreality, shedding grid on top of grid of compulsions and obsessions and stuck, effortful thoughts. You are releasing the past so that you can freely be in the moment. You are discharging noncoherent, conflict energy points of view so that you can feel like yourself again. You are opening to finding yourself-- the power outside of form, structure, and significance. You are completing limited thinking patterns so that you can open your consciousness to intuitive knowing.

RUN SILENT--RUN DEEP

Let inner intelligence be your personal coach and become open to intuitive imprints.

You are entraining a sensing response. You are letting go of thinking and opening the space for knowing. Sensing the subtle planes of the energy body is a dynamic experience. Be open to the nature of energetic matter and being dazzled. Let all reaction drop into nothingness. Do the Beatles' process-- let it be. Your body is a buildup of layers of untimely energy pockets or deposits. These layers of armoring cause numbing, congested, past-stuck, circuitous, cellular thought! Your reactive, preconditioned thinking machine takes you away from kinesthetic sensation. Sensing brings you here into the now. It is an access to high-level vitality. Rest your thoughts. These higher realms or planes of consciousness are nonverbal. Release your earthly desires so as to go deeper into the subconscious and unconscious of the energy body. You can't enter these magical realms with energetic debris, as a camel can't go through the eye of a needle. Blocks to intuition or bliss are stagnant and stuck chi in the forms of unpleasant and resisted emotions, attitudes from the past, fixed ideas, automatic behaviors, and all other forms of patterned thinking. As you sense/release these control structures, you will find yourself as freedom beyond all notions of mind and mental limitation. Your true unencumbered self is freedom itself. The key here is you must be open to receive. After deeply relaxing these holding patterns, you will have neutralized and balanced that chakra, it has released, it is now free of its effortful bundle and now open as a window is to light. You then can go on to the next chakra using the appropriate emitter formulations One through Six if they are available. When you have dissolved each chakra's blocks with the LEA's neutralizing and balancing field and accompanying energy software (gemstones, aroma oils, color, ORI Inc.'s smart pills collection, etc.) your life will become sourced from the now.

My favorite input well substances are the collection of ORI Inc. smart pill compounds. Researchers enjoy amplifying OxyBliss-™ which is high in etheric vitality; ATP compounds--Soma Smart Crystals and Soma ATP tablets (ATP is the body's energetic currency); Turbo DHEA which is quite active; and Royal Buzzz bee jelly which is a strong mental clearing when used in combination with Super Gingko and Super Deanol, etc. We also have heard many reports of using aromatherapy oils on the input well. You do not, of course, with the Vision Quest models (unlike the LEA aromatherapy ionizer, which specializes in aroma ionization) actually smell the fragrance, but rather notice the intrinsic energy. By daily and/or intensively sweeping your auric field with these energetic tools, your energy body opens and clears regarding this formerly tense desire. You will notice an energetically felt shift--a softening of the control structure. As you become proficient as an energy coach, meaning you are transforming into a psychotronic shaman, you may add sacred geometry, holy relics, pictures, drawings, or additional energy tools to the LEA input well.

YOU MUST BE OPEN TO RECEIVE. GET ON LINE WITH YOUR HIGHER SELF—YOU HAVEN'T SEEN ANYTHING YET!

VISION QUEST EXERCISE 2: Chakra Clearing for Ideal Manifestation

1. Choose a goal
2. Write it down
3. Visualize its completed ideal manifestation in each chakra
4. Program each chakra for that attainment
5. Let go of what comes up
6. Go with the intuitive flow.

Another processing methodology that some LEA aficionados consider to be the "best and only way" is to take up each goal and imagine its most optimum outcome or manifestation as if it has already turned out. Research associates enthusiastically conclude that this process undercuts hundreds or even thousands of hours of more content-oriented regression style work. They say that it pulls the plug on cellular programming matrices and can release the identity or false self and false will that is the source of the manifestation block.

Visualize or experience its completed ideal manifestation. Do this exercise at each chakra center, taking up each LEA Emitter Formulation One through Six and corresponding stones, colors, and energetic accessories. As you energetically coach each chakra in this manner, a higher knowing or intuitive force will descend and coach you as to this goal's place in divine symmetry. Be open to divine intervention. You can't effort at this--patiently let the LEA's pulsed chi field release these frozen impulses. The LEA in this exercise serves as an effort buster or negative thought buster. With the LEA's intuitive opening, you can easily get back in touch with the control you have over your awareness and attention. You become aware of your concluding and deciding machinery that deprives you of your unbounded awareness. As your space clears, a higher knowing (the spirit of the desire) might manifest as a deity, holy person, deva, elf, spirit, spirit guide, guardian angel, power animal, or your mama, etc. As you visualize the transformation or successful completion of your goal at each domain of consciousness (chakra), you transcend space/time and enter the fourth dimension. As you go deeper, you visit the quantum self, the ultimate energy clearing coach, the source of all mental and spiritual energy clearing. With some continual practice, you will achieve a deeper neutralizing and balancing of the frozen energy or negative chi for each goal. You program each chakra for that attainment--being open to a very deep listening. It is a bioenergetic deep listening or sensing, a listening that releases counterforces, counterbeliefs, and all self-limiting patterns that keep you in the past regarding its desired manifestation. The outcome of your Self Inquiry Coaching sessions is to become cognizant of the intuitive nature--or ultimate viability and reality of each goal--and complete (release) your karma regarding it, to let go of the ties that bind. To dissolve each chakra's control structures or blocks that impede your energetic centering. You will release or send back to God those control structures that steer your attention to the past, rather than supporting a quiet mind that can experience a clear vision. Sense what comes up. The process of sensing, in combination with the LEA's ability to release conflict chi that impedes focus and intention, will serve as a deep energetic sweep to release core goal blockages. When you know the goal beyond space and time--you know it in its true nature--you know your intuitive self. You know the Self (yourself), beyond name and form and beyond former mentally conceived limitation that keeps you closed to the goal's higher reality.

Name and form are two subtle energy identity traps. They are space-suppressing systems of limited thinking that deprive you of knowing in the true sense of the word. They close down your psychic faculties. The LEA is, perhaps, not going to change what will happen--some say that the LEA does not have the capacity to create destiny. However, through intimate interaction with the LEA, you can learn to free your attention so that you make the most of what is! It can help you recontextualize and reintegrate your interpretation about what is happening. It can release your reactions to what is so that you can easily join in with the spirit of the unfoldment. Get with your higher self's program. The pieces or elements of your ideal manifestation are all there; what is required is only a perceptual shift to a larger reference point with accompanying intuitive insight!

By allowing the LEA's chi waves to systematically (applying the audio exercises and journal writing exercises) permeate your many levels of auric field, you dislodge the very core grids and matrices of false will and false self. "I" is no longer a conceptualization, but a directly integrated 10-chakra, living-in-the-moment experience of universal self. Your will is no longer an automatic pattern from the past, a psychic energy drain, but the intuitive force that flows from the void itself! You have energy cleared the false identity mistaken to be yourself down to its bare spiritual essence. The self has released its subconscious patterning and represented itself in the now. You are now "holding your goal" with an empty mind. You have emptied out your mental content and have surrendered it and your assumptive nature to the space that knows the way. Let the force that knows the way take over. Allow the force to be with you. Go with it. Open to its supreme organizing power so that its perfect guidance will not go unsensed. When you truly are in the moment, "you" have the "power" to create almost anything you ever have wanted in about sixty seconds. Simply, effortlessly be yourself and reside in the now and collect your winnings. This is your opportunity to "trade in your past," dissolve false history for a wonderful now that is more generous in its amenities than the past ever was and more glorious in its freedom than an efforted future will ever be! Set free your manifestation energies. Let the bliss blocks go. With the LEA and some well-honed, focused intention and a dedicated practice, you can soon process energy like a chi master. Release this false self and false will and you will have done your immune system a great favor. You are now open to your true self's infinitely creative possibilities as outcomes and it is free to be the multidimensional magic in your life. It is now clear of mechanical false will and false ego identifications and attachments and is "consciously available" to be embraced by the energy that moves us. It now vibrates at a whole, other level--a higher frequency, if you will. It has become cleared of negative space and time and has taken a trip into the now. It has undergone a rigorous emotional and attitudinal cleansing and lives spontaneously in an open heart. You have also realized its ideal and highest manifestation. You have "thought it through" or seen it through or better yet, intuited it. You have deprogrammed your misidentification with an undeserving false self. You have received an attitudinal adjustment and a goal manifestation tune-up and your horizon has been expanded regarding its multifaceted possibility. You have recognized the truth regarding your goal and the true self that knows no limitation. Behold!

THE TRUTH WAKES UP INSIDE OF YOU

VISION QUEST EXERCISE 3: Chi Rider--Running Amplified Chi Waves

Another very simple but potent exercise is to run energy through your "physical" and subtle bodies. Lie back, do some deep breathing, and visualize the LEA's pulsed tachyon field moving through your energy field like waves of the ocean. Visualize waves of energy moving in your body's field in six flows, practice traumatic energy pattern disillusionment--from:

1. Left to right
2. Right to left
3. Head to toe
4. Toe to head
5. Floor to ceiling
6. Ceiling to floor.

This exercise can be performed on a specific body part to clear it of energetic armoring, or to the entire energy body at once. You can also direct it anywhere into the auric space surrounding the body. You can, as you master its field, direct it into the environment as well. You can also energy clear another body's field, near at hand or at a distance (radionics.) You learn to project your intention in the beginning and as you travel the path, intuition takes over. You find that the higher self knows the way, so to speak. When you are working on the body's energetic field, be sure to expand your focus far enough to include the entire energy field or aura. You might find that it extends out further than you at first suspect. Some researchers report out-of-the-body experiences on this one. This exercise can also be performed to clear an object or an intention. Whatever object of condensed energy you process, the armored energy will strip off leaving it free from blocked chi. It is an experience of energetic liberation. You will have opened to your many dimensions of spaciousness.

VISION QUEST EXERCISE 4: Running Energy with Amplified Tunings

You may now go on to the next level of exercise using the six basic flows. Flow, one at a time, the following:

Love
Perfection
Admiration
Openness
Acceptance
Oneness
Beauty
Emptiness
Energetic purity
Nowness

You may add to the list. The flow directions are as follows:

1. Left to right
2. Right to left
3. Head to toe
4. Toe to head
5. Floor to ceiling
6. Ceiling to floor.

The depth to which the LEA energetically processes can be astounding! These processes or energetic coaching exercises mentioned above can accelerate change to a fast and spacious pace. It is not necessary for the most part, researchers have found, to get too detailed in the incident content. Taking up a few of these basic and simple coaching processes and performing them with patient focus can change your life. (If you wish more information on the dynamics of release, see my workbook "Coaching Release Dynamics"). It is not necessary to understand or know the significance of that which is releasing. To feel or sense its release is enough. Many coaches who work with the LEA have received or teach vastly detailed former psychophysical training programs and are overqualified in more complicated, detailed, and regimented other (nonpsychotronic) coaching programs. They, at first, continually fight the temptation to go complicated and forgo the basic simple elegance of just continually sweeping their energy field with the Formula One through Six emitters. Utilizing the LEA, Coaching Self Inquiry audio tapes, and these simple exercises will often bring a completion to the limitations you have been seeming to struggle with or have been putting up with. A little goes a long way here when you have a direct channel to the subconscious. Providing legal, nontoxic, subconscious access is the name of the game. The 1960's are coming back in a high-tech, legal, and nontoxic form!

For the next exercise, the coaching process is called sensing the body. Move your consciousness, your silent awareness, throughout the body's physical and energetic systems sensing or feeling the field without using thought or any symbolizing. Just nonverbally feel and experience what is there to be felt and experienced. Go slowly and have your completely undisturbed attention permeate each body part and energetic strata. Let go of any inclination to mentally dialogue with past content or to judge. Just be open to it speaking to you. Keep the mind open and silent and put all of your focus on feeling. These feelings are messages from your next level that you will spatially inhabit. Make yourself comfortable. Be one with each sensation or feeling. Let it flow. If at any point during these exercises, you drop into meditation or have a mystical experience--let it be. If you visit the morphogenetic field, the empty space where manifestation comes out of, witness it with dispassion. Your real nature is empty space. Nonmaterial. Life is a quantum event in that field.

VISION QUEST EXERCISE 5: Energy Purification

A. Sense the body and the energy body from:

1. Left to right
2. Right to left
3. Head to toe
4. Toe to head
5. Floor to ceiling
6. Ceiling to floor.

B. Fill the body and energy body with white light.

Send that white light to someone you love at a distance.

Now perform this exercise again and redirect the LEA chi flow through the exercise steps.

Utilize various energetic items on the LEA's input well for specific sweeping effects. Consider experimenting with tarot cards (deep intuitive key), flower remedies, gemstones, herbs, vitamins, color, fresh botanicals, aroma essences, drawings, color slides with a light shining through them, etc. Use a different energetic remedy for each session and notice the differences and similarities.

For those already proficient in running energy, you will probably enjoy running energy into the input well of the LEA. Place your hand on the input plate and outflow the desired energy pattern into the amp and it will be amplified up to 1,000 times! Psychic researcher archangel Susan J. Wolf showed me how to do this work. She flowed her special energy into the input well (silver plate) on the LEA base amplifier and Roselyne, the recipient who was holding the emitter, received the tuning. The result was instantaneous.

VISION QUEST EXERCISE 6: Amplifying Chi Waves

This exercise is to expand your reality so that you can experience any point of view you want--or none at all. What a vacation! The point of view or identification to focus on and release is the body's energy field stuckness. Release what you are not! With the LEA's pulsed chi waves, you do not need to do a detailed dialogue with anything that you find. After you perform this exercise a few times, prepare for your space to be cleared and to be relaxed into the magic of being yourself, effortlessly. Simply: sense your body from head to toe and toe to head--releasing resistance and all of its patterns. Take each sensation, pain, emotion, attitude, name, form, belief system either wanted or unwanted, feeling wanted or unwanted, identity, desire, goals, intention, expectations, entities, focuses, control issues, mechanicalness, energy blocks, etc. Don't forget the session goal. Locate it and sense/experience it and then with the chi field of the LEA, release this point of view or beingness, as follows:

1. Locate it
2. Identify it
3. Run some energy through it
4. Sense it
5. Permeate its field with your awareness
6. Feel the LEA's chi waves discreate it (perhaps visualize waves or a vital energetic shower)
7. And sense that it is released!

VISION QUEST EXERCISE 7: Not This--Nor That

I am not my item.

I am not my arm, bad leg, lonely genitals, anger, fear, getting even, competitiveness, good taste, back pain, goal, desire, identity, condition, sexual dilemma, presumed limitation, entity, incident, mental or spiritual practice, guru, bank account, healing crisis, etc.

Use this exercise to release all that is not you. Experience yourself void of all mental constructs. Know yourself in your bliss. If you co-coach another with the LEA with this exercise, be open to some of the deepest releases of your life!

VISION QUEST EXERCISE 8: Angels' Breath

After being still with the LEA for a while, breathe in from the area or space around you and breathe out to various locations in your body and the space of objects around you. As you continue the exercise, breathe in from locations and spaces further from the body and breathe out to locations further out. Process with the issues, energies, or resonances of:

Unconditional Love
Acceptance
Truth
Joy
White Light
Cellular Resonance
Knowing
Nowness
Spacious Peace
Sacred Geometry
Holy Symbols
Etc.

Feel free to add additional energetic tunings.

ADVANCED AQUARIAN TECHNOLOGY

Processing your bio-energetic matrix with subtle energy frequencies:

One of the best workshops that I have ever given was when 20 researchers sat around the LEA and for the next hour or two placed about 40 different substances on the LEA input well and passed the unit around the room until each player felt that attunement. We placed upon the input well gold, silver, gemstones, vitamins, sacred geometry, color, herbs, stones, flowers, rings, jewelry, etc., and talked about the energetic contributions. Each person experienced somewhere near 40 different energetic tunings. People excitedly opened their purses, bags and pockets to try almost every health-associated item imaginable. We were often pleasantly surprised at the distinction between what we thought would make a difference and what we directly experienced or sensed. People called me back in the next few days to say that their minds had never before felt so squeaky clean and they commented on the absence of mental chatter. This opening for some lasted over a week! Many LEA's were sold to very spacious and grounded space cadets. We concluded that there were some "remedies" that were certainly more active than others. However, it was the set of 40 energetic items as a whole that made for the deepest neutralizing and balancing in their lives. Some of the combinations were awesome. Some commented that it felt like the laying on of hands from a great healing master.

Try all at once an herb, tarot card, flower, aroma essence, stone, affirmation, vitamin, and a color. Repeat the affirmation several times as you concentrate on your breath. You may also concentrate on the written affirmation or energetic tuning by reading it while you feel it permeate your beingness. Feel the color and be aware of how the energetic packages move around your energy field. Sense how they sweep out pockets of psychophysical tension. The next time you are writing, reading, or just being somewhat still, get out your treasure chest of power materials. Place each item on the input well for two to four minutes and after processing with your collection for an hour or so, I expect you will notice a deeper calm and deeper peace than you would imagine. This is a great opportunity to get in resonance with the products that you are taking or living with. It is a singular opportunity to know in-depth your vitamin chest and alchemist's altar. One business meeting we accidentally placed the phrase "divine intervention" on the input well. It was a meeting that seemed to invoke a supernatural synchronicity. Sweep your energetic body with supplements and open to a new dimension in higher wellness. It sometimes helps, a few researchers say, to visualize your LEA as a magic tool.

For more fun and adventure, you can place an affirmation on the LEA input well along with sacred geometry. Try a pyramid, cross, picture of a saint, holy water, or photographic slide of a power spot or energetic relic. When you use a color slide, place it about a quarter inch off of the plate (make a holder for it) and shine a light through it. Even better, you could use sunlight (or moonlight). Some say that the slide, being both a negative and a positive print, best contains the entire energy spectrum or auric qualities of the object to be amplified. The slide could also be of something you want: a house, car, boat, plane, or a specific energy you want to integrate such as the Great Pyramid, the calmness of a lake, the strength of a mighty oak, or the love of Jesus.

You might also experiment with Rey cards developed by English radionics master Malcolm Rey. Each Rey card is an energetic attunement. Place it on the input well and visualize its integration as you hold the emitters. You might place the emitters on a body part that you would like to receive a concentrated and focused sweep. You may also wish to buy a calculator and type on the screen your desired outcomes in the SE-5 style. The LEA will amplify the ascii code leakage and researchers say that they can easily feel the energetic metaprogram retuning their desired focus.

LET THE LEA HELP YOU MAKE THE SPIRIT, MIND, AND BODY CONNECTION

LEA SPORT ENERGY PAK--Integrating insight and action

This section is for those of you who may have joined us much earlier in the game or who may not be aware of our more recent development called the LEA-Sport Energy Pak-™. Some refer to this portable unit as a chi pak. All LEA base amplifier models, other than our introductory-priced single emitter unit (electrodes formulated for second chakra insertion), and the (SEP) Sport Energy Pak, now have detachable gold-plated emitter/electrodes units. These emitters are detachable from the base LEA amplifier. These beautiful gold-plated detachable dyad emitters are called the SEP. They are also approximately five times more potent than our much earlier single emitter units. These dyad energy packs can be placed in a fanny pack, pocket, backpack or worn on your belt, hand held, or placed on or under your body for meditation, creative visualization sessions, massage, creative napping etc. They can be placed in drinking water, in a bath or hot tub or in front of speakers or a fan to impart their energetic organizing fields. These emitter packs are not anywhere near as potent by themselves as when electrically connected to the LEA base amp. However, when "charged up" by the base amplifier every few days, they retain a very noticeable energy balancing effect. Now our SEP's come complete with their own built-in, scalar magnetic mini-amplifiers and are completely portable. They can operate completely independently from the LEA amplifier base unit and require no "recharging." They amplify their energetic formulations even if you do not have a LEA base unit! They are now sold as separate, complete units. They are not as immediately psychoactively potent or as deeply relaxing as the larger, more expensive LEA models but they are portable, cost less than one-third of the original units, and have been very well received. What makes the energetic result so easily integrated and ongoing is that you are extending the length of your "hands-on," energy working time by maybe as much as 15 times! When you carry them in a fanny pack, on your body for as much as 15 hours per day, the energy process runs deeper in a cumulative fashion, increasing in intensity over time. This portable energy pack opens your etheric energy field over time and eliminates many "normal" everyday relationship glitches and stresses. Researchers report that they are able with this portable instrument to experience many more of the benefits of the LEA at their job/work place, while running errands, computing, working out, doing housework, dancing, jogging, rowing, hiking, bike riding, watching movies, going shopping, partying etc. We also strongly suggest that you not use the SEP in any occupation, sport, or situation that has the risk of physical danger. SEP experimental applications are best researched on a gradual basis, in a safe environment. Learn to walk with them before you learn to fly!

The LEA SEP is gradually opening up a whole new realm of successful applications. Its portability and ease of use make it convenient to have it with you processing your energy field all day long in almost every activity. Researchers report experiencing their personal best in most applications. As stated earlier, the SEP without being connected to the LEA base amp is not as deeply relaxing, nor is the altered state as deep. The benefits of this less intense, less expensive portable application are, however, that it is a more functional high, a working person's centering ally. Since the SEP is energetically different and less powerful than the base unit model, its field is not experienced as a deep, almost thought-free meditation or a trip to the realm where the angels come from. It is rather a centering, brain-energizing, support system for the work-a-day world that makes for more intuition with less energy strain.

MAKE YOUR BODY A POWER SPOT--THE FENG SHUI OF INTEGRATING INTUITION AND MOVEMENT

This moment is too blissful a kiss to waste.

The LEA SEP does not merely pleasantly distract you from your linear activities, but rather enhances them, particularly when you choose the most appropriate formula for that activity. It is a space age energy integration process that many in the past have only glimpsed using sacred sacraments. These formulations are specific chi amplifiers to suit your energy needs.

Researchers strongly suggest that when you are using the SEP in a fanny pack or on your belt that you move it to another spot a few inches away every half-hour or so. This is because a number of researchers have noticed that their body's range of motion has improved where the fanny pack sits. If you desire to similarly improve in your flexibility and dissolution of armoring, then keep the SEP moving. Also, wear it below your waist so that it is against your top part of the leg not your waist in the beginning. This strategy seems to spread around the value most effectively. Make sure that it is positioned against your back as some researchers reported lower back psycho-energetic effects involving increased ranges of motion and postural release effects.

PERSONAL ENERGY MANAGEMENT

"Designer" energies for peak experiences

Formulas One and Two (grounding power, centering, and tantra) are the most popular "wear-arounds," most researchers report, because they are the most grounding and centering for every day office or home activities. The first two formulas are also the best for enhancing sports performance. Radionics practitioners often state that Formula Two brings the power of passion and a focused grounded Gaia presence to amplify and strengthen causative intentions. Formula Three (clarity) is more intentional and less linear; it may enhance some linear activities with a slight to moderate intuitive opening. If you wear Formula Four (astral night) around, you will probably be too peaceful to talk and too serene to do much on the physical plane but you will enjoy the vacation. Formula Five (intuition) opens metaphysical realms and this may or may not be desirable for some linear activities. How do you feel about channeling at the office? Formula Six (chakra integrative experience) is the yoga of blending high states of consciousness with grounded life experiences. It integrates polarized or widely divergent viewpoints into a singleness of viewpoint. It helps bring more focus to too-scattered, everything-at-once mental patterning. It helps to bring to the surface and reconcile divergent energies into a workable and functional unity. Each designer energy field reduces mental "noise" and internal chatter, so that your intuition can flow more freely.

After wearing the SEP for about 45 days, researchers report:

- Easier decision-making capabilities
- Feeling more alive
- Ease of being
- Feeling more comfortable in pressure situations
- Communicating more clearly
- Feeling less intimidated
- Feeling a greater number of intuitive flashes with less effort
- Stronger workouts
- Enhanced physical coordination
- More motivation
- Less thinking and more sensing
- Stronger vitality
- More in the moment with sex
- Experiencing vacationlike energies in nonvacation environments.

Many researchers report that their recreational drug use and alcohol consumption have decreased. Some researchers have placed two SEPs in their jacket pockets and found release from writer's block. They found that their results of the purchase included an additional creative opening. Some said the added benefit seemed like "channeled writing."

The SEP can also be placed in front of speakers or in front of a fan or in a hot tub or bath. The manner in which the SEP processes sound is a real 4D treat. In the tub it is like bathing in an energy vortex.

Some research associates say that their favorite process to do after work is to take the SEP for a long walk while listening to psychological and spiritual audio tapes. The Coaching Self Inquiry audio tapes offer a great silent walking inquiry. Walking with the SEP is a dynamic walking meditation--an opening, unfolding experience in de-arming through movement. It is a dance of intuitive, integrated movement sourced from your whole body--like learning to walk in the now!

You may also order separately my Coaching Self Inquiry workbook which comes with 10 audio tapes for just such a practice. Taking a walking meditation in the woods while listening to personal growth audio tapes has a synchronistic and catalyzing effect, and taking some of the ORI Inc. smart pill collection after a recent upset or problem can also provide a release which is enhanced through being in nature. The LEA SEP is a very effective meditation helper and can amplify your intention to change, if appropriate. The capacity for change comes more easily to a quiet mind.

Researchers have of late been placing gemstones and energetic substances into a rubber cap or input well on the SEP's base. On testing this system, we have noticed that with Herkimer diamonds the resultant energy field is experienced (after a varying amount of time) as one of intense, indescribable beauty. Try this application and see for yourself.

An in-depth study needs to be done regarding the long-term viability of the LEA's role in drug detoxification and the release of disease-related psychological blocks, but--so far-- the picture looks bright.

The SEP can be worn separately or plugged into the LEA base amplifier--it manifests in six special energy formulas. Each formulation addresses all of the ten chakras, but specializes in the featured chakra. Each formulation offers designer energies in support of specific energy needs of each energy center.

FORMULA CHART

Formula One--First Chakra Attunement--Grounding Power, Ground Control

Specifically designed to amplify physical vitality and assist you in discovering your instinctual nature enabling an opening to greater physical security and power. This first chakra pre-physical field emitter was first developed for sports applications as it clears the (energy body) "physical field" through cellular trauma release and in turn increases physical awareness. This formulation of psychoactive chi waves releases psychophysical first chakra chi blocks, and activates kundalini energy for increased physical efficiency, energetic strengthening, mental endurance, and self empowerment. Kundalini energy is that power that sleeps in us until awakened through energetic stimulation of the base chakra. One becomes more physically cognitive through expanded first chakra awareness. Its effortless application can help release energy blocks (negative thought forms) and increase psychophysical energetic sensitivity. This designer energy sweep process removes even dense energy blocks. It is most effective in releasing that "spaced out" disconnected feeling by inviting you to reconnect with and stay in your body (sometimes known as grounding and centering), allowing you to become more adept at physical energy management and better enabling you to realize your full physical potential. ("Ground control to Major Tom," as the song goes.) Through its energetic interactive process, one opens to a deeper realm of feeling, a more subtle, finely tuned experience of ground control, base kundalini energy and the physical energy body, bringing about a space of balance--getting you out of your head and more open to grounded, earthy, stable Gaia power.

Formula Two--Second, Third, and Fourth Chakra Attunement--Tantra and Heart

This field raises the kundalini and energizes the second, third, and fourth chakras, resulting in increased sexual vitality and more openness to sexual desire, passion, and heartfelt emotions. The plasma field gently inclines one's subconscious to let go of restrictive mental patterns, freeing one to give and receive pleasure both on the physical and sexual levels. This opening releases even dense sexual energy blocks in the forms of traumatic sexual cellular memories. These conflict energies may be in the form of stressful attitudes or emotions contained in stressful cellular imprints caused by past incidents of sexual conflicts. This tantric energy remedy also assists you in open, safe, and unbiased belief system viewing, thereby facilitating sexual self-discovery. This loving chi field helps neutralize and balance unworkable sexual belief systems, dysfunctional identities, and self-limiting thought forms such as victim, martyr, the guilty one, the punisher, etc. This cellular clearing process catalyzes the discharge of subtle energetic blocks, allowing for a greater capacity to feel more deeply, thus freeing sexual creativity. It catalyzes true sexual empowerment. Great radionics for connecting at a higher sexual resonance with others. This activated chi field also releases sexual cords from past lovers and assists you in sourcing your own sexuality in the now. It enables a whole, new dimension of sexual and emotional pleasures, while expanding and deepening loving sensations and genuine, unpatterned, in-the-moment responses. Radionic practitioners and psychics say that this formulation helps focus intention to transform it into a more luminous intent (of such clarity it almost glows.) It is a true sensitivity training tool to help you step out of the field of the mind and open the rich domain of relating through ecstatic feeling.

Formula Three--Fifth Chakra Attunement--Clarity

Designed for amplifying and further raising kundalini vitality for creative visualization, relaxation, increased creativity, first-level intuition, and basic psychic abilities. The field that this most popular emitter generates improves one's mental and emotional state (releases negative mental chi) while assisting in the further opening of the heart chakra and releasing mental blocks. This field is part "grounded" intuition and part intuitive linear. It makes for deeper linear thinking with an intuitive opening. This emitter is also particularly effective in clearing rooms of negative thought forms, crystal clearing, and programming. This energetic tuning can be used specifically for focusing for intention amplification with radionic devices, channeling, second-level intuition, mental processing, personal coaching, and massage. Its resultant application releases patterned, confused, energy glitches opening to increased awareness of higher self and third eye perceptions. It is our basic system. It performs all general applications well. If you are going to purchase only one emitter system, this "all-in-one emitter unit " is for you. It creates a superb field for meditating or for focusing your intent on manifesting your dreams and visions!

Formula Four--Sixth Chakra Attunement--Very Deep Relaxation

Intended for inducing very deep relaxation and deep sleep. This field facilitates dream vitality and opens the dreamer to lucid dreaming, higher astral planes, and other dream states where one is able to further raise kundalini energy and experience other planes of consciousness and beautiful subtle dimensions beyond thought and form. In these states of deep sleep, one is often able to more fully integrate the symbols in dreams that are subconscious clues or guidance, enabling us to see more clearly our present reality. Awaken your dream life! One of our most humor-unimpaired researchers calls this formulation a great nod.

Formula Five--Seventh, Eighth, Ninth to ___? Chakra Attunements--Intuition and higher love

This emitter is a techno-shamanistic, higher chakra vital field specifically designed for energetic renewal, rejuvenation, and balancing the body's energetic regeneration system. The field of this emitter engenders "youthing"-- actually looking and feeling younger through true spiritual joy. It is a higher chakra opening to mysticism, self inquiry, self realization, and advanced psychic perception. This plasma field assists you in letting go of the identification to what you are not. This cosmic resonator can become even more effective if used in conjunction with breathing exercises, yoga, meditation, chanting, toning, prayer, or self inquiry. Through further raising kundalini energy, you energize your higher chakras and your light body. This opening can also be utilized as a doorway to other dimensions and as an energetic opening to bring through advanced science technology. High frequency spiritual vibration blocks are made conscious and available for easy neutralizing and balancing through this emitter's coherence field. This metaphysical attunement is optimal for out-of-the-body research and for releasing charged past-lifetime thought forms. It is an invaluable aid in processing subtle ego blocks--previously unrecognized ego attachments. These attachments are veils that cloud consciousness and hide your spacious self. This cosmic journey generator often gives somewhat solid and serious types a good case of the cosmic giggles. Have a good belly laugh at nothing! This chi field is a most appreciated synthesis of higher love, spatial expansion, and divine intuition. Some researchers report kundalini experiences with pranic rushes! It is a high-vibration open sesame. This attunement formula most closely approximates the experience of sacred substances, but without any extraneous or perhaps toxic materials that could produce distorted reactions. This attunement's chi field dissolves armoring that entities cling to. By addressing chakra armoring through the process of releasing subtle ego blocks, these entities are dislodged. Clear intent, and an in-depth application of the Coaching Self Inquiry workbook exercises, causes these entities to awaken and release. This high vibratory chi field was designed for the neutralization of mystic ("energy seed") blocks, in the body's auric field, in order to open higher chakras. Trained meditators can often easily attain thought-free states in their first few sessions. Some committed researchers report ascension experiences and Atlantian memories. The Coaching Self Inquiry workbook and audio package provide the software for highly amplified psychic development. Dedicated researchers in self inquiry technology can now have an easy journey to other planets on their way to dancing in the void! Not to be used by those who have cancer.

Formula Six--Psychophysical integration

This may be the most dramatic formulation so far. It integrates lower and upper chakras. Participants feel an overall balance of energy, power with intuition and insight, and knowledge of themselves as a whole person. It is an integration of body, mind, and spirit in a blissful balance. One psychic says that it opens up the higher psychic realms. Another calls it divine light or yoga of multidimensional being. It helps release dichotomized or polar thinking patterns and opening the being to the integration of oneness.

WHAT DO YOU WANT FROM LIFE?

Integrate with the self of the universe and take a trip into the now.

The LEA represents a safe and nontoxic voyage home. It opens a universe that you can not know through the senses. It offers a totally safe and legal substitute to most of the perceived benefits of LSD, marijuana, peyote, ecstasy, cocaine, mescaline, ayahuasca, and alcohol, etc. Many find that they prefer the deep vital field of the LEA, which is of course free of hallucinations and possibly harmful side effects. Perhaps the 1960's are coming back, don't throw away your tie-dies yet! Some researchers note that the LEA is both free from distracting effects and also offers a profoundly vital, energy-balancing process that assists sacred sacrament voyagers before, during, and after their explorative experience. The LEA, for some, further expands the scope of their universe and allows them to process even more deeply and to more fully discharge and integrate illusions of the "past." A few researchers are saying recently that they are suspending their entheogenic research--or, perhaps, from some points of view, abuse-- to focus on and study the deep, far-reaching effects of the LEA. They find that LEA vision quests do not deplete their reserve energy systems nor add to their already existing personal energy deficit. These quests, instead, provide inner space voyagers with the much-desired mental equilibrium that is so needed to successfully explore the space of intuition and the nature of personal freedom.

LEA research associates find value in enhancing subtle energy perception with the goal of concentrating on releasing core belief systems. The central core beliefs that researchers enjoy disillusioning are:

I
God
False Self False Will
Purpose
Goal
Choice--freewill
Time--and the lack of it
Name
Form
Past--before Future--after

Eternity
Destiny
Past Lives
Now
Freedom
Birth
Death
Intuition
Effort
Thinking
The Doer

By the way, it is these very issues which are explored in depth with the Coaching Self Inquiry Workbook and audio tape programs. The one realization that both neophyte and senior research associates keep reporting again and again at deeper levels of realization is: "I am not my body, I am not my thoughts." The LEA's vital wave field assists in the release of all forms of mentally holding onto a thought construct. It serves as a field of detached objective observation in which these holdings can be seen as mental furniture that a free being can do without. There is a major joyfulness that accompanies this "basic" realization and a renewal of vital energy brought about by a sense of connection to cosmic intelligence. This initiation is a knowing without thinking, a connecting with higher will. This opening is what the intuitive arts are all about anyway, quieting the mind so that you can be open to inner cues. We invite you to send back to God your core beliefs about the limited nature of the universe and the scarcity of time. As you do so, you release your internal, illusionary time counter and blissfully fall into the now. As you learn to fully integrate bio-energetic cellular impressions, you raise their resonance and go to warp drive and recontextualize back into pure energy. When you take back your disempowering agreements about the illusion of time, you wake up in the morphogenic field that gives form to the self. You release the bounds of time and open to eternity as you release belief systems that create the 3D notion of aging. There is often a feeling of regressing in age as you become spontaneously joyful and childlike, and so satisfied sometimes that rather complex, energetically encumbered, pleasure seeking strategies release--making spacious chemistry. You experience out your misunderstanding or mythed perception that blocks your access to this intuitive field of knowledge. The truth sets you free to become a more open, vitally joy-filled, and loving person. As you learn consciously to visit the void--the source of pure potentiality--your lower intentionality becomes purified. As you learn to return to your origin point, the unmanifested, you release multiple layers of psychophysical resistance that accumulate around core belief systems. These assumptive core beliefs submerge feelings, repress bliss, and keep you looping like a tape loop in all-too-familiar behavioral patterns. When you discharge trapped life-force particles or energy bytes, you regain aliveness. The LEA pours a vital aliveness to the etheric field of every cell in your body. The field of your body opens up when you release multi-dimensional blocks. In this state, you can effortlessly see why some other technologies take so long to get at the roots of energetic contraction. Viewing bioenergetic pictures from the past is only a fragmented, nonmulticellular, 3D attempt to release a 20-dimension control structure. When you combine looking, touching, breathing, aromatherapy (available with LEA Formula Four) and energy work with a multidimensional chi field, you bend the ethers to access the deepest desire structures of the causal plane. LEA energy coaches have reported that they used to be quite attached to certain forms of recreation or entertainment and that these forms of "stress release" were compulsively needed after effortful work. Some have noticed that the LEA experience sends them into such a joyful space that they are quite satisfied and now living a more intuitive lifestyle where pleasure and nurturing come from the inside out. "Out there" is now more "in here."

As you learn to balance your energy and to live in harmony with your basic nature and intuitive knowing, you naturally live a more fulfilling life. You cease efforting to have, and instead live comfortably in the now.

HAVING IT ALL NOW--THINK NOW TO THINK NEW

The now can save your life.

Each emitter formula is a window onto a dimension of divine play. For some persistent psychophysical masses, you may want to use all six formulas as each energetic package neutralizes and balances a very specific viewpoint of the conflict energy package. Each emitter releases a facet or grid of self-ignorance. Each formula clears up that particular chakra's involvement in that particular solidity of self-denial.

Note--these energy packs should not be used in dangerous environments, nor should they be placed on the head. Placing them on the head could trigger a cleansing response. The resonant energy will process the head area effectively with the electrode/emitters held in your hands or placed on the neck.

THE MORE YOU LIVE IN THE HERE-AND-NOW
THE MORE VITALITY YOU HAVE--
THE MORE YOU LIVE IN THE PAST
THE LESS VITALITY YOU HAVE

Vital electromagnetic waves in combination with aromatherapy amplify the juice of the living cell.

For many years, a number of LEA research associates have been enthusiastically praising the benefits of aromatherapy. Let us look at the history of development of an advanced life energy amplification system and a vital aromatherapy breakthrough. Let us see how these latest developments in psychophysical energy clearing and aromatherapy technologies can transform the way in which you view and practice energetic transformation.

There are many good books on aromatherapy which have already been published and are readily available. I will, however, give you just a brief overview: the scent of essential oils travels very quickly to the brain and directly influences consciousness, partly because the sense of smell is 10,000 times more acute than other senses. The limbic system of the brain is easily influenced by fragrance. This brain function processes emotions, memory, and sexual behavior and could, in fact, be called the "pleasure center."

A University of Cincinnati study showed that the fragrance of peppermint and lily of the valley increased subjects' performance accuracy by 15 to 25%. The fragrance of essential oils invigorates the brain and mind. In some English hospitals, essential oils such as lavender, geranium, mandarin, and cardamom have replaced chemical allopathic sedatives.

Aromas can be used to create or co-create a conducive or supportive atmosphere for almost any activity.

IN SEARCH OF ECSTASY

Aromas can be used to amplify or intensify your energetic states, and so as designer energies they can increase your subsequent pleasure. There are specific designer realities or "highs" that can be made to enhance almost any activity at hand. By incorporating the standard LEA energy clearing and altered state features with aromatherapy, the subtle energy portion of the aroma is amplified so its intensity of psychoactive qualities is greatly increased. Combining a vital oxygen formulation and vital ion mix with an aroma allow the fragrance to travel further, become more deeply integrated, and thus take psychoactive action more quickly. Whether you are interested in increased energy, deep relaxation, health benefits, more peaceful sleep, or sexual enhancement, then vital aromas can help. The LEA's mood-altering aroma vital system generates an aroma envelope that for many is the high that they have been looking for all their life!

THE SCENT OF HIGHER CONSCIOUSNESS

The first application researched some years ago by a group of research associates was the placement of an essential oil (plant concentrate) on the input well of the LEA. This LEA input well feature amplifies the plant essence or energetic signature and the LEA's amplified chi field up to 1,000 times and faithfully disperses the subtle energetic properties in synergistic combination. The LEA's electrode/emitter system is called the Sport Energy Pak or SEP. It contains noble gas mixtures, etheric oxygen, and 25 energetic clearing properties. The LEA base amplifier emits a scalar field (informational carrying field) that deeply penetrates throughout one's electrospatial envelope. This process of handholding the emitters while performing essential oil energetic amplification has become a popular practice over the years. Participants choose stimulating oils for extra energy, relaxing oils for sleep, and more psychoactive oils for deepening meditation, relaxation, and entertainment. They select oils such as tea tree, camphor, and eucalyptus for their widely reported health benefits.

The second application that came into being was to place the electrode/emitters on the bottoms of the feet to stimulate the accupoint meridians that reflexology practitioners work with. This was accomplished, first, by using an Ace bandage wrap and then, later, a loose fitting, warm booty or sock. Keeping the feet warm is essential. The next stage was putting the essential oils on the electrodes before placing them in contact with the soles of the feet. The addition of the essential oils makes for an even deeper energetic release or relaxing transformation via the foot acupoints. This amplified chi blend of vitalized essential oils can bring about a whole new way of walking, along with a deep release of jammed energy flows throughout the body. It is also a deeply sensuous, pleasurable, and nurturing process. Heaven scent, some say.

The third application was to place an essential oil on the LEA input well and rub a coating of essential oils on the electrodes/ emitters and handhold or place the emitters on specific body parts. This procedure allows the LEA scalar waves (or fourth-dimensional field) to transport the essential oil's character deep within the energetic and physical body. This process, frequently employed by health care practitioners, has become a widespread client favorite. Amplifying the essential oil's energetic character and deeply delivering it via pulsed chi waves to traumatically anchored or framed body parts--legs, hands, feet, chest, back, etc., is highly effective. This procedure will deliver much needed psychophysical energetic clearing for sprains, breaks, tears, bruises, pulls, strains, traumatized, armored, problematic, upset, and otherwise blocked body parts etc. This amplified plant essence process is an in-depth, multifaceted clearing for body parts that you have issues with. The issues are in the tissues! No claims are made here as to physical healing or cures. As a research psychologist, I only claim that these procedures reduce stress for most participants and bring about a positive attitude and optimism for healing. These vital aromas open the space for an experience of being centered in the moment and a sense of wholeness and wellbeing. A deep clearing of core self-nullifying behavior is much quicker and easier in a safe environment with one's mind quietly resting in the now. This aroma vital ion process releases traumatic cellular memory, getting the psychosomatic predisposition out of the way to allow nature to take its course. Researcher Sam Wang points out that negative ions enter and leave the body through the acupoint meridians. Aromatherapist extraordinaire John Steele states that the essential oils release negative ions. Integrating these statements together one can generally conclude that the essential oil ions travel the body's acupoints bringing a subtle energy, oxygenating acupuncture-like tuning to psychophysical chi energy blocks in the energy body.

The fourth application involves utilizing the LEA's input well (as explained earlier), while lightly covering the chosen LEA emitter with an essential oil that corresponds to a chakra with the appropriate electrode/emitter Formula(s) One through Six, then placing that emitter on or near the chakra location. For instance, if one wants to become more grounded or practical, then the selection of SEP Formula One (or later Two), in combination with grounding or earthy oils, makes for an amplified re-orientation to grounding energies of plants. This results in a chakra activation by unblocking, balancing, and thereby presencing the first and second chakras. If one wants to open intuition, for another example, then Formula Five is combined with essential oils known for opening intuition. You could try rose, black pepper, and jasmine with the emitter placed on the neck or a few inches in front of the face or head.

The fifth application is to choose an essential oil that matches each electrode/emitter formula, i.e., lavender for relaxation for emitters Four and Five; and peppermint for stimulation on emitters One and Two. For emitter Three, choose an essential oil for the brain, mind, and third eye--for example, sage, rosemary, cedarwood; and for emitter Formulation Six, choose an essence formula for balance.

The sixth application was discovered as researchers started rubbing essential oils on the electrodes and placing them in front of a fan or audio speaker. The LEA's energetic juice when combined with the aroma vapor made a powerful pranic formulation. The combination of fragrance, sound frequency, and the LEA's One through Six energetically vital formulations made for aromatic 4D sound-tm. With the fan/ aroma application, many advanced forms of breathing processes were developed. This application added almost instant nowness with subsequent deeper pattern release with pranayama, holotropic breathing, rebirthing, athletic preparation, and relief from breathing impairment. This negative ion/aroma therapy combination brought relief for many allergy sufferers and a deep altered state through the pleasure of breath work (black spruce, tea tree, peppermint were effective). This LEA application served as a dramatic pranic amplifier for all breathing practices tested. Many researchers said that performing breath work by breathing aroma/chi field ions and directing this prana flow at or through energetic constrictions or limitations in combination with the participant's cleared attention made for accelerated release. When your vitality is high, attention is clear and your body, organs, and energetic field are flowing with prana and psychophysical blocks dissolve quickly and easily. The aromatherapy adjunct to the LEA makes for an amplified source of prana and takes you deeper into the causal plane that makes deep release of core belief systems possible.

Deep breathing and sexual excitement are associated, of course, and various essential oils can effectively enhance both these processes. Try jasmine, rose, sandalwood, musk, etc., with SEP Formula Two.

SPORT ENERGY PAK (SEP) AND AROMA THERAPY

Rubbing essential oils on the SEP by itself works well even without plugging the SEP into the base, scalar amplifier unit. The unplugged SEP is quite potent for many, just in itself. Placing the unplugged SEP in front of a fan or boom box lightly covered in essential oils gives the pranic aroma blend a speedy disbursement and integration. Rubbing aromatic essences on the SEP and then putting the unit inside a fanny pack delivers psychoactive energetic inclinations to your energy field for up to 10 hours. The vital energy field that emits from the SEP unit serves as a conduit or carrier field for the aroma to piggyback on. This synchronistic blend makes for a natural aroma essence amplifier and carrier to permeate your armoring and bring a heartfelt release of psychophysical limitation.

The sixth application came about around the time that researchers were performing rectal and vaginal insertions (with special electrode/emitter units) to release traumatic cellular memories. The issues released were of childbirth, toilet training, constipation, rape, incest, menstrual periods, traumatic sexual experiences, sexual abuse, obsessions, fears, and energetic scars from abortion attempts, abortions, accidents, injuries, and operations. The natural flow of evolution moved into using specific essential oils sometimes diluted with creams and lotions placed on the special insertion electrode for vaginal and rectal insertion.

With the seventh application came the use of the scalar ionizer and SEP, with the SEP being mounted on a quiet yet powerful fan. Essential oils were placed on the SEP/electrode. The natural small cups between the magnets and the electrodes themselves serve as an oil reservoir or well. The ionic capability of the scalar LEA causes the plant's oil essence to integrate with the full spectrum chi energy output and a divine synchronicity of essential oil vapor, vital ozone, negative ions, and etheric oxygens 04-018 was born. The amplified chi field developed from the 25 energetic remedies in the electrodes and the informational carrying waves of the scalar field make for a vital energetic delight.

Out of this practice came the LEA aromatherapy ionizer, which is a dedicated aromatherapy, negative ion, vital ozone, chi field, and pulsed magnetic instrument. Have you been dissatisfied with the current range of diffusers that use noisy aquarium-like pumps? Have you noticed their lack of sufficient propulsion to aromatically permeate your house or office? The LEA aromatherapy ionizer works much better in amplified aromatic processing and delivery.

The LEA aromatherapy ionizer does not need to be handheld. It is designed as a hands free unit that works by flowing its vital ionic force through your energy field. Many health care practitioners use both the LEA Model Three and have the client hold or place on or under their body the two electrode emitters (SEP), while breathing deeply the vital aroma therapy from the LEA aromatherapy ionizer. This combination of LEA Model Two or Three and the LEA ionizer are an all-time health high that surrounds the energy body with a pulsed ion chi field that clears the cells' charged imprints and represences them into the now. This aromatic living energy brings the power of the field of vital nowness to time shift energetic limitation utilizing zero point energy. Its multidimensional aroma vital output can take you on an all-time high!

LEA AROMATHERAPY IONIZER--

Negative Ion Super Vital Aroma Ionizer: An LEA that need not be hand held

Most of us know the value of negative ions as an effective method for environmental cleansing and purification. Most people we know own or have owned at least several negative ionizers, air purifiers, or aromatherapy dispensers. However, you may not currently use or own one because these devices failed to live up to your expectations. We would like to update you on several breakthroughs in ion, ozone, aromatherapy, life energy amplification, and psychotronics technology, which can effect a very noticeable energetic shift with just one breath!

Negative ions are one of nature's aircleaning systems for dissolving airborne pollutants. Numerous earlier studies have also shown how negative ions are natural stress reducers and how they promote relaxation and wellbeing. Earlier negative ionizers and ozone models unfortunately produced low vitality ions and ozone mostly because they ran voltage over a metal grid or emitter needle instead of magnetically ionizing plasma as did Rife, Lakouski, Tesla, and Peoria, whose technology was suppressed and then lost for many years.

This superior technology was also mentioned in the channeled readings of Edgar Cayce, the "sleeping prophet." Cayce's channeling later helped manifest what became the popular violet ray device and then almost disappeared.

Subsequently, the benefits of negative ions, ozone, and aromatherapy have been widely recognized; but still remain unrealized for most people

NEW SCIENTIFIC ION MODELS

There are several new scientific models of how negative ions work, which are quoted here from research scientist Sam Wang's book, "Reverse Aging." He says, "Negative ions enter and leave your body through acupuncture points, stimulating the body." This statement leads us to explore how we might use designer negative ions to produce in-depth acupoint neutralizing and balancing effects by dissolving layers of stuck and stagnant or negative chi. It also suggests how we might break up emotional and attitudinal accupoint blocks to flow vital energy unimpeded by energy body armoring to specific low vitality organs. Negative ions increase alkalinity in the body while the positive ions increase acidity. This statement is of major significance to researchers who know the role and value of alkalinity regarding degenerative disease, detoxification, and aging. Many people know the value of alkalizing the body through fresh vegetable juices and Japanese micro water, but did you know how quickly and directly ions affect the blood? This astute researcher goes on to say that negative ions give a molecular level massage. We will further elaborate on this cellular level conflict energy clearing process.

NEGATIVE IONS AND OZONE

We at ORI Inc. have been on the leading edge in research regarding ozone, oxygen, vital ions, psychotronics and subtle energy research for over ten years. We were the third oxygen/ozone company in the U.S., and introduced tens of thousands of people to the value of ozone through our many published articles in conjunction with our Violet flame air ozonator, Oxypure ozone for drinking water purification, and Oxyspa ozone for bath tub, hot tub, and spa purification.

SUPERVITAL NEGATIVE IONS, OZONE AND CHI--THE BREATH OF LIFE

We would now like to introduce you to a high chi ion or what we call a supervital ion that has a greatly amplified effect upon health and consciousness. This scalar field driven negative ion is considerably higher in oxygen, vitality, energetic organization effects, and magnetic field than its earlier predecessors. This Life Energy Amplifier aromatherapy ionizer emits long chain oxygen or what is generally referred to as ozone or O<sub>3</sub>, natures "other" cleaning system. Some researchers also refer to it as etheric ATP, meaning the energetic field of ATP. Ozone generators have become popular—no surprise-- over the last 10 years for many health-oriented purposes. The ozone formulation generated by the LEA aromatherapy ionizer utilizes a synergistic co-creation of advanced German design and American technology of Rife, Tesla, Lahkosky, and Abrams. This chi vital field contains much less O<sub>3</sub> than other ozonators and much more etheric O<sub>4</sub> -O<sub>18</sub>, the most sought-after etherically vital oxygens. The key when it comes to energy clearing results is negative ion, ozone, aroma vitality, or chi level--which is much more important than the size of the ion or the quantity.

The LEA ionizer utilizes scalar waves, an informational carrying field that transport these vital ions to travel greater distances keeping their vital energy intact. This scalar magnetic bioplasmic envelope allows our subtle energy formulas to faithfully maintain their energy body clearing properties while delivering their subtle energy tunings to the recipient's energy body.

AROMA THERAPY, OZONE, NEGATIVE IONS, AND PSYCHOTRONICS

The LEA aromatherapy ionizer integrates an aroma circuit with our supervital ions allowing you to receive a vitality amplification and potentization experience in conjunction with the benefits of aromatherapy. Most previous aromatherapy units ineffectively and noisily blew nonvital air from an aquarium pump through essential oils. With the silent LEA ionizer, the essential oil integrates with high vitality ions and creates a synergistic blend, a vital magnetic envelope that maintains the subtleties of fragrance and is thus very psychoactive. It becomes an integrated super-vitalized aroma ozone/oxygen negative ion. The LEA ionizer efficiently ionizes the essential oil, giving it a synergistic integration with a magnetically vital negative ion. A breath or two demonstrates the fulfillment of the promised results of negative ion, ozone, aromatherapy, magnetics, chi, psychotronics, radionics, resonant sound, and chakra technologies combined!

SCALAR WAVES AND VITAL IONS

Our patented scalar informational field output allows just one instrument to service the health and consciousness requirements of a whole house and garden area in most circumstances. The LEA ionizer's chi field has a greatly amplified, full chakra spectrum, magnetic signal or vital force--producing a very noticeable neutralizing and balancing of stress-producing conflict energies. Researchers refer to our LEA vitality molecules as chi, tachyon, orgone, prana, etheric oxygen, vitality globules, etc. This long sought-after chi or etheric oxygen molecule, as most now call it, is being recognized as the energetic vital essence of many health and consciousness practices and technologies.

Our LEA ionizer performs many functions. It is really a dozen instruments for the price of one.

The LEA ionizer is a:

1. Negative ionizer
2. Ozone generator
3. Life energy amplifier
4. Aromatherapy pulsed magnetic field system
5. Radionics intention amplifier
6. Psychotronic altered state system
7. Negative thought buster
8. Chakra balancer
9. Sport Energy Pak--Walk-around portable energy amplifier or vitalizer
10. Sport Energy Pak--Magnetic field applicator
11. Energizer for drinking water, hot tub, and bath water
12. Pulsed magnetic field

SPORT ENERGY PAK- For safety, do not hand hold the SEP when hooked up to the aromatherapy ionizer. The emitters of this breakthrough unit also double as a Sport Energy Pack-TM, and are also sold separately. The SEP can be worn in a fanny pack or worn on your belt for vital energetic benefits while walking, hiking, doing office work, working with clients, doing errands, shopping, etc. This portable vitalizer also energetically potentizes water into an energy vital medium.

JUST ONE VITAL BREATH

When you deeply breathe in these designer negative ions, the difference is instantly noticeable, for most people. At a recent Whole Life Exposition in San Francisco, more than 100 participants came by our booth and took a deep breath of the aroma vital ions. More than 90% said that they felt an energetic lift and expansion of consciousness in just one breath! Many who stayed a while longer experienced an intuitive opening and a strong sense of here and now with accompanying euphoria.

The LEA ionizer has two distinct settings for two distinct experiences:

1. You can set the output field to low to keep the space clear of energetic disturbances, unblock intuition, and vitalize analytical-linear thinking and physical activities in your daily life.

2. Set the output field to high to generate deep altered states of consciousness. This setting generates deep levels of relaxation and states of stress-free meditation. This setting is not conducive to linear thinking or office work. It can be an almost thought-free altered state with a deep intuitive opening. This is where voyagers undertake a vision quest and travel the subtle inner energies of formerly unconscious processes. It is a deep, euphoric release of psychophysical, traumatic cellular patterning.

This supervital ion generator brings you all of the benefits of earlier ionizers, ozone generators, and aromatherapy and it also brings you amplified vitality or chi force like our earlier LEA models. This instrument also comes in six different, plug-in formulations to generate the specific designer energies you want for every activity. This system is a breakthrough for personal energy management, altered states, stress release, chakra balancing, releasing traumatic cellular memory, psychic development, radionics, expanded creativity, deep relaxation, aromatherapy, and the numerous benefits that our other LEA models provide--except in cost. The LEA aromatherapy ionizer is considerably less expensive. It requires no physical holding of emitters or body contact, but rather operates hands free. Just one low cost unit makes these supervital ions available, in most cases, to the whole house, office, workshop, deck, garden, pool area, spa area, and yard.

You may also place this system within a few inches of speakers and integrate the ionized environment with sound (although this process is more effective with two ionizing instruments.) We call this vitalized, super oxygen ionic field effect--Fourth Dimensional Sound-™. 4D sound is a true negative thought buster that transports you beyond the senses.

RADIONICS

The LEA aromatherapy ionizer's ability to help you co-create both a deep and clear intuitive state make it a natural for you to interface with the target recipient's etheric body. It makes an ideal radionics or action at a distance device. Place a Polaroid photograph next to the gold plated emitters and amplify your intention or action at a distance while in an altered state. The operator can control this instrument's thought coherent field output level as well as choose the desired energetic formulation.

Euphoria and vital energy clearing now comes in many flavors:

Formula One: Increased physical energy, grounding, vital well being, material success, release of unworkable survival beliefs

Formula Two: Increased sexual energy, passion, lower heart chakra, intention, physical desires

Formula Three: Mental clarity, higher heart chakra, releasing mental blocks and negative thought forms, self-esteem

Formula Four: Deep meditation, sleep inducing, astral travel, dream vitality

Formula Five: Intuition, higher love, bliss, energetic regeneration, psychic development

Formula Six: Physical, mental, intuitive, causal and spiritual integration, release of duality, and experience of oneness.

Researchers can expand and amplify their results by adding another formulation to their basic emitter flavor: Formula One and Formula Five, or Formula Two and Formula Five, etc.

The two beautiful gold plated emitters (SEP) are approximately eight inches long and come in six different energetic characters or energy formulations of psychotronic art. The look is art deco meets Star Trek. This multitask system is by far the most versatile and the best dollar value in ionizers, ozone generators, oxygen, aromatherapy, radionics, psychotronics, and subtle energy amplification available.

The gold emitter (SEP) unit comes with an attractive metal stand that can easily hold (magnetically attach) up to six sets of emitters. As many as six emitter units can effectively be placed in front of or on top of a speaker or near a fan. For a truly 4D sound experience, get two stands and a minimum of two emitters and place one set (or preferably more) on top of or in front of each speaker. Also available are the beautiful Stargate psychotronic art pieces, whose design was channeled. They are gold plated, 15-inch tall pyramid stands with a 10-inch base and can hold as many as 10 emitter sets. They are a "sacred geometry" configuration that can energize and transform your office desk or dining room table. They can also be placed on top of or in front of your speakers or fan. Stargate further organizes the LEA energy for even a more balanced effect. (In all cases, a sheet of plastic should be placed between the Stargate unit and the speakers, for insulating purposes.)

ACCOUNTING FOR THE LEA'S TRANSFORMATIVE NATURE; GET MORE OUT OF LIFE BY EVOKING

THE MOMENT

The LEA is a device that helps you do nothing in a consequential way: to work smart and not hard.

In this book I have mentioned scientific papers referring to the physical benefits from pulsed magnetic fields, etc. I have discussed these papers not to state or imply that the LEA has been tested on the subject of pulsed magnetic fields and its benefits for the human body. I have done no such testing and therefore I cannot offer unsubstantiated health claims. I offer this research to show that magnetic therapy has a therapeutic reputation in many countries. I offer it here as an answer to the questions posed by many persons who are unfamiliar with these new technologies: Is the LEA similar to other devices and, if so, can that similarity be harmful? As you can see, there is a historic similarity. But not only is the LEA not harmful--in other countries, devices that are somewhat similar are used in mainstream therapy!

WHAT'S IN IT FOR ME?

Some researchers conclude that the LEA's meditative, organizing, optimizing nature is a product of its pulsed magnetic field. Others say that scalar waves coupled with a pulsed magnetic field permeate the subtle bodies and are the workhorse of the instrument. Still others declare that the chakra-attuned energy fields open the energy body and help in the release of blocks. Some say that in using the input well to greatly amplify the energy fields of tarot cards, affirmations, minerals, herbs, essential oils, crystals, etc., you are actually performing a very powerful alchemical and ritualistic magic process. Radionic researchers see it an amplifier of causative intention or a psychoactive wishing machine. Hypnotherapists say that it is an ideal induction machine devoid of distracting and annoying artifacts. Some researchers claim that it is an orgone accumulator for the 1990's. One researcher calls it a tachyon generator. Some say that the LEA aromatherapy ionizer is the ultimate essential oil dispenser and in combination with negative ions (high vitality ions), ozone, and scalar waves fulfills the promise of aromatherapy. One entity hunter ("ghostbuster") feels that it helps release entities (supporting them in flying away) as he directs them, he says, to hospitals to be reincarnated. Still other researchers claim that the Coaching Self Inquiry audio programs are quite capable of bringing about deep release of core identity patterning all by themselves! A group of radionics practitioners have said recently that the LEA amplifies intention and as long as you can conjure up a positive, high-resonance intention or desire, the LEA's field will clear your negative belief systems enabling you to become more focused upon the positive intention. Once a cleared, focused causative intention for transformation has been achieved, the release of mental baggage regarding it is simple and forthcoming. As some researchers say--your LEA meditation can become more profitable than your work! (This is not a statement regarding the financial value in becoming an ORI Inc. distributor for the LEA, but rather a tribute to the manner in which the LEA's field energy clears conflict energies supporting a more intuitive decision making process." Channel Peter Wolf says that it opens the space to 9D shakti. One Freudian analyst says that by releasing core sexual imprints through sacred spot insertion, you break up toilet training patterns and stressful sexual associations and everything else is just surface work. A few time shifters swear that the process of bringing up pictures from the past into the time reversal energy of the LEA enables researchers to live from the now. One entheogenic researcher says that through the purification and amplification of sacred substances, shamamistic experiences are more easily brought about. Who to believe? We, at ORI Inc., feel that it is the synchronistic blend of numerous technologies that make up its ultimate result. When an instrument manifests that is very close to truth, it seems to be a fundamental basic building block or support system for the amplified integration of many seemingly different paths. Also, that through deep intuitive listening and interacting with the energy coaching audio exercises, one is able to experience out or release energetic armoring. Many people have reported that they have released an ache or pain or that some physical complaint has transformed. At this point in time, until we are able to fund some specific studies, we will have to conclude that the LEA's field effect or sphere of influence is entirely bioenergetic and psychosomatic in nature. Without scientific study, we can offer no scientifically supportable healing claims. All comments at this time regarding physical effects are anecdotal. We hear stories from researchers of amplified mellowness, entities disappearing, the satisfactory de-ghosting of houses, the seeing of auras, and communicating with their angels. A new one we heard recently was placing Herkimer diamonds on the input well of the LEA and securing them in rubber caps for the SEP to open higher octaves of consciousness. Another was essential oils on the input well to amplify their energetic signature for radionic aromatherapy at a distance. What next? All metaphysics aside—it certainly feels good. And perhaps that is a common denominator of this experience-- how you feel before, during and for days after an energy clearing session with the LEA. All exploration from our point of view is in the domain of subtle body energy clearing for expanded creative freedoms!

ENERGETIC TRANSFORMATION REQUIRES DAILY PRACTICE: EXPERIENCING THE ULTIMATE IN DEEP RELAXATION

Additional Points of Interest

When you have a feeling that is bothering you, begin an LEA meditation and focus on being one with the feeling. Researchers report that the wall or separation or resistance between themselves and the uncomfortable feeling quickly releases and the unwanted feeling or limitation dissolves. As you learn to sense feelings, they quickly dissolve and give way to creative imagination. Sensing is learning to deeply relax the mind and is an accelerated and rewarding path to non-ordinary states of consciousness normally achieved only through many years of meditation. By permeating your unwanted feelings with your conscious attention or life energy, cleared and amplified by the LEA, you are often bringing about a spontaneous release of pent-up mental charge or energy. The LEA energy field amplifies the stress-releasing effects of meditation by opening up experiences of spacious openness and optimal relaxation that some participants say lasts for days. The LEA can be described as a meditation amplifier and aid to meditative or religious or metaphysical practices, because it assists in keeping your field of awareness clear of conflict or of disorganized energy.

To interact with the LEA's bioactive field is to learn the ultimate technology in mental and physical relaxation. Many biofeedback technologies of the 70's had a goal of deep relaxation, which thousands of people participated in through a service my father and I developed called telephonic voice stress analysis. It later became known as computer voice stress analysis. The release of core patterning through deep relaxation was one of my main goals in my founding of Introspective Technology Services, a biofeedback training company, in 1977. Now those goals of very deep relaxation and core pattern release are attainable, on a daily basis, with much less fuss and cost than my earlier biofeedback processing. You can discover the value of taking regular LEA mental vacations and accomplish core behavioral change without having to leave your home or office. If you like to get away, take a walk with an SEP and you will have the opportunity to learn how to let go of worry-generated fatigue. These advanced states of deep relaxation can be reached much faster than through the earlier technology of biofeedback training and clearing.

When I founded ITS, building GSR and Computer Voice Analyzer instruments, radionics and psychotronics were largely in their formative stages.

Eventually, ITS--a technology ahead of its time--became a consultant to the largest educational corporation in the world and engaged in seven years of well-funded research. The relaxation response was measured through microscopic muscle tremors and could be performed telephonically. After measuring thousands of clients' vocal responses as they answered a psychological test called a stress assessment, I can report that easily attainable, cost-effective, and deep levels of blissful relaxation make all the difference in the world. When it comes to one's capacity to deal with stress successfully, a very deep letting go of stressful issues on a daily basis can greatly increase your capacity for handling complexity and absurdity! One researcher says that it is an effective antidote for dealing with the confusion generated by controlling and dominating personality types. We invite you to release these glitches of conflict energy before they take root in your life. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Clear the slate daily and start each day anew. Release the stress carry-over factor that causes each day full of energy "dings" to pile up on top of the next. When you don't release that daily stress, time becomes more solid and you then have less of it, resulting in premature aging. This daily bliss factor has everything to do with the quality of your life. Blissful experiences not based upon external reality can be a prime motivating factor for staying true to your higher principals and vision even during hard times. Experiencing the self has a transformative effect upon every nuance of your life. Self-fulfillment can be as easy as an inner voyage or trip back to the source of life, reality, freedom, and creativity. Experiencing contentment can be as easy as taking a trip back to basic uncomplicated self. We invite you to unburden yourself and have an experience of your core sense of self. Your personal best is yet to come.

KEEP YOUR VISION CLEAR -- EVERYTHING GENERATES FROM THERE

Amplifying Your Scalar Field

The latest in brain research suggests that your brain outputs an informational carrying field that interfaces with other energy fields that create reality. Your brain's scalar field generates the "waveforms" that make energy go more solid to mold to your consciously created desires and intentions. Your brain operates like a Life Energy Amplifier. The trouble is that it is suffering from clogged energy pathways from being fed too much conflict energy. It is your brain's amplified counter intentions, or subconscious stress-producing programming generated from fuzzy, unclear desires, that bring you unwanted realities. The LEA might be seen, as a number of researchers suggest, as an amplifier of your own scalar field. It may serve as an intention clearer and amplifier. LEA researchers very often talk of a renewed optimism in their lives even before results are discovered to justify it. Unwarranted optimism, or perhaps a "precognitive" optimism. This cycle might be that as you clear away the energetic blocks that keep optimism suppressed or armored, optimism surfaces and becomes amplified. Your desires and intentions reflect this optimism surge. This optimistic flow of energy is amplified by the LEA and becomes a major fabric of your reality. In other words, what you concentrate on during LEA Self Inquiry sessions--what you focus on and intend-- becomes amplified and installed in your perception of reality. Researchers speak of the LEA's positive optimistic nurturing touch; some describe this optimism as the radiance of infinity breaking through into your life.

You might look upon the LEA as an affirmation amplifier. The increased vitality and expanded sense of self you feel during your LEA energy clearing sessions manifest in your personal reality. The essence of your reality becomes vitality or wholeness. You raise the frequency of reality by molding it from the scalar energy of your cleared and vitalized intentions. No one has ever been damaged from an overwhelming experience of bliss! Experiencing the bliss self has a transformative effect upon aging and health. This is essentially part of radionics theory. You end up after continual, daily energy clearing with a free sense of being uninhibited by previously imagined and unconsciously affirmed boundaries.

QUIET MINDS AND AFFIRMATIONS

Most people's minds are very noisy, because they are full of chatter about what they wanted and didn't get. They thrash around with justifications, failed expectations, excuses, explanations, and new goal attainment strategies on top of old, unworkable strategies, etc. Automatic, reactive planning and replanning takes up a lot of life energy. "Achievement" becomes effortful, compulsive, and obsessive. Do you sometimes look at your life as a bundle of unfulfilled desires? I used to. This noisy voice was often referred to as the voice-over back in my early est days in 1972. A quiet mind (the product of dedicated LEA sessioning) is quite correctly called freedom because it is a peaceful vacation-like space most appropriate for blissing out and subsequent goal affirmation. Goal attainment is the fruit of the openness that comes from deep experiences of bliss. Intuitive manifestation comes from this quiet mind. It is a mind holding on to nothing. It is a state of open nowness, exerting no effort, force, or pretense.

The conflict energy people often experience in their attempt to manifest is between the ego and the higher or intuitive self. This conflict of ideas and values sorts itself out as one releases desires that are merely ego based and channels desires from the higher self that bring long-term growth and thus long-term happiness. This quiet space is the source of all highs and the space of pure freedom. This space gives birth to synchronicity and synergy. It is the abode of nowness and openness.

As you affirm a specific desire, for instance, "I have all the qualities I need to be a good lover," your psychophysical programming comes up to object to this affirmation. The LEA coach affirms this statement of desire or goal and this triggers the subconscious objection. As this counter programming comes up from the subconscious, it is neutralized and balanced by the LEA's energetic field, and with some focused sensing it drops away. One gradually ceases identifying with it and the cycle of attachment completes itself. This result may require a number of sessions, in some cases, to notice the patterning weakening. The more you work with the LEA, the quicker you get to core patterning at deeper levels.

When I trained personal coaches or consultants back in the 1970's in intensive workshops which lasted for six weekends, the tremendous results we attained came from utilizing the affirmations to dig up all the resistances and to discover the emotions and attitudes which blocked manifestation. Now many LEA researchers are reporting these same transformations in just a few sessions. Some are reporting a synchronicity or serendipity in which one clears one's intention and the objective manifests within days. Some have said that they just "knew" that it was going to happen. The anxiety around the goal has dissolved. These timely manifestations emanate from cleared intentions, from clarity and openness. One becomes open to being a good lover. One drops one's "can't-have" beliefs and expectations, or the armoring that keeps "good lover energy" encumbered with human reaction and resistance. Ego will and distance dissolves. As researchers apply the Coaching Self Inquiry audio tapes, ego boundaries are dissolved and the result is openness. Fixed negative expectations dissolve and optimism fills the space.

DISSOLVE THE ANXIETY AROUND THE GOAL

Having what you truly want restores vitality and aliveness

One technique that has had quite profound results involves taking the affirmation and flowing it through your body's energy field as in Vision Quest

Exercise 5 from:

- Left to right
- Right to left
- Head to toe
- Toe to head
- Floor to ceiling
- Ceiling to floor

See, hear, and feel the affirmation acting like a broom, vital chi wave, ocean wave, river of clearing, etc. Breathe and flow the affirmation through any "havingness" blocks until they fully dissolve. Pre-experience the goal as already manifested. Having what you want in life definitely restores a great deal of vital life energy! The ultimate result of this work is that your desires come true as you conceive them.

When you place the SEPs in front of or on top of speakers and plug the SEPs into the VisionQuest LEA and play your affirmation/manifestation tape, the words emanating from the speakers are permeated with the vital energetic field and speed the release and reprogramming cycle. As you hear your affirmation a few times, you will notice a shift in how you perceive your goal. Be open to the movement of subconscious content, emptying into your conscious mind. More free choice is soon to arise. The more you work this process, the closer you get to luminous intent. If you want to process with the fastest manifestation machine in the west, use the VisionQuest system in conjunction with the Stargate aromatherapy ionizer. Some say that they can feel their cellular memory instantly opening to their luminous will. Remember, the purpose of this technology is to make you happy!

My first major collision with affirmations was in 1978 with my client, Darren, who insisted that he had a Lear jet at the San Francisco airport and actually believed it! He had just lost his janitorial job and could not pay his bills. He told his friends that he owned a Lear Jet and was worth millions. His creditors even heard the tale! They were both angry and confused. He was suffering from no havingness followed by false havingness (being broke thinking he was rich). He had continually affirmed an unreality for so long that he had actually believed the lie. This goal was way out of reach for him and it caused him and his family much stress.

Since he was a true believer in affirmations and almost nothing else--after all, they had made him etheric millions--I started him working on very basic affirmations, that he was okay, a good person, was open to truth, etc. It took many hours to shift his illusionary reality over to finding something real about his life. He finally realized the impact his hallucinatory truths (untruths) had on others and what damage they did for his credit rating. Needless to say, people were not impressed with his affirmed “millions.” He did, however, learn to temper his zest for big reality leaps by affirming inner qualities and this process gradually shifted his feelings of low self-esteem. It took many years to undo the damage.

From that point on, I had a mild disdain for affirmations. It seemed like many people were avoiding looking at the causes for low levels of production and instead affirming falsely high ones. It seemed easier and more comfortable to believe one was generally doing “great” than to confront where one was doing poorly and to discover the cause. I remember trying affirmations in the later 1970’s with a workshop I was teaching at Synergy Seminars, and later with my company, Applied Communication Services, Inc. I had students affirm and then communicate what came up—a new process for using affirmations. I used the affirmations to dig into subconscious programming, to bring up the mental patterns that contradicted the primary affirmed intention. Students would affirm a chosen intention or goal, a desired state of being such as, “I am open to hear others’ feedback about my job performance.” Then the facilitator/coach would ask, “What came up?” The student might reply, “I hate it when people criticize me,” or “I do better than them, anyway,” or “They can’t tell me,” or “I don’t need to listen to the likes of them,” etc. It usually takes a few hours until the student actually integrates the affirmation into the subconscious. Before integration can take place, the counter energies need to surface and release. Clearing an affirmation or statement of intention can take some time as there is often much counter programming nullifying it. If the intention or goal is worth while, then taking a few hours to clear up the underlying traumatic forces can save a lot of stress and disappointment later. I successfully delivered this coaching service to business people for many years.

To intend and then affirm the goal or intention without first clearing up contradictory and self-limiting belief systems creates a stress-producing confusion that will hinder desired manifestation. After much intention clearing, the student becomes open to honest and focused intention and is willing and able to stand by that intention. The goal has been pre-experienced and integrated into consciousness at many levels. The intention has been cleared of psychophysical belief systems that thwart the primary intention and block manifestation. Some students spent many hundreds of hours running or processing 50 or so goals/desires/intentions to the state of cleared objective. Some former students get very elaborate about goals and intentions and employed this and other process for many years in co-coaching settings. They first intend inner states of consciousness-openness, honesty, clarity, forgiveness, etc. before taking on bigger, more complicated external games.

After much inner affirmation sessioning (setting the stage), they graduated to intending outer realities such as great jobs, ideal relationship partners, more money, successful investments, specific possessions, full consulting practices, others stopping suppressing them, athletic achievement, etc. The key to the overall raising of their ability to manifest was their inner clarity (intuition) on what they wanted and the clearing of confusion from past mishaps that formerly led them into repeating the past. This technology, with some modification and development, later evolved into the Goal Dynamics technology that I used as a consultant to Werner Erhard and est. This evolved into the Goal Programming technology that later became available in the Expansion Workshop and in workbook form in the early 80's. I republished this workbook recently for the personal coaching public. During these many years of Goal Programming workshops, I watched thousands of people intend a goal and work through confusion, releasing steps to experiencing their goals with increased clarity, and with some of the original juice revisited and rehabilitated. However, many students required follow-up one-to-one personal goal coaching sessions because the effects of past affirmed failures were still too much for them to overcome.

We sometimes introduced biofeedback instrumentation such as GSR and Voice Stress Analysis into the personal coaching sessions to measure the psychophysical force being released in the luminous intent process. Luminous intent is a term that Lazaris uses to call what you have left after you have released your manifestation blocks.

My most motivated students spent many years working with these goal affirmation processes and other experimental processes used to dig deep and release the core patterning at the heart of manifestation difficulties. Later, when NLP became popular, these same students would add to their repertoire deep levels of hypnosis and do guided visualizations in the trance state on the successful manifestation of their desire. The NLP technology which I later trained in with John Bandler was an added step in the integration and manifestation of desired realities.

As the drug Ecstasy became popular and was still legal, of course, researchers would take it and perform guided visualizations of their ideal states of being and ideal goal outcomes. This process became quite a Marin County craze. Shamanistic journeys using Ecstasy, smart drugs, NLP, biofeedback, sensory deprivation tanks, various processing technologies, breathing exercises, and goal chanting became all the rage. There was even a religious group in Berkeley that would chant for possessions like cars, boats, planes, and houses. My first reaction was that this seemed a sacrilege, but later I had a healthy belly laugh. After all, abundance is supposedly our inner nature. Does infinity know any limitations? I don't think so!

In the late 1980's, I became fascinated with radionics, the transmission of energetically pure intention at a distance into a client's energy body. I researched the SE-5 for the first SE-5 distribution company and had my research paper published in Search, the graduate research publication of radionics. I worked with my many students and clients on using psychotronic and radionic instrumentation to help clear subconscious counter-intention programming and to amplify purified or cleared intention. We built many devices to put people in their most optimal and useful state of consciousness to manifest their hearts' desires. I built many psychoactive devices that to some degree opened the doors of perception to intuitive information. I built many beds that utilized crystals, gemstones, magnets, tachyon cells, orgone layers, beam tubes, lasers, copper, sacred geometry, pyramids, negative ionizers, Lazaris, multi wave generators, Tesla coils, caduceus coils, radionics equipment, biocircuits, flashing lights, speakers that vibrate your body with music, colored lights, aroma therapy, ozone etc. Terry Patton and the early Tools for Exploration catalog kept me well supplied with products and information. David Wagner of Advanced Tachyon supported my research with his valuable consulting time and many of his wonderful energy products. Tom Hall of Clarus systems was also very generous with noteworthy products and advice and so were Ed Skilling, Bob Beck, Jim Karnstead, Peter Linderman, Tom Brown, and especially our German research group.

A JOURNEY TO THE SOURCE OF CREATION

My main goal was to energy clear traumatic cellular memory and the chakras, thereby entering the causal plane and preprogramming desired realities to later experience in regular life as physical reality. I modified and combined many types of early subtle energy equipment and hired many engineers to custom tailor circuitry to my specs. This equipment and subsequent modifications were expensive. I spent about $200,000 worth of time and money, and produced some of the most complicated, breakable, cumbersome, heavy, immobile, and troublesome devices ever seen. Most of them, however, generated some amazing altered states. I had great fun in designing and creating these visions, but the end result was not worth offering to others. I was trying to modify already existing equipment into something else. In most cases, it was better off before. It usually did not lend itself to being recreated and did not combine well with other devices. One effect would often be cancelled by the counter effects of another. Often I succeeded in generating a big confusion. None of the equipment I purchased or had donated to me for research was wrong or not working; it just did not perform to my lofty expectations. I created many giant artifacts of distraction and amusement for my easily entertained friends. The more assorted and wild the effects that were generated, the more loudly they cheered. Most were looking for disco type effects, sort of a three-ring circus of altered state dancing bears with flashing goggles and a 1960's light show. In retrospect, this research taught me a lot. It helped me discern what I really wanted and how I would use it. Other than the orgone accumulator that I built, nothing was worth saving. I sold it off taking a big loss. I went on vacation and licked my wounds.

The very last thing I wanted to do in the world was to manufacture a new piece of equipment. However, I realized that what I truly wanted simply did not exist, anywhere--at any price. But then I discovered a German doctor who did have a piece of equipment that was far beyond anything I had previously encountered. It was his life's work. This is how the LEA came into my life.

When the LEA came into my life some 10 years ago, I decided upon the urging of my friend David K to make an affirmation tape affirming my most desired realities. He suggested that this was a good way to start the next phase of research. After some exposure to the LEA technology, he felt that he or I could honestly go to Vegas and affirm jackpots. I did not. I protested, "Not affirmations again!" Where's Darren's Lear jet? More etheric millions, just what I need. I was really more interested in personal transformation through a device that opened intuition than I was in money. What I really wanted was a great game of personal transformation and higher states of awareness for people, free of the suppressive organizations that I had encountered in the past. I knew if the device lived up to the German research I had studied, then a return on my 15 years of time and financial investment would surely follow. My relationship partner at the time and I recorded our voices chanting in unison our desired outcomes. They started to sound like mantras. We omitted gambling goals. I chose many intentions regarding the LEA and our line of German smart pills, and what I wanted to achieve with them. We would bask in the LEA's psychoactive field nightly and affirm out loud our hearts' desires along with the audio tape. We performed this procedure without probing into our subconscious to find out what might be blocking these desires. We simply affirmed. This process required about half an hour per night. We just simply affirmed and hoped these realities would take root, as we intuited that many releases were taking place below the level of awareness. Mostly, it felt great, but it was almost spooky sometimes. I occasionally had images of witchcraft, sorcery, and Atlantis. These ancient images did not last for long and soon gave way to high level expediency. Our doubts vanished. It was almost like we knew something great was about to happen and our fears were alleviated. We faithfully performed this procedure for three months and then let it go. We became so busy with ORI's marketing of smart pills, in particular OxyBliss, that we no longer had time for nightly manifestation exercises. Our company, through its expanded distributor base, grew, with little advertising, in five years to 14,000 customers! We enjoyed almost seven years of the good life, with much time off for sailing, surfing, sailboarding, vacations, much LEA research and finally my trip to India to be with H.W.L.Poonja (known as Poonjaji, or Papaji), whose process was to release all desires and find your true self.

The processes of Ramana Maharshi, Poonjaji, Robert Adams, and Jean Klein were also valuable, as I had learned, through using their audio tapes and the LEA to quiet my mind and explore desirelessness. This is a good first stage to the affirmation of intention.

The fruits of this study are manifest in my Coaching Self Inquiry audio tape program and are an essential prelude to successful manifestation.

Some time ago, I looked back at the period when my earlier partner and I affirmed our goals with the LEA and realized that more than 90% of our goals came true! We became very prosperous, which gave us the time and money to research the LEA and the material of self-inquiry, which were our fondest and highest desires. Only a few desires did not manifest. Even the slowly manifesting desire of owning a sailboat finally came out. I could not get clear on what type to buy, a trailerable one for Lake Tahoe, the Sea of Cortez, and Florida, or a larger catamaran for the bay. This confusion completed itself when a friend of mine loaned me the use of his sailboat to “store” at my dock. I have used it every time I have wanted to for the last five years. Between that boat, my friend Dan’s boat, and sailboarding, my sailing time was booked up. Thank you, Donny! I even found a free dinghy floating on the ocean, and I also now “store” a Boston rowing dory.

It is my overall point of view that the LEA affirmations have paid off bigger than I had ever expected. Perhaps the LEA, from some researchers’ point of view, is best utilized with affirmations in the old style of affirming intentions or goals and then letting come up to consciousness whatever blocks them. Some call it a manifestation machine. The LEA goal affirmation work feels like a combination of radionics, psychotronics, reality creation, hypnosis, shamanistic journeys, meditation, subconscious programming, chakra balancing, psychological process, and intuition opening. It is a non-ordinary state of beingness. It is also magical metaphysical fun. The 1976 affirmation process, brought back by popular demand, has been resurrected from the old days because it is mind blowing when applied together with the LEA (with whatever LEA model you choose to work with.) All LEA models neutralize and balance emotionally and attitudinally charged, self-limiting belief systems while opening intuitive perception and deeply programming for the most accelerated manifesting we have seen to date. Many earlier LEA manifesters used questionable manifestation technology and nevertheless eliminated many undesirable belief systems in the process of getting what they truly want. Some released drug addiction, financial limitations, and headaches. Some found optimal mates, created deeper relationships with their children, and cleaned up stressful relationships with their ex-spouses. Almost all found an inner sanctuary, with the help of peaceful LEA vision quests supporting their getaway from the mental overwhelm of the workaday world. Some of this conjuring enters the realm of miracles. Here is how our research group suggests you might go about having in life what you intuitively want most.

AFFIRMATION PROCESSING

Before going wild on gargantuan goals (the everything-at-once syndrome), choose a lower-level goal to work with that suggests an internal state you wish to cultivate. You might visualize this first step as creating optimal consciousness as a preparation for the manifestation of your biggest dreams. Choose a goal within your current reality: love, openness, faith, honesty, truthfulness, sexual intimacy, steadfastness of purpose, focus, sensitivity, flexibility, fun-loving, well-prepared for school, etc.

You may also choose the absence or disappearance of an unwanted internal state such as stress, anxiety, convulsive and obsessive behavior, fear, hate, greed, unwanted desires, judgments, mental resistance, confusion, unwillingness, etc.

Choose an affirmation you want to manifest. Write it as if it has already turned out. Some examples:

- I have let go of the fear of sex and I now love sharing my intimate feelings.
- I am open to physical exercise and love moving my body to music.
- I have enough money to do whatever I want when I want it.

Record it in your voice on audio tape, about one hour is the best sessioning time. Say it over and over again, allowing intermittent silent spaces, on audio tape; background music can be a pleasant addition. Affirm it vocally on tape about every 45-60 seconds for perhaps 30 minutes to start with. Some like to hear the affirmation more or less frequently.

Take up the LEA and release into a deeply relaxed state of no thought, or at least as few thoughts as possible. Come into the now free of past entanglements. You can use my Self Inquiry audio tapes for this as they effectively set the stage for an open mind residing in the now. You can work with a Self Inquiry tape until you are deeply relaxed and then shift to your affirmation tape.

Press the play button and play your affirmation tape and affirm with your prerecorded voice either out loud or silently. Let whatever comes up in reaction to your affirmed goal come up. Grief, hatred, self-loathing, disconnection, denial, nothing, fear, counter beliefs, wanting to leave, hating the LEA, feeling ripped off, etc. Things get triggered. Affirm the positive and take what comes up. The LEA's energetic field will be deeply processing your psychophysical programming to open the subconscious and thus clear your intention. As you affirm your desired reality, energy blocks located in the chakras and your mental body will be neutralized and balanced. Your energy body and cellular armoring will be continually cleared so that whatever comes up in reaction will flow away. One hour of this LEA-assisted processing is probably worth about 10-50 hours of non-LEA-assisted inspection.

After you have completed the first half-hour session, you may rewind and do another half an hour if you wish. As one's goals becomes cleared and manifested, choose another objective--still within reach but a bit more lofty. Record a whole hour's tape, leaving approximately 60 seconds processing time. You may also wish to add a new affirmation or make a group affirmation tape. My very successful affirmation tape contained almost 35 affirmation statements, of which 90% came true within six months after three months of half an hour per day sessioning time! Many goals were lofty!

If I had not created this affirmation tape and took the time to do my LEA affirmation process, life's usual goal unfoldment process would have probably taken 10 times longer and generated a lot more stress.

ALTERED STATES OF CONSCIOUSNESS ARE THE WINGS OF DESIRE

As you continually work with this technology, your energy field will become very open to the desired manifestation. Notice the desired goal appearing in your mind and then in your life. Witness its becoming more solid and real as it weaves its way through your ideas, plans, intentions, desires, and actions. Your affirmations as amplified vital energy or life force become integrated into your energy field and become a natural part of your creative process. Soon you will have what you want. It is then time to choose another or other goals and do the same with them.

Richard, an enthusiastic LEA researcher from Southern California, said faith and the LEA-altered state were both of vital importance in the crucial early stages of goal manifestation. He said various Biblical statements became self-evidently true to him while he practiced the LEA-augmented affirmation process: "Ask and it shall be given," "Seek and you shall find," and, "Knock and it shall be opened."

Don't get too specific at first. "I have all the money I need," as opposed to, "I have a million dollars in a Swiss bank account." "I am living in a great house," as opposed to, "I live at 22 Elm Street." Start general and get more specific as you become clearer on the details. Allow the details to filter in from the subconscious and fill in as you follow your path to goal unfoldment. This is a path of goal manifestation outlined in bliss. Manifestation is a process of gradient self-realization that opens to unfoldment.

The only reason I can think of why someone would not be euphorically thrilled to work on having what they most want is that what they are "choosing" to manifest is not their own goal, but something forced onto them by another. Even these goal implants will clear with enough LEA sessioning. Past conditioning drops away. You are meditating and concentrating the goal into manifestation. You are sensing it, defining it, and redefining it into clarity and then creation. You see it, entertain it, and visualize it while in a deep intuitive state. Confusion will come up as your subconscious clears and you will discover the truth of your desire buried under a heap of conditioned beliefs. You owe it to yourself to have in life what you truly want! The LEA is not a toy, but rather a shamanistic tour of your own spiritual and metaphysical capabilities.

Stay in touch with your feelings. If you don't like them, cultivate admiring and accepting them and they will soon shift. The cycle goes program/release, affirm/release, intend/release, manifest/release. You record your voice on tape affirming or intending, and you leave perhaps 30-60 seconds blank space so you will have time and space in deep trance to allow the mind to release its preprogrammed objections. Suspend judgements about what comes to light. When you judge, you often get stuck with it. The LEA's psychoactive field clears traumatic cellular memory, thus opening the space for affirmed goals to become reality.

You can also potentialize this goal affirmation process (amplify its result) by placing your written affirmation on the input well of the LEA Vision Quest models and a picture of yourself next to the electrodes for radionic broadcast. You can leave the output setting on low. Just go about your life and feel the affirmation processing your manifestation barriers.

You may also want to place the affirmation/goal on the input well and while holding the gold emitters feel the affirmation energy permeating your field. Sense the integration process. You may also place the gold electrodes of the battery-powered unit into a bath, hot tub, or drinking water and enjoy the energy. Never do this with a wall plug in model. You can place both the affirmation and your picture inside the Stargate unit for deep integration. You can place the written goal on a SEP and carry it around with you in a fanny pack or holster and sense the deep subconscious attunement.

When I started this research 10 years ago, what I wanted to turn out was-- "I want people to use the LEA to affirm their heartfelt desires and experience their ability to change their minds about why they can't manifest them."

This has come true in a deeper manner than I ever imagined.

Some affirmations I am currently working on are:

- I am well organized.
- I have ample time to have an abundant personal life.
- I have all the money I need.
- I enjoy my work and the people I interact with.
- I use little or no effort in getting things done.
- I stay in touch with my experience and communicate it as it comes up.
- I have no incomplete communication, nothing has piled up, and I am able to bask in the now.
- I quickly let go of stressful relationships and move on to like-minded high integrity players.
- My space is large and my health is great.
- I have released complaining and stay focused upon results.
- I am living true to my standards.
- I have more money than I spend, so I save.
- My conversations with my mother are loving and open and stress-free.

I consider this affirmation process to be perhaps the greatest gift of your association with the LEA. If not for it, the LEA and its assorted technology would not be here. Luminous intention borders on magic as your cleared and potentialized desires shape your experience. This process is always reported as lifting people's spirits. As you learn to interact with your higher self, stuck conditions lift and creative energy starts flowing again. Life becomes more fluid. You learn to regain the power of your word. Researchers learn quickly not to make promises that they can not keep. This weakens their power to manifest. Clean up your act and you will learn to intend the energy of beauty and perfection to all around you. You will become a super conductor for luminous intentions as you release the electrical resistances to more desirable energies. Get clear on your intentions and you will get clear on your life. What a high it is to take a vision quest into your subconscious to get to the truth about what it is you say that you want the most. Fine-tuning your goals is the game of those who are truly open to unlimited having.

We invite you into discovering the nature and make-up of your most desired reality.

CREATE AN LEA ROCK SCULPTURE AND AMPLIFY ITS GROUNDING LIFE FORCE

Rock sculptures are becoming increasingly popular for their artistic appeal as well as their positive energetic effects. As you walk in the wilderness, you may notice rocks piled up in various artistic renderings. Sometimes they appear to be bonded together as they seem balanced in unlikely ways and appear to almost defy gravity. Sometimes they look very extra-terrestrial. Sometimes they transport you to another moment in time and sometimes they seem to have the power to stop certain types of thought patterns. They can be a great creativity enhancer. Rocks are often occupied or inhabited by nature spirits who are here to help us expand our perceptions of life. Some rocks are here to help us fulfill our desires and will do so if admired, loved, and appreciated for who they are. I predict you will be seeing more and more rock sculptures as rocks or mineral deposits are discovered to have a substantial positive effect upon living systems. Rock formations also have positive effects upon in and out earth energy vortex influencing crops as well as weather patterns. They are subtle-energy intention amplifiers. You may wish to study this subject more in depth as you learn more of the nature of rock sculptures and their properties of energy amplification. They also are great feng shui. Let your intuition be your guide to their design and placement. Perform an LEA rock sculpture meditation and become sensitive to your interaction with the rocks before you design your sculpture. Be open to their gifts of peace and joy. Avoid asserting your intention upon them, but rather be open to letting these mineralized beings direct your awareness to their optimum design and placement. Allow the LEA to gently and lovingly shut your mouth and open your mind to higher energetic renderings. The interaction of rock sculptures and LEA units have the synergistic capacity to open your intuition in many unpredictable ways. LEA rock sculptures can get you high and then teach you how to be. The LEA does a wonderful job of adding great aesthetic appeal to rock sculptures, as well as greatly amplifying their mineral content and energetic neutralizing and balancing effects. Placing an SEP connected to the LEA Vision Quest model so it touches a rock sculpture can bring many desired energetic releases to your psyche, as well as an aesthetic look that can beautifully transform many low-vitality environments. You may soon discover that your LEA rock sculpture is your most prized possession.

When hiking with the SEP and our ORI Inc smart pills, many researchers have discovered rocks that literally spoke to them asking to be taken home and put to specific service. Upon taking them home and combining them with the LEA, researchers have experienced many beneficial shifts in consciousness. You may eventually progress with your rock sculptures to placing them into a vessel of water and combining a rock sculpture with a fountain as the LEA does a wonderful job of bestowing its life force and intention amplifying abilities into water. We also suggest that you avoid environmental impacts and take home rocks only where appropriate and lawful. Always ask first!

TRANSFORMING PETS WITH SUBTLE ENERGY

“Animals prefer the negative ion atmosphere”-- Albert P. Krueger, M.D.

It has repeatedly come to our attention that many LEA researchers have experienced surprising results with their pets--dogs, cats, horses, birds, fish, and even livestock. Psychics Peter and Shelly Wolf said they had utilized the LEA to help their dog, Chelsea, release traumatic cellular memory after she had been confined to a kennel for three months. When they turned the LEA on, Chelsea would come over to it and stay for quite a while. What form of guided visualization Chelsea performed she would not say, but it is enough for us to know that she released conditioned patterning and returned to her old self, plus a few barks. Animals and plants are great subjects for personal transformation.

With your choice of LEA emitter/electrode formulas, you can increase energy for exercise or competition, or to relax and unwind their field for animals who have lost touch with that ability. Generally speaking, animals and plants will become more vital with an expanded sensitivity to loving management and higher consciousness. Dogs are particularly noted for becoming deep listeners. You may also notice that the LEA improves the communication between animals or plants and care takers. This is because in the space of openness more subtle perceptions are recognized and more awareness is brought into the game. This particularly holds true for problem pet behavior. The LEA supports presencing the pet in the now in regards to past stressful conditioning. The LEA energetically sweeps the pet subject, thereby releasing conditioned stress reactions and leaving an opening for accelerated learning. The LEA will transform the industry of animal training because it enhances the realization of oneness between animal and trainer. Cats like to cuddle with the LEA, find new vitality, and discover new abilities. Chloe was the first cat to inform us of the LEA feline connection. We do suggest you keep the LEA on low, however, for your initial pet research because some subjects walked right out of the room when the output was set too high. They also immediately returned when the output was turned down to their lower level of preference. Vitalizing your pet's drinking water by first adding liquid minerals and then placing the LEA's SEP into the water for 10 minutes or so over a period of months can make quite a vital difference. First choose whether you desire a more energetic or more relaxed response. Then choose an SEP formulation to match. One of the first success stories I heard eight years ago or so was from a vet who successfully used the LEA to relax a skittish prize racehorse. I later heard from a chiropractor who said the LEA helped him to give adjustments to a defensive racehorse. Another horse person said her horse was more open to training when they were both in the space of the LEA field and she believed that her barriers to success (competitiveness) with the animal were released, letting their relationship become much closer. The best animal trainers are deep listeners, which is a skill that can be gradually learned by continual opening to the LEA's field of release.

I have also heard of a few fish stories including one of a super algae eater that doubled its ability to keep a fish tank clean. There is also a story circulating around of an algae farm that uses the LEA to grow the most vital algae that they have seen to date. I should also mention that some researchers have vitalized water and some have experimented with vitalizing gasoline. One offshore researcher I have heard about cut a deal with a petroleum company for the use of the LEA in vitalizing gas. I have heard rumors that the initial study showed more mileage and a greater efficiency in combustion. I know of another researcher who structured alcohol with the LEA and sold the product to thousands of persons who used it in everything from cars, boats, lawn mowers, motorcycles, planes, etc. I experimented with his product myself and got greater mileage with my car and motorcycle. It also cleared up a rough idle on my motorcycle. I was able to put off tuning my motorcycle for two years after about ten tankfuls. I ran ten tanks of it in my BMW four-cylinder and uphill it acted more like my earlier BMW that had a six-cylinder engine. This is not unreasonable because magnets, which are part of the LEA system, have been used in internal combustion engines for years. They were placed on the fuel lines to align the gas particles for a more organized delivery. The LEA not only uses magnetism, but it adds life energy to whatever substance it permeates. Anytime you employ the LEA with any system--whether internal combustion, electrical, water, plant, animal, plant or human-- you are not only vitalizing their energy body or energy field, but also opening a two-way telepathic line or pathway for communication. You are expanding the potential to apply your own suggestions and directives to that energy body which is pre-physical, meaning you are affecting the physicality of that research subject. Your intention is affecting the pre-physical and influencing the physical outcome of your study or experiment. This has been shown time and time again. The operator's intention, even without the LEA's intention clearing and amplifying effects, changes the outcome of the study because you cannot separate the psychic link between operator and subject! That is how the double blind test came into being.

If you place a saw and operator (actual example) into the essential presence of the LEA field and intend for the blade to become sharper, you will to some degree affect the perception and physical perimeters of that blade. How much you will affect the sharpness of the blade depends on a number of variables such as the holiness of your intention, your concentration, focus, attitudes, emotions, beliefs, quantity of awareness, health, openness, willingness to receive the result, openness to intuition, psychic abilities, etc. However, with the LEA, and with training on your part, you can affect all of these variables that the desired result ultimately depends upon. You can learn to amplify your intentionality during your magic practice of conscious manifestation. This is not too difficult to grasp, because many psychics, without the LEA's assistance, have bent spoons and caused other physical manifestations. My point is that the LEA is a clearer and amplifier of consciously held intentions. Be conscious of what you intend because it may well happen. One LEA researcher bought the LEA and tried to use it to transform his car. It had a big dent in the side. He consciously intended that it look like new. He then muttered under his breath (unconsciously) that he hoped it would get into another accident and that he not be hurt so that he could have their insurance company fix it. As it turned out, when the car was parked that very day, someone hit it, tried to get away and was caught by the police (a rarity in this city) and her insurance company paid for the car to be fixed as good as new. The researcher's cognition was, "Next time I will be more conscious of what I wish for because I never really thought that it would happen". He said he never really believed his thoughts accounted for much in the physical universe. This incident marked a turnaround for him and his ability to have the physical universe manifest according to his intentions. He has since retired to a mansion in San Francisco and is pursuing his heart's desire--the study of metaphysics.

JACK AND THE HEMP STALK

"For decades, plants have been known to grow more rapidly in the presence of electrical discharge" -- Albert P. Krueger, M.D.

I presume that some legal medical marijuana growers use the LEA to vitalize their plants. Insects devour plants after they have become unvital and are on the disintegrating side of the cycle of life. When you keep the plants healthy and happy, they return your kindness many times. If you are a plant person, you may wish to look into the scalar ionizer for vitalizing plant growth. Wilhelm Reich, M.D., used an orgone amplifier or shooter to vitalize seeds before he planted them. We suggest you try this procedure with a small control group of seeds. Place them within one inch of the electrode emitter for about a day, then sprout them and notice the differences over your earlier method. Botanical researchers have long attested to the value of watering their plants with vitalized, mineralized water. Some researchers have installed an SEP into their drip irrigation system and reported that the plants flowered earlier and were not as dependent on the light source. You may have heard of an experiment some time ago where plants were successfully grown in the dark using a pyramid as an energy source! The learning experience here is your conscious permeation of the forces of nature. You are not separate but one with the force that is.

This book is not offered as completed research, but rather as anecdotal stories and non-double-blinded observations to stimulate in-depth research. What is being offered here are suggestions for further research. I suggest you strongly consider the various LEA applications and follow up with research into the various subjects mentioned. We suggest you utilize the Internet and library databases, including perhaps hiring consultants who are familiar with these applications. Please do not jump ahead into any of them without first installing well thought out, sensible procedures to limit the chances of failure or damage to your self and your property. Know before you go! If you have any questions or think you are about ready to blunder, you may call ORI, Inc., for suggestions or consultation. I am reminded here of a story I heard long before the inception of the LEA. A "researcher" discovered hydrogen peroxide and thought this could benefit his car. He poured hydrogen peroxide into his tank. He said it really cleaned out his engine until it promptly blew up within ten miles. Maybe he was mentally holding a counterproductive intention at the time and that is what did it, but the point of the story is: do your research before you act. There is no substitute for thorough benchwork before you perform the experiment. ORI Inc. or myself as a consultant to ORI Inc. (and I am not an employee or stockholder of ORI, Inc.) take no responsibility for loss or damage due to unpreparedness of persons who act irresponsibly and without adequate supervision by trained consultants or health care practitioners.

4D SOUND IS FOR ANYONE WHO HAS EVER GOTTEN HIGH, LISTENED TO MUSIC-- AND LOVED IT!

Psychoacoustics: The Bridge from Sound to Bliss

Throughout the ages sound, rhythm and music are well-documented methods for generating altered states of consciousness. Psychoacoustic activities such as drumming, chanting, dancing, singing and the use of chimes, bells, and tones have long been established vehicles for healing the body, mind, and spirit. Interacting with sound vibrations is a time-honored process for the amplification and transmission of vital, psychic energy, prana, or chi.

Euphoric sound vibrations have also been extolled as a clearing agent for psychophysical energetic blocks. These energetic blocks suppress one's ability to feel, thus blocking self expression and keeping one locked in the conceptual mind, which often functions only in a mechanical fashion. Acoustically stimulated peak experiences occur in the freedom outside the linear mind, where sound vibration is not a conceptual experience, but remains a euphoric energy bath, in the subtle energy planes of vibratory creation. When one transcends the linear mind, this release is often referred to as "listening through an empty mind". Through this shamanistic process of heightening awareness to the superior vibrations of sound and music, one opens and surrenders to being moved by feeling, and thus the magic is born.

The 4TH Dimension Sound-™ is a techno-shamanistic, psychotropic innovation, which transforms sound into vital energy resonance our cells can hear. This higher faculty in hearing is referred to as multi-cellular hearing: hearing not with our ears, but with our awareness. This is the shamanic transformation into higher awareness, and the promise of psychoacoustics. As you hear it, you hear it with your heart and all your senses. The listener is transported, through the medium of the senses, beyond the senses, to an expanse of pure harmony--beyond the boundaries of space and time. The music becomes vitally alive, resonating within the listener. You truly feel it, and in feeling, you are set free.

4-D Sound -™ sound is heard with one's entire being, our energetic wholeness, and speaks to every cell in the body. In speaking it resonates with every molecule of the auric field, embracing acupoints, chakras and the subtle bodies. Listening capacities expand, becoming subtle energy sensitive, characteristic of the abode of the artist and the aesthetic domain from which artistic creations are sourced. This is the realm of inspiration and creativity, a place of process and liberation from conditioned listening. It is a space for the discharge of cellular armoring (traumatic cellular memory) and an opening to deep, total hearing in the freedom of the now. It is an ecstatic, peak experience. This experience of total hearing is transpersonal: an interactive voyage to the domain of total, multidimensional being. With this deep emancipation comes a feeling of spaciousness granted by transcending ego boundaries and expanding into the process of freedom itself. Here, wonderfully buoyed in depth and dimension, you actually seem to float in the music. In this place of living sound, you come to know yourself more deeply. You raise your resonance, becoming sensitive to long-occluded feelings of openness--in a rapture of spacious expansion. What ensues is perception without the familiar perceiver. It's like a holiday from fractional listening, the way we ordinarily "listen" to music. Fractional listening is "hearing" from the past, "listening" through mental distortion. Past listening habits place distortions upon the now. Habits distort the now. When we listen in the moment, every single vibration is completely new. The ordinary, mechanical duality of listener and notes are dissolved in a sea of living energy.

This is both the ancient and contemporary goal of psychoacoustic technology, a gift from the ancestors of timeless wisdom. Sound revitalization is a shamanic gift from our primordial selves as medicine men to a current world seemingly at risk of darkness. This holy grail is the transpersonal experience, our birthright of total freedom--the depth and dimension of musical ecstasy.

In the tradition of our shamanistic predecessors, the LEA 4TH Dimension Sound -™ psychoacoustic generator functions as a bio-active sensory trainer that helps open consciousness to the powerful, yet subtle character of vibration, including: frequency, tempo, rhythm, beat, proportion, tonal inflection, dimension, space and silence. One's consciousness expands to include a profound, transformative awareness of the space between the sounds of music. It's a space of living silence, devoid of effort or listener fatigue, distinguished by an absence of the intrusive interruptions of thought and time. Such vigorous energetic purification initiates a subsequent release of the audiophiles' big-energetic filters (blockages). The audiophile returns revitalized and unimpeded to abide in the domain of pure musical openness, the depth and dimension of living sound.

The Life Energy Amplifier magnifies the life energies and the etheric essence of music itself. It captures the original living sound and vitality of the live performance lost to all other forms of reproduction. You feel transported--back in time--to the original performance, to recapture the subtle qualities and essence of the original notes which seem to be flowing still, beyond the boundaries of time. Listeners frequently experience perceptions consistent with the living presence of the performer. This extraordinary result is brought about by the LEA's subtle energy revitalization circuitry which process and reorganize energetic distortions (stress-producing subtle energy audio patterning) unavoidably inflicted during the recording process. Through the LEA's patented process of presencing, subtle energy signals are transformed into an energetically alive and coherent field. The result is a multi-sensory experience of true-to-life perceptions; the sensation of actually being there. In this coherent, psychoacoustic field of energized sound, you feel a profound, etheric connection with the performer's mood, energy, and bliss.

The listening experience deepens your interaction with the field of sound, the ebbs and flows of notes, words, energy vortexes, moods, soundscapes, and even the texture of vibration. 4D sound transforms words into poetry, sound into music, and energy into feeling. You will feel an exceptionally deep relationship to the field of sound as if it were coming out of you. Deep, expanded perception such as this reveals spontaneous rapture and native aliveness.

The LEA's energetic output neutralizes stress-producing thoughts so that listeners experience maximum awareness and concentration for expanded, subtle energy perception. This psychoactive energetic field eliminates listener effort, a primary source of distortion that generates listener fatigue. Amplified life energy waves (chi waves) release fixed, mechanical patterns of perception (filters) caused by judgments, expectations, fixed beliefs, hostility, upsets, conflicts, unwanted attitudes, downer moods, the toxic effects of drugs and alcohol, etc. Such forms of listener baggage lock one in the past, keeping one energetically stifled, perpetually impaired, and out of the now. In such a condition, one is kinesthetically unavailable and blocked from the native multidimensional potential for ecstatic musical experience. In the LEA's amplified chi field, these forms of chi blocks or negative chi (euphoria blocks/inhibitors) are neutralized. The result is a kinesthetic opening, an expansion of creative freedoms: a porthole into an expansive dimension of energetic experience.

Through the stimulus of the LEA's 4TH dimension sound process, transcendental perceptual shifts into 4th dimensional experience occur. 4D sound initiates an opening to higher chakras and centers of intelligence. These higher chakras attune advanced perceptions of acuity (extra sensory perception) particularly intuitive knowing. It is a joyful, heartfelt journey of being in touch with one's own inner clarity and natural bliss. It is this energetic, higher-self transformation that increases behavioral flexibility and generates the freedom to go with the flow of the music to wherever it takes you. 4D sound removes the mental, psycho-acoustic, creative barriers to becoming one with the music. 4D amplified vitality provides the centeredness necessary to maximize perception by expanding consciousness so that we can hear the multidimensional, holographic, vibrational qualities of sounds, exactly as they are. True sound. This experience creates openness to the moment and to intuition itself. A space where the identity formally known as the listener disappears and there are now only waves of bliss. Isn't this the very description of the music you long to hear? Isn't this the vacation that you have always dreamed of? Your dreams are still alive! Now your music can become a blissful dynamic flow of prana, an energetic vitalization process where music can truly become magic!

With LEA-4th Dimensional Sound-™ processing, your experience of consciousness expanding energies embrace and enhance many activities with mood-setting musical selections appropriate for sleeping, reading, writing, brainstorming, radionics, therapy, meditating, creating, sexual encounters, massage, prayer, yoga, exercise, personal coaching, energy work, business meetings, working, workshops, dancing, and parties.

When this energetic amplifier is utilized in a group setting, the experience is characterized by a feeling of attunement, coherence and group lightness of being. Even at very low energetic output levels, life energy amplification "clears the air" to help create a space where people genuinely want to be. The LEA quickly clears conflicting energies in the atmosphere, adding vitality to the environment. This is a much-desired result for restaurants, dance clubs, stores, gyms, seminar rooms, offices etc. Listeners gain control of their attention and find themselves in the now, unfragmented, with their perceptual acuity intact and open to enhanced experience.

LEA 4D Sound-™ models are computerized, (rechargeable) battery powered, subtle energy amplifiers with two or four sets (one or two sets for each speaker enclosure) of gold plated emitters with attractive stands which are placed on top of each speaker enclosure. The gold cylindrical emitters look like high tech meets Art Deco--Atlantian art. The psychoactive energy field drops down in front of the speakers and the air flow (sound waves) moving from the speakers are subsequently grafted (etherically coupled) with the chi, prana, orgone, and tachyon output.

The LEA emitter units output a field of scalar waves (information-carrying waves) that convey the electromagnetic, high vitality, etheric oxygen ions (energetically integrated and etherically coupled with your speaker's musical vibrations) to your energy field. There is a direct and energetically perceivable, sound-energizing effect, as musical notes instantly become psychoactive and potent energizing sound waves. This sound energy processing amplifier also brings its true-to-life perception to video, film, computer, workshop, lecture, live music, and television showings. The LEA energized sound experience greatly enhances any and every multimedia presentation. Some refer to this phenomenon as a chi concert, some as awakening the light body, or discovering a sacred partner, and everyone says "wow" over and over again!

LEA 4D SOUND-™ BENEFITS

- increases vital life energy
- clears your energy field
- balances feeling and thinking
- harmonizes conflicting energies
- releases energy "dings" from the day
- balances chakras
- opens intuition
- increases optimism and feelings of well being
- expands consciousness
- catalyzes psychic openings
- allows higher perceptions
- stimulates intuitive understanding of recorded lectures, guided meditations, workshops, movies, sports, etc.
- expands space
- expands perception of multi media presentations

At a recent LEA 4D sound workshop, Mary, a local musician, shared with us that the LEA helped her get clear on what she was feeling. She said that emotion is the motion or energy that moves through us and with LEA “treatments,” life energy emotion is freed to move through you and is more effortlessly expressed. She quickly saw the value of having the 4D sound unit in her recording studio while recording her CDs.”

When you play 4D sound in your house or office, you will sometimes be surprised to discover how quickly the old attention-stealing emotional and attitudinal issues that used to bother you become neutralized and balanced. Artists usually notice this quicker than anyone else. Your home or office can literally become a brand new, vacationlike space without the old reminders that trigger past mental patterning. If you sometimes wished you had a second home, mountain cabin, boat, sanctuary, meditation retreat, office or getaway, then this quantum space could be it! The LEA “feng shui” effect takes the past out of your living and work spaces. It brings in or accesses Fourth Dimensional energy, or what some call high level resonance energy, into areas of your life where high level creativity has been previously blocked.

UNHAUNTING WE WILL GO-- HAPPY HALLOWEEN

Many researchers have reported the immense value in leaving the 4D sound system on throughout the day with music or not at about 25% output level to keep the space open and free of mental vampirism. Enrico, who performs ghost busting utilizing the LEA, has “chased” many a ghost or entity from homes and office spaces. This is another LEA-oriented profession in the making. Entities are often stuck to an environment and are in a state of confusion about the sometimes untimely, stressful circumstances, and great loss occurring during the incident of their physical death. The LEA’s coherent field releases etheric energetic patterning that keeps spirits time bound and location challenged.

It has been known for years that negative ions lessen anxiety; now, with the 4D sound vital ion system, deep levels of feeling and clarification of anxiety-producing feelings are easily accessible both for those that inhabit bodies and those without. I do not wish to imply that the LEA does it to you, as if you were an object. Your ultimate and stable energetic transformation depends upon your responsible and ongoing interaction with the Coaching Self Inquiry materials which assist you to tell the truth about who you really are and what you really want!

Channels enjoy the mental clarity brought about by the LEA. Channel Peter Wolf used the 4D sound system at LEA headquarters for a recent channeling workshop. When facilitators play about 7-10 musical pieces in the morning for workshop participants with the system set to full output, this action helps participants to release incomplete mental business. This energetic process helps participants to release stressful energy regarding their car keys, parking issues, schedule mishaps, breakfast patterning, rushing and time anxieties, etc., and brings everyone into the everpresent peace and beauty of the nonthinking moment.

I suggest then following this 4D music appreciation process by some deep breathing, breathing in the vital ions that are so essential for higher states of consciousness. If you have an LEA aromatherapy system, put some peppermint or black spruce, etc. on the electrode/emitter(s) and turn on the system's fan. This process will take the breathing to a deep euphoric resonance in just a few minutes, for many people. Follow this process with meditation or nonthinking being. Then turn the LEA unit(s) down to about 25% output, lower the stereo's sound level, and then let the channeling begin. The subsequent experience can become a group channeling sensation as the feeling of oneness, group coherence, and unity consciousness is amplified. Loving interaction becomes sourced from higher consciousness.

CONTACT: THE QUALITY OF ACTION THAT ARISES FROM INTUITIVE FEELING

One embodied participant described the 4D sound system as "sacred sound circuitry," as an interface with the etheric fluidity of vibration itself that can greatly accelerate the opening of your emotional body. A profound release of excess body baggage takes place over time revealing a state of high psychophysical clarity. You can choose what flavor electrode/emitter formulation you wish to use, of course. I love Formula One and Two openly embraced in the morning as a great wake-up call. Some workshop facilitators who teach art, massage, bodywork, or movement (even cooking) say that Formulas One and Two create the space for a moving meditation or action that arises from spacious beingness, martial arts, tai chi, etc. Formula Two is ideal for tantra classes or sexuality exploration. Formula Three finds great appreciation for clearer thinking, higher rational, and intuitive opening processes. Formula Six is enjoyed for integration or learning to operate through chakra systems that were previously blocked. Highly sensitive, intuitive psychic types will enjoy exploring grounding and physical reconnection. Well-grounded types will enjoy higher chakra flows of creativity and intuition with overtones of religious ecstasy. Formula One is ideal for use during a massage for professional athletes before the game. They are able to increase flexibility, vitality, and psychological preparation to better visualize the positive outcome and range of motion without becoming so relaxed that they are only fit for bed.

The overall opening that all LEA models and all Formulas One through Six electrode/emitters are known for is the quality of action that arises from intuition, not from a patterned thinking or reaction. This deep emotional and attitudinal cleansing brings out one's personal best and the most unguarded, deep, and spontaneous responses to stimuli that arise.

Comedy improv workshops take on a whole new space of creativity and true self-contact. The authentic, timeless self just loves to laugh! After all, with attachments unplugged and the judging mind suspended, what's to not laugh about?

CHI WATER: THE LEA BREAKTHROUGH

Improve the quality of your life with this attunement and attitude adjustment

Oxygen Research Institute, which has pioneered in oxygen research for more than a decade, has been researching a most profound breakthrough: *vitalized and life enhancing water, or chi water, if you will. We have helped to educate our clients and customers on leading edge developments in ozone water purification and numerous health benefits available from super-oxygenated water, whether in the form of drinking water, or in a hot tub or bath. We also feature a premier oxygen supplement line from Germany, OxyBliss™, OxyVital™ and OxyHigh™ for increased vitality and enhanced cognitive and athletic performance. Much of the success that we have experienced with these extraordinary compounds was due to their being energetically enhanced, restructured, potentized, or amplified with life energy. Now this identical vital energizing process can be performed on your spa, bath, flotation tank, waterbed, and drinking water!

Water has long served as a metaphor for cleansing. Vitalized water is well known in many "super water" European spas as an invaluable boost to the healing process. Water is also known as an excellent conductive medium for the accumulation and storage of vital life energy. In this time-honored tradition, ChiBath™, as developed at Oxygen Research Institute, transforms your bath, hot tub, flotation tank, and drinking water into a vital energy elixir. Researchers say it feels like you had a combination acupuncture treatment, massage, nap, meditation, magnetic therapy treatment, negative ion shower, mineral bath, and power spot vacation just by sitting in your own energy vital spa or bath. ChiBath™ is chi amplified, living water; it is a psychophysically relaxing experience of being in your own personal energy vortex/power spot, simply by turning a knob.

ChiBath™ structures water, transforming it into a medium of highly potentized life force. Although ChiBath™ does not purify water, as do the OxyPure™ and OxySpa™ ozone units from Oxygen Research Institute, its daily stress-release process is equally remarkable. ChiBath™ is a subtle energy breakthrough in the structuring of super vitality water. It is an in-depth accupoint and chakra balancing experience, giving the most choice and possibility to personal energy management. It is a designer energy tool for creating your own reality by transforming the quality of your experience. The openness and spaciousness that bathers and drinkers report is the result of a very deep physical, mental, and spiritual energy clearing, an energetic polarizing and balancing.

The water becomes an energy remedy in its own right. You may refer to this supervital energy as orgone, chi, odic, tachyon, zero point, prana, etc. But the commonality of experience of ChiBath™ devotees is, regardless of personal reference point, that it releases chi blocks. These blocks stagnate and suppress chi or life force by impinging upon energy flow and the outcome is a lessening of spacious beingness and vitality. Unreleased negative chi keeps one's energetic and emotional space small and encumbered, bringing about the mental clutter of stressful thoughts, leading to tension and ultimately fatigue.

ChiBath™ clears negative energy patterns. These negative energies come in many forms, including stuck belief systems, tension, tiredness, fatigue, soreness, strain, unwanted attitudes, resisted emotions, and numerous other manifestations of psychophysical armoring. Once armoring is released, one feels a higher sensitivity, a peaceful centeredness, as a multicellular wholeness is recovered.

As you drink and soak in this deeply relaxing and satisfying psychoactive water—you actually become more vital. Your body releases past cellular memory and your attention is gently brought into the peaceful now. What a graceful time-out! It is a safe space, an uninterrupted mental vacation free of cares and worries. It is a sanctuary, a temple, and a place of joy where time seems to stand still.

Chi baths bring about a feeling of oneness with our essential nature and with these lifegiving waters. It is like being on vacation with maximum headspace, free from resistance and conflict, bathing in a mineral-rich mountain spring high in negative ions, like being near the ocean or near an energy vortex. It is a true mental health day, a deep relaxation in the blissful now. Rejuvenation comes to one whose mind is open and uncluttered. It supports waking of the truth inside you. It is the power of the present. It is an aqua holiday in bliss.

DESIGNER CHI WATER

As you soak in this hot, fluid, vital force you breathe the water's pranic steam. These psychotronically-processed waters vaporize and are breathed in. This adds to your feeling of centeredness, wholeness, and well-being. It is much like the lift from aromatherapy except the aroma here, in this case, is the "aroma" of chi, of concentrated life force itself. It is the pranic breath of life! The balancing of the subtle energy bodies causes this deep release. In this heightened state of release and blissful awareness, people remark on their increased potential for concentration and focus and on their expanded mental capacity. This is a great space to perform guided imagery, focus on manifestation, or simply count your blessings. ChiBath™ is a real space opener before massage or bodywork. Those with jets in their spa can turn on the jets for an even deeper energy massage. ChiBaths™ also lessen the recovery time from mental fatigue and strenuous physical workouts. It gives one a rejuvenation incentive to perform to ones highest ability. This profound attunement and attitude adjustment can change the quality of your life.

This newfound, after-hours freedom of "taking the waters" is so pure and spacious that it sometimes seems as if your body is not even there. The feeling is of your own, a natural ease of being, an experience of becoming yourself again, after a long time away. No matter how often you bath in these energized waters, it always seems like too long since the last time!

DESIGNER ENERGIES

The ChiBath™, like some of the other LEA models, features an input well for energy enhancing--for the subtle energy amplification of energetic substances. Any substance placed on the input well, herbs, botanicals, gemstones, tachyon cells, vitamins, minerals, Bach flower remedies, smart pills, sacred geometry or images, affirmations or colored gels, etc. is greatly amplified. It is a very noticeable energy amplification and transmission. You are literally bathing in or drinking an energy field amplified as much as 1000 times from the original substance. It is an experience of bathing in an amplified liquid energy elixir of herbs, gemstones, tachyon cells, etc. Many LEA researchers consider this process the most potent and pleasurable method of neutralizing and balancing the body's etheric field available today, at any price. Your skin feels alive, your energy coherent, and your spirit open and free. This easy-to-use chi amplifier encompasses the most useful core benefits of radionics, psychotronics, energy potentization, massage, acupuncture, energy work, tachyon energy, mineral baths, and life energy amplification! There is a complete energetic inventory of compounds waiting at your local health food store for your hot tub/bath research and experimentation in energy amplification.

ChiBath™ Benefits

- Deep relaxation
- Tension release
- Soothing and pleasurable experience
- Relieves energy “dings” from the day
- Replaces other consciousness altering experiences, and amplifies them
- Uplifting of optimistic energy
- Creating a sanctuary away from conflict energy

The ChiBath™ is small, lightweight, portable, and very easy to use. It is battery powered for complete safety. The unit uses rechargeable 9-volt batteries. Set-up time takes only a couple of minutes. You simply plug the gold plated emitters into the battery-powered amplifier, turn the unit on, and place the emitters halfway into the water. That is all. The batteries only require recharging under normal conditions approximately once per month.

ChiBath™ can also vitalize water for swimming pools, flotation tanks, waterbeds, plant water, holding tanks, water and juice for commercial purposes, and water troughs for pets or other livestock.

KEEP YOURSELF IN OPTIMAL CONSCIOUSNESS-- EVERYTHING IMPORTANT IN YOUR LIFE FLOWS FROM THAT OPENNESS

One researcher, who I got to know during some consulting work I performed recently for another company outside ORII, shared the great opening he had gotten in sleep while holding and laying on the Formula Four emitter-electrodes of the battery-powered VisionQuest unit. (I am a consultant to ORII and not a shareholder or employee. As I have previously mentioned, ORII is the exclusive licensee of the LEA technology.) He described the almost spontaneous opening of his "sensitive side." Men are all too often sensitivity-challenged. The unwanted effects of being sensitivity-challenged are hard feelings: the unwelcomed, encrusted burdens that weigh you down and don't seem to go away for long. This horizontal sleep researcher greatly accelerated his enhanced sensitivity by only energy clearing with the LEA during his sleeping time. He, an occasional insomniac at that time, never used the LEA except before and during sleep. After some late evening sessions, he said that the LEA sleep processing, as he called it, even affected his sensitivity as a lover. The LEA initiated an opening to subtle sensation that allowed him to feel more deeply and clarify his thinking about what lovemaking truly is. Other nocturnal participants have reported a lessening of nightmares. Another nocturnal LEA devotee suggests using Hydrogen Peroxide (HP) (be careful not to use too much, consult with a qualified health care practitioner), mineral baths (calcium and magnesium) using the LEA VisionQuest battery-powered model. Never handhold or use the LEA aromatherapy ionizer with water! This researcher insists that the LEA structures the oxygen with the relaxing Formula Four energy, and amplifies the calcium/magnesium minerals and brings this mineral combination into his much stressed consciousness. He calls this nighttime ritual practice the ultimate negative thought buster. He employs Formula Four by placing the SEP electrode/emitters in the bath water for about thirty minutes as the bath slowly fills. He keeps the LEA VisionQuest battery-powered base amplifier turned up to maximum output, with the black base amplifier safe on dry land without letting it fall into the water. He then slides into the tub and during his hydrotherapy, as he calls it, he keeps the unit on full output. He generally bathes for about 45 minutes with Formula Four in the tub and expresses his joy in the deep states of relaxation he is able to access. He also makes Formula Four drinking water by placing the electrode/emitter into a gallon of water and turning on the VisionQuest base amplifier for about one hour. He likes to put glandular melatonin as sold by ORII and/or 5-Hydroxytryptophan as sold by Tools for Exploration on the input well. He also sometimes just places the gold SEP emitter/electrodes, not connected to the Vision Quest base amplifier, in a few gallons of water overnight and makes for himself what he calls "sleepytime water". Others call it "unbuzz water" as distinct from Buzz water which is the use of full spectrum minerals and Formula One or Two for stimulation effects. He drinks the "sleepytime water" while partaking of his calcium/magnesium, HP bath and says he feels like a sleepy bear ready for a long hibernation. The point of these stories is that to get the desired results you want, you need to work regularly with your LEA or any psychotronic equipment, but first you should become as knowledgeable about the LEA as possible. As education, research, and practice align over the years you will discover the magic of energetic mastery and the LEA's many paths to personal energy management. The LEA is a tool that can wake up and intuitively train an aspiring magician to master the elements of wholeness.

COMPLETING YOUR LIFE AS A PREPARATION FOR BOTH HEALING AND DYING

Don't Be Afraid to Ask for What You Want

Recently, I spoke with Matt, a customer of ORI Inc., who mentioned an important point. He started the conversation subconsciously wishing and assuming that the LEA could cure a friend's "terminal" cancer. Hello? Cancel! Cancel! After he was set straight on that point, he shifted his view and saw how the easing of mental suffering and the raising of vitality could be important in his friend's psychological integration, whether in preparing for recovery or the possibility of death. He realized the importance of achieving mental and spiritual wholeness and the peace that it brings. He saw the LEA process as waking up the soul. He grasped the importance of the realization of peace and its role in the healing process.

A conscious death is very much part of the healing process. Conscious passing or transition, sometimes called physical death, is an integral part of the healing process. In other words, Matt's friend could use the possibility of physical death as a catalyst for personal transformation! My friend, Louis Alexander, who died of AIDS, did just that. Psychotherapist Suzanne Segal succeeded at this goal also, I believe.

The process I would choose if faced with death is to listen, night and day, to spiritual audio tapes with 4D sound, while surrounded with all of the LEA models. Why? The LEA process is one of regaining wholeness. It is a process of completing the past and arriving in the now, the source of all mysticism and creative manifestation. This is the space to get clear on and then ask for what you truly want! You may call this asking--prayer, meditation, radionics, psychic intention, subconscious programming, intuitive asking, affirmation, etc. It is the space to know the supernatural and all of its unmanifested and manifested splendor. It is the deep listening to the infinite and the conscious asking for what you want that will make you truly happy. It is the magic of the last wish of the dying that is of great potential. Be prepared--if this process is done in earnest--for your wish to be granted!

INCREDIBLE LIGHTNESS OF BEING

Some practitioners favor administering Ecstasy, LSD, mescaline, peyote, etc., for the grand exit from the physical universe. The grand last party! Aldous Huxley used LSD as a springboard into this infinite space. I very clearly see the role and value in the compassionate application of these substances in the death process. There is obviously no issue--for the dying--of long-term toxicity, prolonged usage, or the side effect of impending prison sentences. Medical marijuana for the transition process may be legal right now. I see this sacramental administration as an act of love. The LEA, however, has numerous advantages over the use of these compassionate substances. Hey, Hey, Hey, just like being stoned, as the song says. This is not a joke. The LEA field does have MOST of the desirable characteristics of the substance-induced altered state. The peace, openness, oneness, subconscious access, greater ability to visualize, freshness, intuitive opening, freedom from excessive thinking, energy clearing, psychic opening, lightness of being, deep state of emotional release, bliss, and inner happiness are all present when you engage the LEA's psychoactive field.

A suffering person can safely use the LEA almost continually to neutralize and balance stress-producing thought structures and help to restore peace and tranquility. It can be a catalyst for deep meditations not ordinarily available to the living or dying. It can also be a catalyst for creative energy, for manifesting what is needed to complete the dying process. This may mean the calling in of relatives, friends, and use of ritual or ceremony or inspired activities that bring group openness for a deeper sharing of compassion and love.

When the LEA is utilized by loved ones, it helps them reach completion on their own lives and brings them into the moment so they can be there emotionally for the transcended. It can bring a release regarding the fear of death so that they can be more fully present for both those living and dying. This psychotronically induced state of awareness serves as a connection to one's highest joy. This inner joy becomes blocked by the misunderstanding and secret fear or resistance to death. Death illusions are formidable subconscious barriers that block the experience of who we really are and what we truly want in each moment.

THE LEA PROCESS IS A GATEWAY TO THE NOW--IT ASSISTS IN THE COMPLETION OF THE PAST AND OPENS THE SPACE FOR A NEW BEGINNING

By incorporating the LEA with the process of life-to-death passage, there is also no issue of legality as with sacred substances (sometimes called "drugs"). Sometimes the issue of breaking the law can negatively energize the death bed situation in ways that block the life force in its healing modality. This vision quest "induced by drugs" can become a withheld communication from relatives and friends and can suppress the free energy of physical liberation. Using the 4D sound unit with spiritual music is a beneficial method for harmonizing the patient with relatives, friends, and health care practitioners. Implementing the aromatherapy Stargate system can be a beautiful shift from fear and grieving into the simple pleasure of smelling the psychoactive scents of peace and nature. These essential oils are nature's way of purifying the emotional body and bring the cleansing spirit of nature to the healing process. The ancient Egyptians were enthusiastic about these oils and essences. Placing the LEA Vision Quest electrode/emitters on the afflicted body part can bring the owner into the space of re-connection and reconciliation with it. The patient can come to terms with these conflict energies and can integrate the suffering and failed medical solutions of the past into a space of inner joy brought about by complete surrender to the moment. The potential for personal transformation and realization of the human potential by utilizing the LEA in the dying process is enormous. This is true even for those resistant persons who would usually be closed to these higher domains of advanced perceptions and subsequent integration. It is a gentle call to go deeper. Even children love to give their upset or painful back to the LEA as they hold the electrode/emitters and the conflict energy is discharged. One researcher remarked that the LEA used in conjunction with the workbook program has the potential to "wake up even the dying". The LEA utilized with the healing process can literally wake up the soul. It can be the granting of a dying person's last wish in finding true happiness and spiritual fulfillment. The process of integrating the mind and soul brings the highest joy. It is a sacrament of compassion, forgiveness with the dignity of resurrection. It can be the release of much pain and agony and the surrender to higher will. Many LEA-assisted passings have brought new opportunities for confession, truth-telling, and unconditional acceptance to spring forth with unconditional love. The LEA also serves as an emotional and attritional clearing for the ones left behind. It serves as a nurturing catalyst for family openness and reconciliation. Nothing will instantly release the loss of a loved one. The LEA will, however, continually neutralize and balance the subconscious patterning that comes up in the process of adjusting to the loss of a loved one. One researcher told me that it made the grieving process bearable. Another said that it was the only light in her otherwise dark world. Some see the LEA as a lover itself because it is an instrument of deep peace that passeth understanding. When you place botanicals on to the VisionQuest input well, you are amplifying cosmic energy from nature to help purify your emotional body and soul energy. The emotional healing power of nature comes to you and brings you a happiness that is something like a harmonic of taking a walk in nature with the LEA Sport Energy Pack. It is a power strut as your free self. It is an unpatterning of the past and a gaining of the courage and confrontational abilities necessary to face a new beginning. The LEA is a gateway to the now. This point has so much possibility in it that it may take years of consistent LEA use to fathom the depth of this statement. The LEA's chi field has the potential (along with use of the Coaching Self Inquiry audio tapes) to enable a deep exploration within your nature to the truth of your being. The LEA with its workbook and audio tape programs can invoke the truth of transition whether that be from moment to moment or from birth to death.

Performing a vision quest with the LEA can get you clear on what you desire most. It can help you ask for that and be comfortable with the process of the unfolding of that truth. You may get the feeling that your request is somehow handled and you can take some attention off of it and just get out of the way and let it manifest. The LEA has great use as a radionic instrument also. Place your written request or prayer or affirmation on the input well of the VisionQuest model or in the center of the Stargate to clear and program your subconscious with this energy. In the space of the LEA's vitalizing field, do not be afraid to ask for what you want most. Many participants who have "done the program" have had numerous miracles take place. The miracle seems to start with telling the truth about what you want most. It really starts much earlier, however. It starts with the brainstorming or creative visualization and subsequent thinking of how the LEA might bring you in contact with your heartfelt intentions. This beginning has started for you now! The suppression and denial is coming off of your dream and possibility is leaking out! What if? What if your dream could actually happen? Even the notion of the possibility of this is mind blowing for most people. The glimpse of the possibility of manifesting their higher dreams is the start of an all-time high. Just clearing the denial off of your dream can be the necessary release for full recovery! Illness is often a giving up after one's dream has seemed to fail. Illness can sometimes seem "the only way out" or a last ditch effort to "tell off" someone who seems to be suppressing you. The LEA experience is one of getting in touch with the basis of one's context for living. Engaging in the LEA process has the potential for great openness and intention to get down to the living truth that is encrusted with failure, loss, and pain. The LEA scalar field supports and encourages you in going deeper than the surface illusion of separation from your higher self. It has you access deeper than just the surface chatter, reasonable explanation, or dramatic story. Some say that the LEA experience over time is like learning to meditate in a multidimensional way, bringing about a deep letting go that involves your whole being. It is a deep clearing to the realm of where angels come from: a return to wholeness.

The LEA process creates an acquaintance with the pre-physical ethers. It starts as a nodding acquaintance and can become--with persistence and intention--a deep familiarity with the intuition that comes from your heart's desires. You learn to transform, vitalize, and make conscious the process of making energy or bringing about manifestation. You can learn the magic in sending (to others) and receiving clearing energy and blessings. A heartfelt blessing is a multidimensional cellular healing. It is a transformational flow of the highest energy! When you enter non-ordinary states of consciousness with the LEA, and it takes some practice to master this, you go to the heart of the etheric nature of the five elements. You learn to merge with the spirit of commanding these elements in your service. This commanding is brought about through the clearing of subconscious programming to reveal your heartfelt intentions, your highest needs. You don't always get what you want, but you receive the grace to discover what your higher self truly needs. When you discover the nature of shakti (the divine energy at the heart of all things), you are connected with the power of nature and the spirit of manifestation. Knowing this makes an easy passing. Bon voyage!

CHILDREN HAVE ENERGY FIELDS, TOO

The LEA can make a big difference when it comes to clearing up the conflict energy patterns of children. The effects of the LEA can be realistically seen as psychological first aid for children. Its stellar performance can be demonstrated most easily when children hurt themselves. What quickly sets in during physical trauma is disorientation, shock, fear, overwhelm, blame, denial, and withdrawal from the area. Then, belief systems are created to prevent this pain-and-reaction syndrome from happening again. Some of these beliefs may include: studying is no fun, my parents don't love me, I'll never go there again, I can never get what I want, I don't care, I can't do it, I wish Johnny was dead, I wish I was dead, etc.

As children grow, they gather more beliefs and form them into bundles, which then grow into belief systems. Large, complicated, unconscious systems of thinking that are intended to take the pain out of life sound something like this: if I meet a girl that I like, I can't let her know that I like her, or she will leave. If she sees me studying, she will not love me. I can't get the girl I want anyway, so why should I care. I wish she was dead. I know I will die if we get close anyway. Sound familiar?

The best time to stop self-limiting belief systems is before they grow into aliveness-threatening mental constructs. The moment a child falls down, burns himself, bangs his head, bursts into grief, feels major loss or gets into a fight-- this is the time to release the incident. My favorite process is to give the negative energy or the "touchy" energy back to the LEA. Just push it out of your energy field and into the LEA itself. Children catch onto this process fast. I first noticed the workability of this process with the help of Magnus, Deborah's 12-year-old son. He was caught in the throes of a defiant behavioral pattern and dramatizing it like mad. Nothing I could have said to him would have made any difference. I was not perceived as a neutral person, but somehow part of his trauma. I put my arm around him, which he tried to throw off, and got him to pick up and hold in his hands the two LEA VisionQuest electrode/emitters. I turned the unit on to full dissolve. In less than one minute he had popped back into the now, and was looking at me like--how did I get here? Pattern released and self-destructive behavior dissolved. He left without saying thank you, only looking pleasantly puzzled. I asked him later what had happened and he said, "The thinking stopped." Kids are usually quite sensitive to the LEA field, because they have not yet built up as much armoring to cover up uncomfortable feelings. They make faster subjects for release than adults, for the most part. If a child is having a tense time of study, then it is a good time for a one-minute letting-go process to release the conflict energy. This should be followed by another minute of visualizing a positive outcome. Just two minutes with some children will clear their energy field and safely return them to the now with control over their attention. When they are in fear of ghosts, goblins, or teachers, a few minutes with the LEA will get their attention under their own control. You will observe them settling down. There will be a noticeable shift in their energy. The LEA can support them in listening, increase their comprehension of instruction, keep them from triggering past patterning, help them feel safe, demonstrate that you care, and break or contradict unwanted patterns. The patterns can be released before they become habits.

Children have remarkable healing energy. When they become injured in sports, horseplay, working, or fighting, the LEA can amplify their healing energy and focus their intention so that they can become conscious healing partners with their immune systems. Imagine releasing conflict energy before it turns into hay fever, asthma, skin conditions, colds, sore throats, or accidents with physical injury. The sooner that children learn the Zen art of quiet, peaceful beingness, the more control they will have over the quality of their lives. Learning mindful awareness as a child is a powerfully important ingredient in personal development. Sitting in the now, able to have control over your attention, able to focus your intention and to be in touch with your respiration, heartbeat, and your feelings is worth a college education and a few years of psychotherapy. The “alternative” which young adults often choose is drugs, both medical and street. All drugs have side effects. Self-invalidating behavior patterns have major side effects. The LEA helps put space into the pattern, so that you can again address the child, not the pattern. Talking to a fully-engaged pattern is like not talking at all; there is no communication because there is no free attention or open awareness. How important is it for your child to learn the skill of deep listening at an early age? Listening with one’s intuition and faculties and not his/her mind, or past? The LEA helps release perception filters so that direction, instruction, and advice can be recreated and fully heard.

The opportunity is to release it now before the aid of a therapist is needed. I started receiving psychotherapy as a 13-year-old. The nine years I spent in therapy could have been released long before the neurotic patterns became so solidified. Rather than returning to your childhood as an adult to rewrite or release the scripts, why not cease feeding them your vital energy at the time they are being formed? The savings in time and expense can be enormous.

ACCELERATED CLEARING OF THE ENERGY BODY

Every conflict energy pattern in your energy body resonates, responds, and releases to a different frequency.

The LEA Sport Energy Pak contains “energy remedies” both in solid and gaseous form that tune the pre-physical energy body. This tuning process accomplishes both a neutralization of armoring and a balancing of glitches or holes in the body’s energetic field. Once a conflict energy has been neutralized, it often leaves a hole or glitch where it once was. This hole or glitch needs to be revitalized and filled in with life energy flow before energetic wholeness can become a living, multidimensional reality.

These formulations systematically neutralize emotional and attritional body armoring to release layer by layer, conflict thought forms, often called stuck and stagnant chi. This negative chi can often seem to be, at first glance, a dense emotion or attitude that causes a stuck, blocked, or impeded flow in the body's subtle energy flow system. The emotion of grief, for example, is often a multi-layered affair: it is often coupled with resentment, feelings of loss, numbness, despair, shock, and resignation. This composite grid of energetic armoring has an energetic weight and is an electrical mass that keep one's vitality suppressed and creates inflexible behaviors. If this mass becomes a permanent fixture, then the body part it permeates and stuffs up will start to malfunction and worsen over time. The energy-restricted organ can go hyper or hypo, reacting to the armoring and often go out of balance. This is basic acupuncture theory.

The more one gets stuck in the grief like a fly on fly paper, the more this vitality-numbing goo gets all over your life. Your perception becomes skewed through this filter and you see the world through the overlay of grief. The grief is a subconscious holding that saps your spontaneity and vital force. As psychophysical mass accumulates, you may add or accumulate fear and self-limiting attitudes and truth-denying beliefs that eventually limit and rob vitality. "Everything I touch turns to _____. I can't have what I want. I'm just unlucky." Each is an example of a subconscious pattern that acts like a computer program to re-direct the focus of ones experience. Each is an unconsciously held interpretation of life that blocks intuition and desired manifestation. No matter what the significance of the program whether it be an upset, problem, unresolved communication, unwanted attitude, stress-producing emotion, self-limiting belief system, false notion of one's self etc. ALL have in common an electrical resistance or impedence to vital energetic flow. All close down spacious beingness and force the illusion of being a victim of the physical universe, of space and time, name and form. All occlude higher-self intuitive flow. All are composed of dead energy that can be sensed and measured with biofeedback instrumentation, muscle-tested, dowsed, and otherwise read with subtle energy detection equipment. The LEA's process is one of generating a vitalized, multi- dimensional flow of "energy remedies" that were developed by a German doctor and tested over a 40-year period. Their purpose of life energy amplification is to break up these energetic blocks that make the energy body patterned and subsequently constricted. These masses or armoring can be slowly released through many time-tested methods.

One could receive the energy flow or prana flow (vitality) of another person by having him or her flow energy through the blockages, for example. One could place a magnet or gemstone on the body parts that have been armored. One could scan the body part flowing energy waves with one's own attention, directing and flowing one own prana or aliveness through it. Essential oils have energy fields that can help deplete the energy pattern. One could engage in a therapy to look at thereby flowing pranic attention or vital chi through the subconscious's images or thought constructs and over time release them. One could pray to have these masses lifted. One could place energetic remedies such as holy water or homeopathic medicines on the body part to release it. All of these methods have in common the flow of some form or another of vital energy through the mental direction or intention of flow through the armored mass. The LEA has in common all of these methods as it flows a vital energy through your body's energy field that facilitates deep listening and sensing. The difference with the LEA is that it uses an amplified scalar field to carry the energetic properties of the contents of the SEP along with the amplified input well items deep into armored deposits of dead energy build up. You also do not need another person to flow for you. You can do this work solo, anytime, and anywhere. On a plane, in bed, at the movies, during study, during meditation, during massage, while making love, etc. With the VisionQuest models, you can amplify whatever energy medium you wish, be it from aromatherapy oils to gemstones and sweep your body's field with them. Every conflict energy in your energy body responds to a different frequency. When you sweep your body's field with crystals, gemstones, vitamins, herbs, super foods, minerals, sacred geometry, affirmations, color, light, botanicals, and natural items you are using a shot gun approach to release vitality blocking fields. You are using many varied dynamics of release and all of them will have some effect. Some will be dramatic. The more "remedies" you use, generally the better the result. Like the VisionQuest's amplifying input plate, when you place such energy items in the center of a Stargate you also bring that energy into higher amplification and deeper penetration of energetic blockages. All of these processes are performing traumatic cellular memory release. You are sweeping out patterned energies that are perceived as numbness, unawareness, and uncomfortable sensations that block true feeling. The goal is to open up to authentic feeling and be able to sense subtle perception (ESP) that armoring blocks. It is possible with the LEA energy systems to achieve a very deep, spacious level of energetic purity that gives you that pristine, squeaky clear feeling for many days after experiencing such sessions. The results are cumulative. Some researchers couple LEA sessions with modalities such as massage, breathing, chanting, therapy, energy work, psychic readings, affirming, rebirthing, yoga, aroma therapy, radionics etc. The common goal is to be free of the patterns of the past and to discover the creative power of the moment. To discover yourself to be outside of the perceptual filters of the past and to discover the behavioral flexibility needed to do new things. To find the vitality necessary to live a creative life style with an openness to truth and love.

The SEP contains subtle energy tunings that have proven to neutralize and balance such conflict energies. Each SEP contains 25 or more such energy processing agents, all in natural form. The SEP heavily relies on the use of energetically amplified gemstone and mineral energy fields that have a proven history of energy work results. The SEP also contains the energy of oxygen or what is referred to as etheric oxygen, prana, chi, orgone, tachyon if you like. The gold and other important minerals that the electrode tubes are infused with serve as a vital energetic broom to discreate or cancel conflict energies. The special biomagnets emit rare earth mineral fields that evoke hereeness and nowness. Some of the special energy tunings related to release and clearing up of imbalances in the body's subtle energy field process are:

- Auric distortions
- Vitality-impeding negative chi
- emotional blocks
- attitudinal blocks
- self-limiting belief systems
- balance chakras
- traumatic past
- clear chakras
- clear spiritual miasms
- release armoring
- kundalini release
- nowness
- clear self deception
- release pretense
- increase sensitivity
- increase openness
- open creativity
- love
- increase harmony
- releasing negative ego
- coherent thought
- release confusion.
- sensing attitudes
- sensing emotions
- subconscious opening

Each SEP Formulation One through Six contains these general frequencies.

These gentle yet vital energy tunings softly evoke and never force. They are initiations into a coherent universe or field of psychic well-being. These frequencies or energy-clearing modalities are often reported by recipients after a few minutes' contact. Some Whole Life Expo participants will articulate many of these desirable effects by name as they hold or breathe the fields. Some practitioners have the client intend or affirm each item, going down the list. The client visualizes each until they can open themselves enough to contact it and feel it. Long-term interaction can take one beyond the gross, physical senses to a realm where one does not have to think to know. It is a realm of openness and sensitivity that makes great lovers!

ORI Inc. is currently developing many audiotape programs working with psychic openings, radionics or intention amplification, and chakra energy clearing. Let us know your interests.

We are very proud of our international research associate group. It is composed of many eclectic health care practitioners and research scientists. The LEA is used daily in massage, Reiki, psychotherapy, hypnosis, hydrotherapy, personal coaching, psychic arts, biofeedback clearing, acupuncture, Exodus, shamanism, meditation, body work, energy work, channeling, dance, sound therapy, and many other forms of psychophysical work that call for energetic transformation. The LEA can, we believe, amplify the results of almost any practice by up to 1,000 times.

DO THE WORK, EXPECT THE RESULTS

Our guarantee policy

We offer a one-year parts and labor guarantee and a 30-day money back guarantee on the LEA with a 15% restocking fee. The restocking fee corresponds to significantly less than you would normally pay to lease or rent such an instrument, subtle energy workbook program, and receive our guidance and coaching input on a monthly basis. There is no money back guarantee offered on the Coaching Self Inquiry audio tape and workbook program ($180 value), as this workbook serves as a journal writing process and thus can not be resold in new condition. Paper products are easily damaged and most catalog companies that we are familiar with offer no refunds on book and audio tape programs. To qualify for our 30-day refund/return policy, you must show proof (sending back your workbook) that you have been using the written journal coaching exercises in the workbook and co-acting with the audio tape program according to the instructions. You must read and follow the instructions in order to get the most from the coaching exercises. The LEA Vision Quest models are designed to work hand in hand with the workbook's written exercise and audio tape program. You cannot realistically expect these LEA models by themselves to do the job without your focused and responsible co-action with the software program. Twenty-five years of experience show that customers who do not write in detail their answers to the coaching questions in the workbook spaces provided do not process deep enough to release core patterning that is the origin of self limiting behavior. You will also want to look back at where you were when you started the program and compare this baseline to where you currently are. This comparison is a most visible marker of behavioral change. It is our committed focus to see that you get the results that you desire and so we intentionally support you in every way that we can to systematically avail yourself of this time-tested exercise workbook program. Do take advantage of our technical support if you encounter any problems or need some personal coaching to successfully apply the workbook exercises to those conditions slated for improvement. If, after systematically working with the LEA and Coaching Self Inquiry written exercises for approximately 25 days you are not satisfied, call us for coaching support. If, after consultation and your focused attempts to apply the consultation material, you still are dissatisfied, call us again so that we can give you a product return number and arrange for safe return and your full refund, less restocking fee. Do keep the LEA, instruction book, and additional materials in good, undamaged condition so they can be resold and you can be refunded accordingly. Note that not all LEA models come with the workbook. The lower priced units, in order to offer the low price, do not. The only problems that participants have had with the LEA program are when they have misunderstood some part of the instructions and have not contacted us to clarify. Please let us know how you are doing. Testimonials are always welcome. We can be contacted at:
